J. K. WILSON, D.D., of Portland, Maine, writes: "Every argument would seem to be in favor of the individual cup. Those churches which have adopted it are enthusiastic in its favor. It is the universal testimony that the Lord's Supper takes on a new dignity and beauty by the use of the individual cup."

"The Individual Communion Set is eminently satisfactory. There is a personal feeling in the individual cup that appeals to the heart of every Christian. This cup represents the shedding of the Lord's Blood for me personally. So that Christ becomes nearer and dearer in the holy ordinance. We are more than pleased; we are exceedingly blessed by it."—J. Saturn will be Evening Star until Jan. 9, Morning Star until July 17, then Evening Star the rest of the year.

EXPLANATION.

Formerly the computations were naturally expressed in local time, this being practically the same for any phenomenon for places in the same latitude.

The introduction of the new time system, however, demands a change, so that a table of correction becomes necessary, as given below.

The calender quantities are for the meridian and latitude of Boston, expressed in the present time system. For the other places, given in the table below, add to or subtract from the calendar times, as expressed in said table.

For places not in table, find the correction from the place nearest in longitude to the one in question, and apply this. A still closer result would be obtained by finding two places in the table, one a little east and the other a little west, and estimating the correction between.

Each person had better mark on the margin of his REGISTER the addition or subtraction for his own locality, and apply this correction whenever he looks for the time of any event.

The eastern time belt ends, and the central begins, near the western borders of New York and Pennsylvania.

For places still using the old local time, no use is to be made of this table, but 16 minutes are invariably to be added to the REGISTER time.

TABLE.

Time to be added to or subtracted from the calendar times:

For Augusta, Me.	subtract 4 min.	For Buffalo, N. Y.	add 31 min.
" Lansing, Mich.	" 6 "	" Cleveland, O.	subtract 17 "
" Detroit, Mich.	" 11 "	" Chicago, Ill.	add 7 "
" Concord, N. H.	add 2 "	" Madison, Wis.	" 13 "
" Montpelier, Vt.	" 6 "	" Minneapolis, Minn.	" 29 "
" Albany, N. Y.	" 11 "	" Des Moines, Ia.	" 31 "

FOR

Nervousness and Exhaustion

When weary and languid, when the energies flag and you are completely exhausted and worn out, there is nothing so refreshing and invigorating as

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

Its revivifying effect will throw off the depression that accompanies exhaustion and nervousness; strengthen and clear the brain that has become tired and confused by overwork and worry, and impart new life and vigor to the entire system.

A Tonic and Nerve Food.

The most destructive criticism has not been able to dethrone Christ as the incarnation of perfect holiness. The waves of a tossing and restless sea of unbelief break at his feet, and he stands still the supreme model, the inspiration of great souls, the rest of the weary, the fragrance of all Christendom, the one divine flower in the garden of God.—Herrick Johnson.

If you had two flowers and met a friend and gave him either, you would give him the lovelier. Many of us, to compromise with conscience, offer flowers to Christ, whom we meet at every turn in the way of life, but usually they are flowers whose beauty lends us no adornment, and whose fragrance yields no pleasure.—Christian Standard.

Courtesy is due to others. It is helpful to others. Treat even a base man with respect, and he will make at least one desperate effort to be respectable. Courtesy is an appeal to the nobler and better nature of others to which that nature responds. It is due to ourselves. It is the crowning grace of culture, the stamp of perfection upon character, the badge of the perfect gentleman, the fragrance of the flower of womanhood when full blown.—G. F. S. A. Kalendar.

There is no music in a "rest" that I know of, but there's the making of music in it. And people are always missing that part of the life melody, always talking of perseverance and courage and fortitude; but patience is the finest and worthiest part of fortitude, and the rarest too.—Ruskin.

FREE BAPTIST STATISTICS.

EXPLANATION.—One star (*) affixed to the name of a church signifies that no official report has been received.

Two stars () denote a colored church or Quarterly Meeting.

† shows that a preacher has been ordained or licensed, or a church received, the past year.

Pastors of churches have p affixed to their names. The names of unordained ministers are printed in italics.

☞ Quarterly Meetings for which no statistical returns have been received for this number of the REGISTER are marked (No returns). In such the churches, preachers, and the whole number of members are inserted as in last year's REGISTER.

For convenience in referring to them the Quarterly Meetings belonging to each Yearly Meeting and the churches belonging to each Quarterly Meeting are arranged alphabetically.

The statistics are printed as furnished by the church clerks and prepared by the Q. M. clerks.

Under "Reported Contributions" will be found what amount of money each church has contributed for the benevolent societies. All contributions which cannot be credited to the churches are put under "Miscellaneous" in the "Recapitulation" at the end of the statistics.

YEAR POLICY.

1. To organize societies—both of young people and juniors—wherever possible.

2. Carefully planned and aggressively executed work for new members, with special emphasis placed upon the Consecration meeting.

3. To encourage systematic Bible Study.

4. To induce members to observe the Quiet Hour (Morning Watch) as essential to their greatest spiritual development.

5. To increase interest in missions.

   a. By establishing and enlarging missionary libraries.

   b. By missionary meetings.

   c. By encouraging the study of missions.

   d. By using a Cycle of Prayer.

   e. By promoting systematic and proportionate giving.

   f. By supporting our missionaries in India and Africa.

6. Definite prayer for the United Society and our officers at home and missionaries abroad.

7. To cultivate an evangelistic spirit, to systematize personal work so as to bring the young people of our community under the influence of Christ.

8. To emphasize the importance of the work of the young people for young people.

9. Promptness in correspondence, accuracy in records, and business-like methods in all work.

10. To make the society a social center to lead people to Christ.

11. A carefully planned and liberal financial policy, faithfully executed.

12. To increase the circulation of The Morning Star and Free Baptist.

13. To secure larger delegations of our young people at our denominational gatherings.

14. To hold meetings of the executive committee regularly and to compare lines of work and results.

CONSTITUTION OF UNITED SOCIETY.

Art. I. Name. The United Society of Free Baptist Young People.

Art. II. Object. The object of this society is the organization of the young people of this denomination for definite Christian work.

Art. III. Membership. This society shall be composed of the representatives of the local societies of young people, of whatever name, connected with Free Baptist churches and organized in accordance with the object as declared in Article II.

Art. IV. Officers. The officers of this society shall be a president, vice-president, recording secretary, treasurer, general secretary, and junior superintendent. These, with a council of nine members, shall be chosen in 1901 and each third year thereafter, to serve three years, or until others shall be chosen in their stead. The officers and council shall compose an executive board, which shall have charge of all matters of business pertaining to the society.

Art. V. Amendments. This constitution may be altered or amended at any annual meeting of the executive board by a two-thirds vote of the whole board, proposed amendment having been published for one month in the denominational papers, and when ratified by the convention it shall become a part of the constitution.

FORM OF BEQUEST.

I give, bequeath, and devise to the General Conference of Free Baptists, a corporation under and by virtue of the laws of the state of Maine . . . . . (here insert the amount, and state for what purpose the money is to be used).

Legacies and donations are solicited for the following objects:

Foreign Missions department, for current work or to be added to the permanent fund.

Home Missions department, for current work or to be added to the permanent fund; also for the Church Building Loan Fund

Educational department, for current work or to be added to the permanent fund; also for the permanent Library Fund, the income of which is used to aid our theological libraries.

The Ministerial Relief Fund.

Report of the General Conference.

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Foreign Missions.—It would be impossible to report in detail the multifarious duties, anxieties, and joys of a single year. It would be too wearisome to listen to more than a few surface events of our work. Very soon after the last annual meeting of the Conference Board, Rev. H. R. Murphy and wife, with their son Roland, sailed for India from Boston. They are stationed at Midnapore, where they are enjoying the beauties of the Bengali language, and probably giving sage advice to older missionaries, besides rendering other valuable assistance. Dr. Burkholder and Mr. Coldren have joined their families in this country. Dr. Burkholder becomes, for the time being, president of Parker College.

