

A STUDENT TESTIMONY

Thousands of students flood the halls of our nation's universities and colleges each fall. These are not individuals; they are multitudes. I attended Wichita State University for a year and a half and all that I ever became was IBM No. 85316. I was doing what everyone else was doing, but I was a Christian and couldn't be happy with what the world alone had to offer.

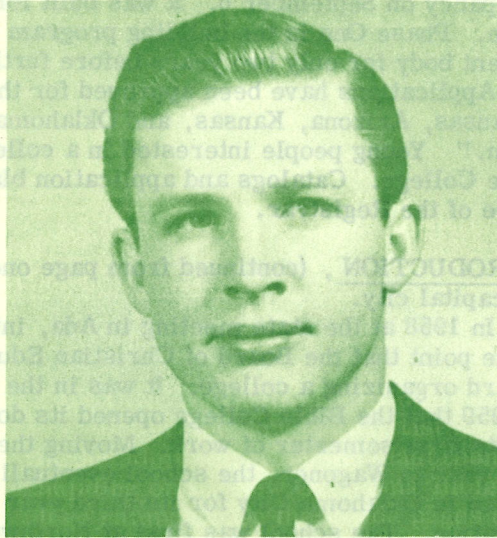

This fact I ascertained: Going to college should not be to see what an individual can get for himself, but rather what one can do in preparation to give himself to God in a holy and acceptable way. The whole duty of man is to fear God and to keep His commandments. Because of this, I could not devote my entire life to the winning of position and the making of money.

In some situations young people cannot get the education that they want at a Bible college. As long as that individual does not forget his obligations to God, it is all right for him to go elsewhere for his education. I feel that Oklahoma Bible College can prepare young people for life and give them strength to face the greatest of the challenges of life. The Christian foundation given can strengthen one for meeting the plan of God for his life and give him a head start in any occupation. If one still feels that he must attend a secular college, he will not regret the beginning he received at OBC. Join me and others here at Oklahoma Bible College this fall. --Danny Stubblefield, Kansas

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION ISSUE

INTRODUCTION TO OBC

Since many of those receiving this bulletin will be visitors stopping by the Oklahoma Bible College booth at the National Association meeting in Little Rock, Arkansas, this issue is especially designed to introduce the College to Free Will Baptists who are not too well acquainted with the school.

Oklahoma Bible College is a two-year junior college organized by the State Association of Free Will Baptists in Oklahoma. With several hundred high school youths graduating and only a score attending our denominational school each year, the college was organized to bring two years of Bible college training to Free Will Baptist young people in the Mid-West.

HISTORY

This fall the college will hold its first session on its permanent campus located on Interstate Highway 35, two miles south of Moore, Oklahoma. In its move from temporary quarters at the Capitol Hill Church in Oklahoma City, the college will remain within the metropolitan area of (continued inside)

BUILDING PROGRAM--1966 PHASE

Pictured below is an artist's concept of the administration and classroom building on the new Oklahoma Bible College campus. On the inside pages are pictures showing actual construction progress on this building and the men's dormitory.

The 1966 phase of construction is the first phase in Oklahoma Bible College's building program. This phase is anticipated to house the College student body for only two years. The present building program consists of four buildings. In addition to the two buildings pictured in (Continued inside)

ADDITIONS TO FACULTY AND STAFF

The president of Oklahoma Bible College, Dr. J. D. O'Donnell, has announced the addition of four new members to the faculty and staff of Oklahoma Bible College. They are Reverend Clarence Hearron of Bowie, Texas; Reverend and Mrs. Eugene Workman of Glasgow, Kentucky; and Mrs. Joyce Farmer of Oklahoma City.

Mr. Hearron is the moderator of the state association of Free Will Baptists in Texas and has been a pastor in that state since 1946. He received his bachelor's degree from Baylor University and his master's degree from Texas Wesleyan College. Mr. Hearron has several years experience as a teacher. He will serve as academic dean of the school and as a teacher.