On the first morning of this year, which was perhaps the dawning of the new century, the spirit of Dr. O. R. Bacheler returned to God who gave it. The following Sunday afternoon we laid his body in the earth while the gray clouds parted and the sun shone brightly upon the snow-covered hillside and upon the company that stood around the open grave. It was a sunny ending to a well-rounded, useful life. It was a beautiful, prophetic gleam into the paradise where he already was. Dr. Bacheler's service for our India mission, extending over a period of more than sixty years, was heroic, conscientious, and faithful. His attainments in scholarship were a marvel to those who knew of the versatility of his information upon current and scientific topics. When asked how so busy a man could have attained so much and so varied information, he replied by saying, "The time others spend upon daily papers, I have used for other purposes, as I did not have the papers." He has fought a good fight, has kept the faith, has won his crown. May his mantle fall upon some Elisha whose service shall be as long and as notably useful.

Another of our foreign missionaries has gone to her reward during the year. She never went abroad, but she wears to-day the faithful missionary's crown. Miss Roby Parker of Providence, R. I., when young, had a great desire to go as a missionary to India. She was hindered by the physicians, who would not give her a certificate of good health. Sadly disappointed, she accepted the situation, but obtained from her father permission to give what she might earn for foreign missions. From that day to her death she thought and planned and saved for missions. She gave liberally, as others give, until 1890, when she gave the first money in the name of a "friend," for the Christian High School at Balasore, India. This was $1000. Later she sold the house in which she lived and had earned with her needle, for $3000, and gave that for foreign missions. She gave other hundreds, until her donations, beginning in 1890, amounted to over $6000. After months of great suffering she passed away on Oct. 4, 1900. Surely what this woman has done should be told as a memorial of her so long as Free Baptist history shall be read.

Please read the last India report for interesting items pertaining to the work. Read there of the needs that a little money would relieve. Let me refer to a few. The book room in Balasore needs furnishings and books. It should be made the centre of good Christian literature for the thousands of that city. There is a pressing need of a house for the principal of the high school. A bright young man is needed for Y. M. C. A. work in Balasore. A kindergarten teacher to start pupils toward the high school is called for. The Bible School Hall needs for its completion $1000. A dormitory costing $300 is needed for the Bible School students. Read what Dr. Helen Phillips says about rugs, and let us see what can be done about it. We need at once a man who will go to succeed Mr. Hamlen in the high school. For encouragement read of the church missionary supported by the Balasore church; the increase in self-support of native work; the Sunday school at Balasore of over 200; that kindergarten supplies can now be secured in Calcutta. Then read Bro. Hamlen's statement that "God never creates a need without having an abundant supply."

It is our business to bring the supply and the need together.

Home Missions.—The unpaid home mission appropriations at the beginning of the year amounted to $1,070. There has been paid on appropriations $3,215. Unpaid at the present time, $725. Receipts for the Manning Bible School $1,343. Paid on the school account $1,696. At the time of this report that account is overdrawn $291. The Twentieth Century Church Building Fund was increased during the financial year from $611 to $6,034. At the present time the total amount of the fund is $8,969. Loans have been made on first mortgage security, bearing interest at three per cent, to the amount of $5,600. There is now in the treasury $3,000 to be loaned. This fund is now well started. Its growth is assured. The rapidity of its growth depends upon the generosity of those who are looking for the best way to help our home mission interests and to strengthen all our work.

Any individual or church, by giving $3,000, may name that as a special fund, which will be kept separately, and to which the interest will be added continuously. How fascinating for one to know just what churches his gift is establishing and at the same time see his fund increasing by the accretions from interest!

Education.—The treasurer's report shows what we have been able to do by way of assisting those in preparation for the ministry. Our various schools are briefly reported:

Bates College, Lewiston, Me.—The number of students has rapidly increased until there are now nearly 300 in the college proper and 28 in the Divinity School. The corps of instruction numbers 20. An urgent need has been met by the addition to the faculty of a woman. The funds are steadily increasing and now amount to $366,000. The institution, however, needs large additions to its resources in order to insure an income equal to its current expenses and to provide additional professors and courses of study. It has been impossible to carry on successfully the work of the various departments with the income available from the endowment and from term bills; and about $3,000 annually must be raised by special effort. The Coram Library will be completed within a few weeks at a cost of not far from $60,000. Of this sum, $20,000 has been contributed by Mr. Joseph A. Coram of Lowell, Mass.

The new building is almost ideal in its beauty, and it will remove one of the greatest embarrassments from which our institution has long suffered. For some years several thousand volumes of the college library have been inaccessible, having been stored away in belfry and basement. Besides the imperative need of an addition of at least $100,000 to the permanent fund, the next urgent demand is for a suitable hall for the young women. It is to be hoped that these needs may, in good degree, be met by Free Baptists. Four-fifths of the money given to the college during the last ten years have come from members of other denominations.

The moral and religious interests of the college are in a very encouraging condition. The Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations are vigorous and efficient. Each class maintains a weekly prayer-meeting. There are conversions every year. More than 200 of our college students come to us from other denominations, many of them from non-Christian homes. We especially value the Free Baptist element among our students, because it contains a large percentage of our working Christians. An increase in this element means a corresponding increase in the number of students that our college and Theological School contribute to the ministry. Free Baptist families should provide more men for the Free Baptist ministry. The responsibility for keeping the ranks of our ministry full rests mainly upon Free Baptist homes and churches. Greater financial aid should be given to our young men fitting for the ministry. The average salary of a Free Baptist minister is too small to warrant contracting debts for an education, yet we must have educated ministers or cease to exist as a denomination. We must care for our own or lose them. Our Eastern college and theological school are now equipped as never before for the work of Christian education; that they may yield their full fruitage of consecrated ambassadors for Christ, they must have the prayers, the sympathy, and the support of our own people.

Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, Mich.—Number of students the last year, in all departments, 341. In the theological department, thirty-seven. During the last three years the attendance in the college course has been about the same, but in the preparatory department there has been a falling-off.

The endowment fund now amounts to $237,532.03, and the value of buildings and equipmentis $116,972.14. Total, $354,504.17. Several members of the faculty have resigned, and a readjustment of work in the several departments has been made. Prof. C. H. Gurney has been elected dean of the college, and will act as president until Dr. Mosher's successor is elected. John M. Grove has been elected professor of the sciences, and Prof. Frank Edmounds of vocal music. A woman's dean is to be elected, and a principal of the preparatory department.

Keuka College, Keuka Park, N. Y.—The college year has been decidedly the best in our history. The receipts from endowment were $5,579.25; from tuition, room-rent, and specials for instruction, $3,148.25. Total $8,727.50. All salaries and other bills have been paid promptly. Additions have been made to the library, and the supply of chemical and physical apparatus increased. The most encouraging feature of our year has been a marked change of sentiment among educators in the region about the college respecting the need of the institution and its prospects for growth and usefulness. Financially the college is now in good condition with prospects of steady increase in the future. In round numbers the financial assets amount to $300,000, and there is practically no indebtedness. The gift of $100,000 by Ball brothers to the college endowment is God's doing, and so manifests his generous plan in behalf of the undertaking. The impulse to found the college was from him, and he has very clearly, in various ways, indicated his approval of the efforts made, and his blessing is crowning the toil and sacrifice. The origin and growth of this institution should encourage us as a people to press on the work, in all lines of endeavor, with the assurance that God will bring out of small things and the labor of small men large results. In 1850 it was determined to found a Free Baptist church in the city of Buffalo. It took years of hard work, in the face of great obstacles and many reverses to do it. A self-supporting church, with a good property, was at last secured. Collaterally with this result a good church, with a fine property, in the village of Springville, was also established. Now out of these two churches have come into Keuka College just about $200,000, without counting the years of service, gratuitously given, by the first pastor of the Buffalo church and the first president of Keuka College.

Parker College, Winnebago City, Minn.—After five years of successful service, President Lawrence retired and is succeeded by Rev. T. W. Burkholder, M. D. The enrollment in the collegiate department has been the largest in five years, and the finances show the largest credit balance of any year for that time, in spite of adverse conditions the first part of the year which threatened a deficit. Conditions are excellent for future growth and increasing influence. There are four preparing for the ministry, and six missionary volunteers.

Rio Grande College, Rio Grande, Ohio.—The patronage during the last three years has been equal to the best average in the history of the college. The average number of students is one hundred and fifty. The endowment amounts to $71,000. The library has been increased the last three years by 1800 volumes. Other equipments have been added. Three students are preparing for the ministry. The outlook is encouraging.

Storer College, Harper's Ferry, West Virginia.—There have been enrolled the past year forty-nine young men and seventy-three young women. Various internal improvements have been made in the halls, such as new floors, with the supplying of matting, and some furniture. A laboratory for physics and chemistry has been fitted up in the DeWolf Industrial Building. The Alumni have called this "Storer College Year," and have materially assisted in the erection of a building which will be more convenient for carpentry work. There are two or three who have the ministry in view.

Maine Central Institute, Pittsfield, Maine.—Value of property, $25,000; endowment, $10,000. The number of students the last year was one hundred and eight. All of the courses have been strengthened and the standard raised. Bible classes for young men and young women were held, also a mission class for the spring term. There were twenty-seven graduates this year. The outlook is better than for several years. A new normal course is to be added this year. Larger endowment, better library, new gymnasium, and dormitory are needed. Measures are in progress to secure these. Two are fitting for the ministry.

New Hampton Literary Institution, New Hampton, N. H.—There were 173 students last year. The coming year there will be twelve teachers. Twenty-five young men and eleven young women made a public profession of faith in Christ during the last year. Four or five young men are known to be studying for the ministry. The recent effort to increase the endowment has resulted in cash to about $10,000, making the fund now $23,000. Besides there are $30,000 in pledges which are payable year by year for the next three to five years. Efforts are to be continued until $10,000 more are secured in reliable pledges or cash. A new dormitory for the young ladies is much needed, and it is hoped this want will be supplied during the coming year.

Lyndon Institute, Lyndon, Vt.—Value of grounds, buildings, and furnishings $28,000. Endowment $20,000. The library has 1,200 volumes. The students last year numbered seventy-three. There were fourteen graduates from the different courses. There are seven teachers, all Christians and competent instructors.

Pike Seminary, Pike, N. Y.—Nine graduated this year; twenty-seven the last three years. There are two or more preparing for the ministry. In the contest for free scholarship to Cornell University this school stood both first and second. Recently about two hundred dollars have been expended for books and more than that sum for repairs and improvements on the buildings.

Manning Bible School, Cairo, Illinois.—This school was opened April 9, 1900, with Rev. Jared Maurice Arter, A. M., principal. There are theological, normal and vocal music departments. There are good library and reading room facilities. The aim of the school is to furnish a practical education to the prospective colored minister, so that he can preach and care for a church intelligently; to impress him with a deep sense of the exalted and sacred character of the ministry, and to inspire him with a zeal for the cause of Christ; to furnish like advantages and results to those who may wish to become missionaries and intelligent Sunday-school teachers, and those wishing to become better qualified as public school teachers. Tuition and text-books are free. Students are required to do missionary work. The number enrolled is twenty-eight. The prospect for another year is very good.

Bible School, Midnapore, India.—The number of students in the school during the three years was eleven; of these five have graduated. The character of the students has been excellent. Throwing the responsibility of selecting boys for the school upon their home churches has had excellent results. We have begun the present year with ten students who promise to make earnest workers.

The courses of study cover three years and include the Sanscrit language, study and interpretation of the several books of the Bible, Bible geography, church history, fulfilled prophecy, lectures on homiletics and pastoral theology. A good book on theology, in Bengali, is needed.

We have two good houses accommodating four married students. The other students are living in temporary quarters that are not convenient or healthful. These quarters are, moreover, costly, and on account of white ants must have extensive repairs every year. Three hundred dollars would remove this difficulty. About $1000 is needed to complete the Bible School Hall.

Christian High School, Balasore, India.—This school has now been established seven years. During that time it has had about four hundred different pupils. About one-third of these pupils have been from our Christian community. These are more steady in attendance than the Hindus, and comparatively few have left and been re-admitted.

The boys are taken in the primary grade, and if capable and steady are kept on through all the grades up to the entrance examination of the Calcutta University. But comparatively few advance so far. Only twenty-seven have thus far been sent to the examination, of whom fifteen have passed, ten of these being Christians.

Our teaching staff consists of eleven teachers besides the principal. Eight of these men are Christians. They are all fairly faithful, and interested in their work.

Most of the boys in our Balasore Christian community receive a part or all of their education in the school. We have had six from Bhimpore, two from Midnapore, and one from Santipore. Except in Midnapore, this represents all the Christian boys in our mission who are far enough advanced to take the high school course. Several of our people in Midnapore prefer to keep their boys at home and send them to the government school there.

Almost without exception the Hindu boys in our school are poor, and come to us because our fees are less than they must pay elsewhere. All are treated alike, and a stranger would often be puzzled to tell which are Christians and which are Hindus. The school is opened daily with singing from a book of Gospel hymns in English, followed by the reading of a passage of Scripture in Oriya, and prayer in English or Bengali or Oriya. All are required to be present at this time. The Bible is taught in each class daily from forty minutes to an hour, and no one is excused from this. Usually on Saturday a talk on some moral or religious subject is given either to the whole school or to the upper classes.

The influence of the school for good is very marked in the Christian community, and likewise in the appearance and behavior of those Hindu boys who remain long in it. Numbers of the latter have lost all faith in their old religion, and are among the large class who sympathize with Christianity. They specially need our prayers.

Ministerial Relief Fund.—It is painful to report that nothing has been given for this fund during the year. The small amount on hand will soon be exhausted and then, however needy one of our aged ministers may be, he will appeal in vain to an empty treasury if no contributions are received. Cannot every one of our churches take one collection annually for this object? I suggest that the Conference or Board designate a particular time and ask for such an offering.

Administrative.—Your secretary recommends that after the Conference Board, at its annual meeting, has attended as best it can to the denominational interests, the Executive Committee shall, during the year, be held largely responsible for planning the work and directing the secretaries in the execution of what has been ordered in a general way by the full board, and also in providing for new exigencies as they arise. This necessitates no change in machinery, only an expectation that the Executive Committee shall somewhat enlarge its executive powers. This will require frequent meetings and some expense, but will insure a wiser and more efficient administration.

It is also recommended that the Conference, through its Conference Board, Executive Committee, and executive officers seek to co-operate, as fully as possible with the various state and yearly meeting boards, in the prosecution of our work, There has been no hostility, but our machinery needs this connecting link between our organization and the local churches. It is impossible for us to reach or be familiar with all localities. We must depend more upon these boards for advice, and often, to save expense, they should be employed to execute matters of business within their territory. This does not suggest that we shall not utilize the services of members of our own board when they are economically available.

May it be our highest ambition to be co-workers together with God for the regeneration of the world.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR GIVEN.

E. H. LOUGHER'S REPORT.

In reporting the work of this year, I feel that I have been spread out so thin that I belong nowhere especially. With the care of three stations, and English service for railway men at Bhadrak, and three months of country work covering a large territory, yet the year has brought much of profit and considerable of experience to us.