Mr. Workman will become the registrar for the school and serve as teacher and counsellor of men students. At the present he is the pastor of the First Free Will Baptist Church of Glasgow. Mr. Workman is a graduate of Free Will Baptist Bible College and has two years experience in the field of journalism.

Mrs. Workman is also a graduate of Free Will Baptist Bible College. Besides her teaching duties, she will serve as counsellor of women students. She is a native of North Carolina.

Mrs. Farmer is the wife of the business manager of the College, Dan L. Farmer. She will assume the position of food service manager.

BOND PROGRAM NEARS COMPLETION

Free Will Baptists have responded well to the bond program to finance the building program of Oklahoma Bible College. Sales have run well ahead of the building program. With two months of the building program remaining, around $105,000.00 of the original $140,000.00 program has been sold. This leaves approximately $35,000.00 to be sold.

Most of these bonds have been sold to members of Free Will Baptist churches or to people who attend Free Will Baptist churches in Oklahoma, Texas, and Kansas. Those who have promised to invest in the bond program are urged to do so immediately so that the program can be closed out soon. At present pastors are being urged to sell at least one more bond to one of their members. About fifty bonds remain to be sold. They are $500 and $1,000 bonds. Sell one today.

BUILDING PROGRAM (continued from page 1) in this bulletin, two other dormitories are being constructed. The administration and classroom building also includes space for a library, dining hall, and kitchen facilities.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

STUDENTS WANTED

Oklahoma Bible College has built a new campus. This new campus will be ready for occupancy on September 6. It was built for STUDENTS and has no other reason for existence. Phase One in the building program is nearing an end and is expected to house the student body for only two years before further housing is needed.

Applications have been approved for the 1966-67 school year for students from Texas, Arkansas, Arizona, Kansas, and Oklahoma, but like the Biblical parable, "still there is room." Young people interested in a college education are urged to consider Oklahoma Bible College. Catalogs and application blanks are available upon request from the office of the Registrar.

the capital city.

In 1958 at the state meeting in Ada, interest in an educational institution had grown to the point that the Board of Christian Education was authorized to do preparatory work toward organizing a college. It was in the fall of 1959 that the Bible College opened its doors for its first semester of work. Moving the next year to Wagoner, the school eventually settled in Oklahoma City for its third year of operation. The school was first at Northwest Church but later settled at Capitol Hill Church through the spring semester of 1966.

PLANS

Response to a Free Will Baptist college in the Mid-West will determine future plans. If response is as anticipated, the Board of Trustees plans to launch immediately into a second phase of building and expansion. As the student body demands it, the school expects to enter a four-year Bible college program. New departments will be added and old ones strengthened each year. The school hopes to acquire acceptance of two years of its work by state and regional institutions and four-year Bible college accreditation as soon in the future as possible. This will take much time and effort.

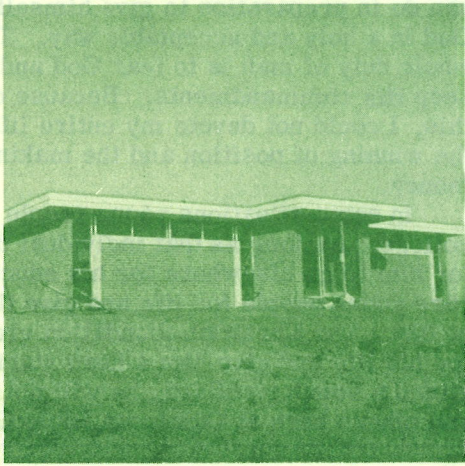

POLICIES

Oklahoma Bible College makes available its training facilities to all Christian young people who desire the type of training it offers. It is not intended to be limited to Oklahoma young people. Already students have attended from surrounding states.

Financial support from other states is also welcomed. Small amounts from several states has already been received. The work of Oklahoma Bible College has as its purpose the training of workers for the world-wide cause of Christian evangelism. The College welcomes support from Free Will Baptists everywhere for the common cause we share.