Our Brethren.—It might be interesting to have some kind of a spiritual meter, whereby one could get the exact growth of those with whom he is associated, so as to help out in definiteness of statement for reports. Lacking this, what shall we say? Some have gone considerably up the grade of experience of power; others have wholly disappointed us and brought shame to their own lives and the cause. Yet there is no special reason for lamenting about what might be in the average home church; for one or two or three men's evil doings do not block the Lord's path, and there are loyal, trusting, obedient children here doing his will, I am sure. Some have gone home, and at least one, old Kamal, is nearing the line. He is pleading for release. I asked him to help in communion Sunday, but he answered, "Too blind, too blind." God will soon give him a new body.

Church Work.—At the beginning of the year there seemed to be no one especially adapted to the work for Balasore, and like some other churches I know, who have had the best, they are not satisfied to take a smaller man in power and eloquence. In the committee meeting we decided that if Bro. Hamlen was kind enough to preach for them, occasionally calling in the native brethren, that the church must herself do something for others. So a bright young man with a good character and some ability was appointed by the church as their missionary pastor. He visits the bazars, schools, villages, etc., and is doing some good work in behalf of the church. It is a new start in the right direction.

The Sunday service is well attended, and some very plain truths were proclaimed during the year. Six have been added by baptism.

We are planning to draw the net, for we feel sure there are many ready to enter the service, and only a special effort is needed to cause them to decide.

English Service.—Our audience will not fill a Tremont Temple. But the meetings have been profitable, I think, and are a means of bringing both missionaries and English-speaking natives in touch with our mother tongue and ways of putting the truth. When I have been away, as I have been much, Bro. Hamlen has preached at this service.

English C. E.—Meetings one a week; attendance fair in number; a large percentage of the members usually out. Something has been done for missions, temperance, and Sunday-school work. These meetings are carried on after the manner of the home meetings, and are a help both to ourselves and to the young native Christian men.

Various Meetings.—It seems sometimes that a fault occurs in an over-abundance of meetings. Yet they all seem to fill a needed place. Boys' meetings, girls' meetings, meetings for women, Thursday evening meeting, teachers, zenana workers, and so on. At least I feel sure none need get rusty for lack of opportunity to attend meetings. The varied interests of a station of this size call for quite a division of services and gatherings, and we can only hope that the Lord is leading in all the plans for his glory in it all.

Self-Support.—I did feel a little discouraged with the seeming lack of giving as I looked over the list of givers, and their respective amounts. But when the total came in, I felt that Balasore is doing something in advance of years gone by; and with the burden of a church misssionary to support this year, I feel sure she will make a good showing in this direction. But still there is room for progress, and I hope to press the matter to its limit. I hope to make the matter of money in self-support only one arm, the other to be the work of the church for souls. There is much opportunity, and we have considerable talent that can be used to good advantage if properly enlisted.

STATION WORK.

Book Room.—This work is still waiting in hopes that it may receive from some source an equipment worthy of the name of book room. We have a good building in the heart of the largest bazar, but it needs furniture—tables, chairs, book-cases, etc.—and enough money to renew the books, or many of them. I have received from Miss Gaunce $25 for this work. Who sees the importance of Christian literature among the thousands of Balasore?

We have used the room for preaching as often as we could, and are keeping things going in a small way. I am trying to get a little help through the Bible and Tract Society. Its results will be seen later on.

Bazar Work.—There have been but few market days during the year that the men have not been in the bazar preaching, and selling books; and the revival of this work has been a satisfaction to me. One always gets a crowd, and some very interesting meetings are held. Now it will be a crowd of native gentlemen, some readily saying, "Yes, that's true," or else desiring argument. Again it's hundreds of the marketers, or a crowd of charcoal carriers, or shop-keepers, fringed with a border of women. They are hearing the word.

Touring.—I wish I might take the room and time to tell you of this cold season's work more in detail than I can here. I hope, however, you may have followed it as it appeared in the Star and Free Baptist. In brief let me say that, leaving home the fore part of December, we spent ten weeks in the most forsaken part of the field, crossing two ranges of hills, among which we were for the most part of the time.

The people are a simple jungle folk, and gladly heard the gospel. Hundreds of villages were entered, and many miles of the road were traveled for the first time by missionaries. The party consisted of Mrs. Lougher and Marguerite, Mr. Coldren and myself, and natives to make up twenty-six in all. I think that, without exception, it was the hardest and most glorious three months I have spent in India; and letters coming now tell of people coming out of Hinduism to serve Christ. I feel like taking wings to get to their help, but I know the Lord has them in his special care, and I'll wait till the rains are over again.

We covered a distance of 300 miles, much of it solid jungle, through which we had to cut our roads. One section of forty miles we employed over 200 coolies to get through. We had been warned that only elephants could penetrate it; but the Lord's servants with a little patience and perseverance can do at least as much as an elephant, I am convinced.

Book Selling.—This is a factor in mission work not to be overlooked. The heathen teachers, Brahmans, and men from selfish purposes, are striving to flood the country with cheap, impure, and heathenish literature. They know its effect on the mass. Shall we be less wise? The story of Jesus Christ ought to be in the home of every Oriya and Bengali in this section of India, yes, in all the homes of India. Into the secret place of the home they go. Not only for a day, but for a year, or ten years, they tell the story, and we found examples this year of their value as a converting agency.

This has been a record-breaking year in our part of the field in book selling. During the time we were in the country we sold about 10,000 books and tracts; and with what we have sold here in Balasore and surrounding villages, the year's books will run up to nearly if not quite 15,000. All of them bear in some manner on Christ and the Christian religion.

We are finding the railway trains a good place to sell books, and several hundred are being sold each week at the station. They are in different vernaculars, such as Bengali, Oriya, Hindi, Urdu, Telugu, etc., also in English.

Two hundred dollars would do wonders in putting books among the people. We sell practically at cost, so individually the load is a little heavy, bearing the expense of getting them among the people.

Conclusion.—Larger-heartedness and liberality in giving of our means is absolutely necessary if we are to enlarge our work. Are you satisfied to let it stay where for years its borders and its efforts have been confined? The Christian world about us will step over our borders, and rightly too, if we do not occupy. Midnapore and Balasore districts need men, and larger equipment, and the heartiest, closest touch possible with all the living, vital plans of God's work in the home land. Give us and India these, and you may expect a harvest commensurate with the sacrifice.

Test God, and see if the windows of heaven do not open.

E. H. LOUGHER.

G. H. HAMLEN'S REPORT.

Sunday School.—Our Christian Sunday school has continued to flourish. For over a year it has had a primary department, in which the enrollment has been large, including almost all the little children in the Christian community old enough to attend. The average attendance for the year in the whole school has been considerably over two hundred, or two-fifths of our community; and the enrollment has included more than half the names. Three of our pupils were baptized and joined the church.

The teachers are mainly young men and women. Most of them are interested in their work, and come very regularly. A teachers' meeting has been kept up, but only the men attend. Our people are not yet far enough separated from their Hindu environment for men and women to attend such a class together, though they all attend the same church services without objection. The main school now has fifteen classes, and of course the same number of teachers.

Last year there were two examinations on the studies in the life of Christ, the first in July being conducted by the India S. S. Union, and the second in December by our Orissa Auxiliary S. S. Union. In the former several of our pupils passed. The latter came just when many of them were preparing for their examinations in the high school, but nevertheless some entered, and one of our boys secured the highest marks in the Middle Division. The auxiliary has given him a prize of one rupee.

Orissa Auxiliary I. S. S. Union.—This has continued its work. Last year we were able to give it sixty rupees from our mission funds to be used in its work of publishing literature for our Sunday school pupils. This year an empty treasury has precluded the possibility of such help, though the need is as great as ever. Perhaps some day those to whom Jesus is saying, "Feed my lambs in India, too," may wonder why they loved Him so little that they failed to heed his command.

A Conversion.—Nearly three years ago one of our young preachers, Gangadhar Rath, became so unsatisfactory that we had to dismiss him. Afterward he went from bad to worse for a time, till he became very bitter against the missionaries and Christians in general. But he found it pretty difficult to live, and hardships gradually brought him to his senses. He has applied for work in various places, but could not find anything that gave him any peace of mind. We declined to take him back for over two years; but last December he came to me apparently so changed that I recommended the brethren to take him along on the tour they were planning. They did so, and were pleased with his diligence in selling books, and willingness to help wherever he could. On their return he was taken on again as a colporteur, and is now doing very well selling books and preaching as he has opportunity. He seems quite changed, and we rejoice to have him once more at work in our Lord's service.

Railway and Flood.—The railway through our field is proving, as we anticipated, a help in our work, as well as a personal convenience. We can pass easily from one station to another, except Chandbali, and if necessary meet for consultation or in special meetings, as well as at our regular Quarterly and Yearly Meetings. The line was broken for a month last year by a great flood, and we were isolated indeed. Some of the Balasore missionaries who were away were unable to reach home for two weeks, and we had no mail for nearly a week. Even telegraphic communication was interrupted for two days. The railway people hope by the new bridges and higher embankments to overcome the danger hereafter. One can but hope so, for one of the worst railway accidents in all India for the year happened in a smaller flood, about a month before the last and great one, within four miles of Balasore. Eleven or twelve people were killed in it, including one foreigner, and numbers were injured. This was at the point where the greatest break came later.

An experience with such a flood gives one some idea of what the flood of a great river like the Mississippi can be in a low country. Here a little river hardly more than a brook that can easily be forded by a child at the time I write (April), became in September a mighty torrent one to three miles wide, and ten to forty feet deep. Many people were drowned by the sudden and unexpected rise of water in the night. The high railway embankment, without sufficient water-way, made the flood rise higher than for many years in many places. At Jellasore hundreds of people were made homeless, their mud-walled houses melting away in the high water, leaving, when it subsided, their straw-thatched roofs on a heap of mud for the accommodation of those who survived. Our poor people there were in this way nearly all rendered homeless, and saved their lives only by taking refuge on the high verandas of the mission bungalow. Later we raised a subscription of over two hundred rupees in the mission to help them rebuild their houses. Thus this, like many other calamities, gave opportunity for the exercise of Christian charity.

BOYS' ORPHANAGE.

Growth.—The orphanage has continued to grow in more senses than one. Last year I said that forty-five were wholly dependent on us. Now the number has increased to fifty. Two ran away during the year, and eight became self-supporting. Five of our old boys board with us, because they have no other home, and we have ten other boarders. For a few days the number to be fed daily was sixty-nine, and for some months recently it has been over sixty all the time. Just as this report is written, the total number under our care is sixty-three.

Health.—Physically, the health of the boys has been good, never better since we had them. An epidemic of the measles has just come and gone, but the disease was light, and left almost no bad effects in its train. Small-pox and cholera are almost epidemic within two miles of us as I write, and there has been a case of each within five rods of our compound. The cholera patient, one of our Christian men, died in nine hours. But we are proving the truth of the promises of our God. None of our boys have been attacked, and we do not fear these diseases. Good water, plenty of fresh air, and plain, wholesome food, by God's blessing, have rendered us thus far immune from these scourges. The plague, which is now raging in Calcutta as bad as in Bombay, has not yet reached Balasore.

New Buildings.—Last year I wrote about putting up a building for our orphans and boarders. That was completed in November, and the boys moved into it in December. There are seven rooms in a line, each twelve by thirteen feet square, with a window and a door in each, and a veranda running the whole length of the south side. It is all of brick and mortar, except the beams and rafters, which are of the wood given by the Mayurbhanj Raja. Each room will accommodate four boys comfortably, and more if necessary. This line of rooms is on the east of the old stable, in which we have laid a new floor, and so have a fine large dormitory for our middle-sized and smaller boys. Again to the west of this in the same line we have a long mud-walled thatch-roofed building, divided into two rooms, one for cooking and the other for an eating room. This completes a very neat and convenient set of buildings for our boys. About one half the $1000 given by the New Brunswick Young People's Societies was left over toward the new house for the superintendent and principal of the high school and his family. With this money we have had a large number of brick burned for that house, and are hoping for the money to build it soon. But more of this anon.

Work.—The system of paying the boys a small amount for their work, which was begun three years ago, has been continued, with fairly good results. It grows easier to obtain the required amount of work, and many of the boys are learning to spend their money carefully, by finding that it must go mostly for things they need.

Not much can be done in the line of industrial work without more means than we now have at our disposal. However, a carpenter has been kept at work most of the year, who has taught some of the boys the rudiments of his trade. Besides this, numbers of the boys work in the garden for us and Mr. Lougher, and thereby learn something about gardening. We hope that the knowledge thus gained will be useful to them if they ever have homes of their own.

Moral Improvement.—It has been a great pleasure to watch the development of some of our boys in real Christian life. There has been a marked change in the lives of some, and others have kept steadily on the right course. There has been much more willingness among the older ones to help us, and to look out for the younger ones, than I could report last year. One boy, to whom we feel very grateful, has taken all the care of most of the little ones at night, since they moved into their new quarters. He is so faithful and trusty that we feel quite safe when we know he is with them. He was baptized and joined the church during the year, and is faithful in attending and taking part in all the meetings. Others have been equally faithful in other ways.

There has been a weeding out of most of the unworthy older boys, which has been a relief in several ways. Those remaining appreciate their opportunities more, and are striving to make good use of them.

An innovation was made in the regular evening prayers, by putting some of the older Christian boys in charge, a different one for each night of the week. They do very well, but complain that when I am not present, the older boys do not attend well. I have kept charge of the morning devotions, and usually have taught them for a few minutes the Sunday-school lesson for the following Sunday, or something connected with it.

About the end of January one of our boarders, an earnest young Christian, began a meeting on Sundays for the smaller boys, and kept it up regularly with much devotion till called home by the illness of his father. Numbers of the boys regularly read their Bibles and pray; and altogether the atmosphere among them is favorable to the development of a higher type of living than is at present possible, perhaps, in more than a very few of the homes of our Christian people.

The confidence of our people in the management of the orphanage, as shown by their desire to have their sons come here to prepare their lessons, and sometimes to board, is gratifying, and shows that the Lord is helping us to fulfil some of our ideals, at least in some measure.

Famine Orphans.—When the famine was so severe to the west of us last year, a request came from a missionary friend in Sambalpur to take some famine orphans from there. We agreed to take twenty five boys, and the ladies offered to take ten girls. As it turned out, there were more girls than boys to be disposed of, so the ladies got twelve girls, and we only ten boys. Four came in November, and six in January. All the first batch are well and strong; but most of the latter had been ill in hospital, and some of them were thin and weak. One of them especially, who was hardly strong enough to walk, had an abnormal appetite, and all our vigilance could not prevent his eating the strangest things. One day he was caught eating the skin off from some chicken's legs which he had picked up and roasted. He was punished a little for it, and perversely ran away. The skin and the exposure to the hot sun in the middle of the day, brought on a diarrhœa from which he was not strong enough to rally. So one evening we went and laid away his poor wasted skeleton in God's Acre.

The others seem to be doing well, and are happy and contented in their new home. The youngest of them, a little scrawny mite, perhaps four years old, who, the others say, was picked up in a bazar, and whom they had nicknamed "Bazar Imp," is getting some flesh on his poor little bones. He is a very happy child, so much so that we wonder what his origin could have been. Surely his mother must have been some happy girl, who knew little of the sorrows of life till famine came, and then one may easily surmise that she gave her life for his. Perhaps it is better that he was too young to remember much of the bitterness of those sad days. He has found a refuge now, and, please God, he will never be so hungry again.

A Loyal Helper.—It would be most ungracious to omit to tell how much of the welfare of the boys in every way is due to the patient, watchful care of my wife. It is really she who has carried the largest share of the burden. Without her to mother the boys, to reprove them, encourage them, counsel them, praise them, spank them, love them, look after their food and clothes, doctor them, and attend to their ever-recurring wants, I should soon be at my wits' end, I fear, and their condition might not be enviable. Let the friends who pray for the boys not forget to pray for her too.

HIGH SCHOOL.

Encouragements.—The head master's report gives the chief facts about the school for the past year. There are many encouragements in the work, especially in its religious aspect. The constant teaching of the Bible, real teaching, not mere reading, is having its legitimate effect in deepening and strengthening the spiritual life of the Christian boys, and it is making a deep impression on the Hindus also. One who had been several years in the school openly avowed himself a Christian, and quite indignantly refused to be called a Hindu. He was not baptized, but steadfastly adheres to his confession. He has an aunt at a distance, a zenana woman, who has also become a firm believer in Christ. A few months ago she learned of her nephew's position, and recently he went to visit her. I was told by the ladies who teach her, that the two had a very happy time together over their Bibles, and she was delighted to have one of her own people to help her to understand the Good Book. She is said to be an earnest student of it herself, but she found that he was far better posted than she in many of its teachings.

This is an advanced case, but there are many others that give us hope and courage. The Bible women and zenana teachers frequently find houses in which some of our pupils live, and it is not uncommon for the boy to chime in, and help tell the Bible stories he has learned in school. So we know that the Word has found lodgment in many hearts. And the fruit is sure in due season.

More Room Needed.—The income of the school from fees was much larger than ever before, and made possible some minor repairs that were necessary. Part of the roof of the main building greatly needs renewal, and we hope to get enough ahead to begin on it before long. But the most pressing need is that of a house for the principal and his family. At present we are living in two rooms of the schoolhouse. This is bad for the school, which is thereby crowded out of one of the rooms it greatly needs. The other room would be exceedingly useful for a library and general reading room for the pupils of this school, and the young men of the community. Such a room is greatly needed, and would be available if we could move out.

But the lack of room for the school and other work is small compared with that of the principal's family. The rooms of the schoolhouse are all on one floor. A wide veranda runs the whole length of the house, one hundred feet, on the south. This is common. On the west our two rooms are separated from the school by a wall only. On the north and east is the driveway, along which the pupils must pass to and from school. The room opening on the veranda is twenty-five feet long by eighteen wide, large and pleasant. In the west third of it, next the school, I have my study, which is always open to all comers. The partition between this and the other two-thirds is a row of book cases twenty inches deep, above which is a space of twelve feet or s for free circulation of air. In this other part is our drawing-room, sitting-room, sewing-room, reception room, and on occasion our dining-room. Not much private conversation possible here.

To the east of this is a small dressing-room, which we utilize for a dining-room, and a small bathroom, that does duty for a storeroom, and a place to wash dishes. Back of the large room is another of the same length, but narrower. Two doors connect them. This latter is our bedroom, dressing-room, nursery, and general storeroom. Therefore it contains numerous boxes, trunks, bureaus, clothespresses, beds, chairs, toys, etc., etc. Here sleep the four of us, and from two to four of the little ones from the orphanage, such as are sick, or need special care. It is neither pleasant nor healthy, but there is no help for it, so we keep the doors open, and make the best of it. The little ones must be cared for. We cannot let them die of neglect, and there is no other place near us. Two native women help us care for these and our own little ones by day. One bathroom on the east of this room suffices for the purposes of cleanliness and for a water closet for all except the two women. The consequences to one's privacy are better imagined than described.

I have sometimes been wicked enough to wish that a few of my brethren in America (I hope they'll forgive me) could have the privilege of living and working under such circumstances for a month apiece. If they had to live and work in public, and most of the time in a hubbub, with all sorts of people coming and going at all times of day and night, with children in every direction, and without a nook or corner anywhere for private study or devotion; if they had to be busy from six in the morning till ten at night, with the noise of a school (Indian schools are very noisy) in their ears six hours a day, and no possible escape; if they saw the wife bravely making the best of numberless inconveniences and hardships, and the children growing up without a chance to learn what real privacy is; if they had to come to Saturday night tired in mind and body, and with only a vague preparation for a Sunday morning sermon in a foreign language, and then had to rise not wholly refreshed on Sunday morning and prepare that sermon in the midst of the confusion caused by fifty children—I doubt not that many of them would say, with Bro. Stiles, "Hallelujah, praise the Lord anyhow!" as I do. But if they knew that a paltry $3000 would put up a new house, and that the new house would make possible more and better work on our part in the orphanage, the school, the church, and in every way, perhaps, like me, they would wonder why those whom the good Father has told to send on the money do not make a little haste with his business.

More Needs.—It seems to be perfectly true that one need creates another. At least the success granted in one line opens up new avenues of usefulness. Thus our present high school opens the way to at least three other things, each important in its way, which I will mention in the order in which their importance impresses me now, beginning with that which is least pressing.

The first need I have mentioned before, I think, and will simply refer to it here. It is for additional classes above what we now have. That is, the school ought to develop into a college, and I believe it will so develop in due time. A careful consideration of all sides of the question, however, leads me to think that perhaps this matter can, for the present, wait better than either of the two following.

The second need is for development of the school downward, rather than upward. That is, in a word, we must open a kindergarten in connection with it as soon as possible. This may look strange to American eyes, for the name high school is commonly connected with a graded school of four classes only, and those of a higher grade, as the name suggests. But in India it is different, and our school, like many others here, includes all grades from those beginning to learn their letters, to those preparing for the next entrance examination. Government is preparing to open kindergarten classes in connection with all its schools as fast as possible, and in order to keep up with them we must do the same. But for a far higher motive we ought to begin this work without delay. We are seeking to save the souls of these people, and if we get the children of this decade, we shall have the adults of the decade to follow. And all the arguments that hold good for the value and usefulness of kindergartens in America are equally good here. I need not repeat them, but beg you to bear in mind and on your heart this open door to a great and lasting work among the children of the Hindus around us. The Christian children have their kindergarten already. It remains for us to supply one for their non-Christian neighbors.

Even more important than this, just at present, I think, is the opening for work on Y. M. C. A. lines presented by the high school. It has been a dream of mine ever since I landed in Balasore that such work here might be very fruitful. With that thought in mind, when invited to lay our needs before the Conference Board, I specially urged this for Balasore. The number of such men here that could be reached and benefitted by such work is large and growing. The high school, with its premises, offers a fine starting-point. Surely here is an opportunity of reaching and influencing the rising generation of young men, such as we shall verily have to answer for to God some day. But we cannot do it without another man. Both Mr. Lougher and I are already working up to the limit. Where is the man for this new work, and who will support him while he gathers jewels and prepares them for the Master?

I pray the all-loving Father to create in the hearts of those who read this such a passion of constraining love, that not only these but all the other providential openings, calls for more laborers, mentioned in this report may be heard and answered. O brethren, sisters! men and women, boys and girls, are going out into the dark without Jesus. Can you rightly call yourselves his brothers and sisters, if you do not tell them of him, or help some one else to tell them? Every one of these calls for more workers in our field is proof positive that God is telling some to come and others to send. For he never creates a need without an abundant supply. He never calls without calling some individual or individuals, though, alas! too often his calls fall on deaf ears.

From the bottom of my heart I pity the man whom God is calling to take up Y. M. C. A. work in Balasore, if he does not come. I pity those who ought to supply his support if they fail to do it. I pity those who neglect to come or send to the other calls of God in our great, needy field with its perishing millions. For surely they are not constrained by the love that filled the heart of our Lord when he gave himself for us. Their souls, untouched by the divine passion, cannot know the boundless joy of the Lord in spending and being spent, in living, dying, and rising again, according to the will of the Father, for the salvation of their fellows. May He pity them, arouse them from their fatal slumber, and create in them the mind of Christ before it is forever too late.

HEAD MASTER'S REPORT.

Teaching Staff.—There was a little change in the corps of teachers. The ninth master was permitted to resign to accept another post, though his services were very valuable to the school. The eighth master was dismissed at the close of the year, and the vacancy has been temporarily filled by a former student of our school. Though a Hindu, he has, like many others, imbibed Christian ideas to a large extent, but he has not yet reached the point of openly confessing his faith in the Lord.

As plane and model drawing are included in the curriculum of the Calcutta University, a Hindu teacher was appointed in July to prepare our boys for the entrance examination in that subject. Of the eleven teachers in the school, eight are Christians and the rest Hindus.

Statistics.—The total number of names on the roll on the 31st of March this year was 150, as compared with 163 on the corresponding date in the previous year, showing a decrease of 13. Of these 150 boys, 76 were Christians, 71 Hindus, and 3 Mohammedans, as compared with 74 Christians, 86 Hindus, and 3 Mohammedans on the roll on the corresponding date of the previous year. The average daily attendance was 131, and the average number on the roll per month was 163.6, as compared with 124.5 and 152.5 respectively in the preceding year.

Examinations.—At the annual examinations, held in January, 137 candidates attended, as against 126 in the year before, and 89 of them passed as against 87, the percentage of success having decreased from 69 to 65.

Last year six boys were sent up for the entrance examination of the Calcutta University, and the results, which were not known when the last report was prepared, fell far below our expectations, for only two of them passed, both Christians. One of them now holds the position of third master in our school, and the other has been appointed English master in the Girls' Middle English school at Sinclair Orphanage. This year we have sent up five students, three Christians and two Hindus, out of a class of twenty. One of them has taken drawing.

Every quarter we have had written examinations in the first five classes. Quarterly statements were given to the boys with the strict understanding that they should show them to their guardians, and return them to their class teachers after being countersigned.

Physical Training.—The generality of our Christian boys have some sort of regular physical exercise. We have had a carpenter's class, in which some boys have day by day learnt some of the rudiments of the trade. Besides this some of our boys have their regular hours of work in the garden.

Vacations.—Our school was closed for five weeks in summer and three weeks in winter. Ten days were granted for preparation for the quarterly and annual examinations, and sixteen days for minor holidays.

Discipline.—The school has been, on the whole, orderly, and there has been no special call for harsh punishment. None of our boys were caught cheating in the examinations in the year under review. Teachers and pupils are strictly forbidden to chew pan in the schoolhouses. The teachers were alive to the interests of the boys, and by their living and precepts they tried their best to form and strengthen the moral character of the boys entrusted to them.

Supervision.—By a new plan of the principal, the teachers and pupils have somewhat acquired the habit of punctuality, which is a rare virtue in India. Each teacher has been supplied beforehand with a list showing the progress the pupils are expected to make in each study for the year.

On one occasion the principal was sorry to have to take some of the teachers to task for not being quite up to their duties. Any misconduct on the part of the boys is at once reported to the principal for decision. It has been my duty to examine all the classes in turn, three periods in the week.

Religious Training.—Scripture portions are daily and systematically taught in all the classes. Moral text-books saturated with Christian teaching, published by the Christian Literature Society of Madras, have been introduced in almost all the classes. To make the lessons interesting, and to open their minds to receive the light, the boys are permitted to hold religious discussions with the teachers. Short religious addresses are delivered by the principal and others on Saturdays for the spiritual benefit of the teachers and the taught sitting together in the hall.

Concerning how and what to teach the boys entrusted to us, we in our daily prayers ask counsel at the mouth of the Lord, and we have had every reason to believe that, on several occasions, he has shown us the way that we should go. It is my earnest request to those who read this that they lift up their prayers for the teachers, to the end that they may do that which is right in the sight of the Lord and for my benighted countrymen, that they may cast away their idols of silver and their idols of gold, which they have made each one for himself to worship, and that they may know and believe that there is no God in all the earth but in Israel. In and through this school may the Lord of Hosts be a crown of glory, and unto the people of this land for a diadem of beauty. H. N. SARKAR.

MRS. HAMLEN'S REPORT.

Village Meetings.—The meetings in the Christian village reported last year have been kept up during the year just ended. Meeting number one has not increased in numbers, unless you count the four little babies who come with their mothers. One girl has married and gone to Santipore to live. One other has gone to the Widows' Home. Her husband left her, and she was having a very hard time. She is not a church member. All the young women now attending this meeting are church members. One from the Sinclair Orphanage married, and has come to her husband's home to live. So she is added to our number. At present thirteen young women attend, besides little children and babies. There is a growth manifest in some who attend. It is very noticeable in their prayers.

Meeting number two has been kept up, and is attended by a few. Sometimes only those in one house attend; then again they come from four houses. These are Christian women who never get out to any prayer meeting at the church.

Girls' C. E. Society.—This has its regular meetings, but they are rather poorly attended. Two of the number have been baptized during the year. Some good has been gained. The younger girls are beginning to come in.

Women's Prayer Meeting.—This is attended by only a very few, the Bible women and two or three others being the most regular in attendance. Sometimes quite a good number will come, but not with any regularity. The meeting is always led by one of their number.

An Interesting Incident.—One day when out in a village with Mariam, one of the Bible women, at the first house at which we stopped, a young woman came from a neighboring house, and said she had come to see me. This was a village often visited by the Bible women, but this young woman was a stranger to Mariam. So we made some inquiries, and found that she had married several years before, and her home was more than twenty miles away. When a little girl, she had learned to read in one of Miss Hooper's schools. She asked us to go to her mother's house, and we went. There she looked at all our tracts and books, told us what she had, and bought several new ones. She said she would take them to her distant home, and read them to the women there. She said she had read what old ones she had many times. We asked her if her mother-in-law allowed her to do it. And she said yes, that she was very pleased to have her do it. She added, "Why, no woman can read there but me, and I learned it in your school." From all I could learn, it seemed that the books she had carried had given all the Christian teaching that that village had ever had. As we returned across the rice fields, Mariam said, "That is the kind of a place I like to have books go to." E. J. HAMLEN.

REPORT OF MISS PHILLIPS.

To write a review of a year's work in the midst of the inevitable rush, attending the last few days before going on furlough, does not give promise of a satisfactory outcome. However, one can only do her best under any conditions.

Hindu Girls' Schools.—Once more the number of these has been reduced, and now only three remain. Lack of time and strength on my part for such supervision as would make the school a Christianizing agency on the one hand, and on the other, persistent depredations made upon the schoolhouse and its contents by the villagers whom the school was intended to benefit, were the determining causes. Two leading men of the village came promptly, pleading for its continuance; but I had fully considered the situation before deciding. The school, however, has been continued under native auspices, a thing which has occurred once or twice before when I dropped a school, and which clearly indicates a growing appreciation of girls' schools on the part of those who, not so long ago, had only contempt for the idea of trying to educate a girl. This improved sentiment we may justly claim as a part of the legitimate fruit of mission work.

Judged by the results of the year's examinations, good work has been done in the schools; since, if I mistake not, every pupil sent up passed, and in the first division. In leaving the country I make over the three remaining schools to Mrs.

Lougher. I regret to say that, during the year under review, I have felt physically unfit to continue the little Sunday schools formerly held in connection with some of these schools.

Christian Girls' School.—This has suffered during the past year, in the loss, by marriage, of its head assistant and teacher of English, Miss Rachel Das, who had been for several years a very valuable and trusted worker in both school and Orphanage. Her post in school was taken for about four months by a young married woman, a former pupil of the school, who came from Cuttack for the purpose. Family considerations severed the connection at the end of the year, and for two and a half months the English classes were dropped for want of a teacher. A Christian young man from our mission high school, who had passed the entrance examination, had been secured for the post, but could not be immediately released from his former occupation. For about a month past he has been in school, and seems desirous of doing his best for his pupils. May the Lord make him a faithful and successful worker in his new field.

Results of examinations were more satisfactory in the lower grades than in the highest this year, though the girl in the last mentioned who was thrown out last year, passed well this year, and won a medal. I have begun pleading for a more thoroughly equipped school for our Christian girls than we have ever yet had, in order that they may be better fitted intellectually to be true helpmates for the boy being educated in the high school. A mission that has been in operation for sixty-five years should certainly be able to give its girls and young women something better than a common school education.

Kindergarten.—In turning to this I find cause for both praise and prayer. Beginning the year with 49 pupils, we close with 63. The average number belonging during the year has been 58.7, and the average daily attendance 50.6. The per cent of attendance was 86, against 90 for the preceding year. Two chief reasons for this are, an unusual amount of sickness among the children, and the fact that during the last three months my time has been given almost exclusively to the supervision of heavy repairs in connection with the Orphanage property. As a result, the discipline of the school has been left in native hands, and the attendance has accordingly fallen off, since nothing short of untiring vigilance will keep natives up to par in such matters.

About a dozen children I have felt compelled to pass out of the school for lack of room; and even now there is no room for games, one of the sine qua nons of every true kindergarten. The need of a new building I mentioned in my last report. During the year it has increased, and within a few weeks past a plan has come to me for utilizing our present plant at less cost than seemed possible last year; and I go home not without hope that, when I return, the necessary funds may come with me.

Of the eleven pupil teachers now employed, three are paid from outside; the rest from kindergarten funds. Having been out of school for three months, as mentioned above, I am unable to speak confidently of the present animus of the school. But, so far as I know, the teachers are all interested in their work, and greatly prefer it to ordinary school work.

I congratulate myself, the kindergarten, and our Board on having secured the services of a native kindergartner, trained in a mission school in Calcutta. She seems to enjoy much being left to manage her school and her pupil teachers according to her own ideas. And, so far as I have learned, she gets along nicely with them. It is certainly a disadvantage that she speaks only Bengali to them, as the children cannot perfectly understand her, and are sure to get their Oriya more or less corrupted. Still, the teachers have no difficulty. And her coming to us at the present juncture seemed providential.

Sunday School, Infant Department.—This has continued in my hands. The average monthly number belonging has been 64.7, and the average weekly attendance 50.7, or 78 per cent. Here, too, the attendance has suffered, and for the same reasons.

Finding it almost impossible to keep so many little ones, of varying degrees of intelligence, interested and quiet all together, I have, for some months past, divided them into classes, and had some of my kindergarten teachers as assistants.

The little Sunday schools heretofore maintained with some degree of irregularity, in connection with my Hindu schools, I regret to say have been discontinued during the greater part of the year. With all else I had in hand, my own strength was not equal to it, and there were no volunteers among the natives. H. P. PHILLIPS.

MISS SCOTT'S REPORT.

Another work year has closed, and our secretary again calls for reports. He, like "the good and faithful servant," gives year by year such a full account of all branches of work carried on by different missionaries in the station, that only a little filling in is left for me to do. I wish I had something stirring and full of interest to write about, we are apt to be so impatient of results, when it is only the daily duties we are called to do. That quotation often comes into my mind, "Though the mills of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding small," and sure, too. And I know that it is so, and will be so with the gathering in of the people of this land, until the Lord's time has come when he shall arise in his glory, dispelling the darkness of unbelief, and bringing all things into subjection.

With such material to work upon, the results among the women who have been, and are still in the Widows' Home are, to say the least, not entirely disappointing. Several, after having learned considerable, and gained somewhat of self-respect and the confidence of others, have gone out to work, and are making, so far as I know, trustworthy servants; while the behavior of those in the Home has greatly improved, and work goes on from day to day with less friction, and quarrels are less frequent.

The latest arrivals, two Hindu widows, who have come through all the trials and temptations of Hindu widowhood, give fair promise of trying to be good, and are willing to work at whatever they can do, which is little enough. We cannot know how hard it is for them to settle down to a quiet life, where there are rules to obey; and nothing short of the restraining grace of God can keep them from going back to the old life of sin and shame.

Four little girls, all under two years of age, keep the place lively, but we trust that, if spared, they may do better than their parents, and show that the care bestowed on them during their childhood days has not been in vain.

Zenana Work.—My zenana work has had its ups and downs during the year. One of the teachers, after causing no little anxiety, has chosen the world with its evil ways, bringing reproach on the Christian name, and the work we are trying to do. Amidst it all I was pleased to find that the pupils among whom she had been working blamed the teacher, and not the religion she professed to teach.

The number of pupils has kept up well during the year, and some very good Mohammedan houses have been opened, where the women are unusually intelligent, and seem anxious to learn about the Christian religion, instead of raising foolish questions, which is so often the case with such women. Besides, they are willing to pay a fee for their instruction. At present there is a great deal of sickness through the town, and death has taken away one and another of my pupils, while in many other houses mourning for lost ones has, and is, preventing pupils from attending to their studies. At such times one can only try to bring the sorrowing ones into contact with the great Comforter. And a few, at least, seem to feel that the Saviour cares for them, and not only has borne their sins but carries their sorrows.

My teacher's class has been very well attended throughout the year, and a real interest is shown in the lesson. That, with the woman's missionary meeting, and my Sabbath afternoon Bible class for young women, compose all the other items of my work that can be tabulated. But the many things that cannot be put under any heading occupy a large share of one's time and thought. And so the days pass with a great deal of sameness and seemingly small attainments. But we can hope and pray that when "all the building" has been "fitly framed together" it may become an "holy temple unto the Lord." "For of him, and through him, and to him are all things, to whom be glory forever. Amen."

Heartily thanking all the friends in far-away lands, who have done so much by their prayers and their means to help us in this great work, and who, I trust, will reap a rich reward, I remain, Yours very sincerely, J. J. SCOTT.

Widows' Home, Supplementary.—Another three women of very low caste with two children were brought here from a famine district a short time ago. They must have been well cared for at least for some time back, as they bear no marks of bodily privation. But their minds are so stunted and empty, one wonders if two of them, at least, will ever be able to learn anything. In the meantime there is much for them to unlearn, as begging and stealing have evidently been the methods by which they have lived. And this may, in a measure, account for their good physical condition. Many of their relatives have died, and they are utterly homeless. So, if they can be rescued from a life of sin, much will have been gained, and all efforts made on their behalf amply repaid. J. J. SCOTT.

REPORT OF MISS GAUNCE.

Bible Women.—Seven have during the year worked in Balasore and the surrounding villages. During the cold season one was sent to Bhadrak to work with Miss Barnes in the country. Four were more than two months with Mrs. Lougher on her tour through the country. And work in Ujurda has also been done. They report interesting work done this cold season. The Bible class with the women is still kept up. Nearly all of them did very well in the annual examination.

A few of the women in the zenanas do believe in Christ, and their knowledge of him is making a change in their hearts and lives. Their influence, we pray, may tell in the homes in which they dwell, and thus others be won for Christ.

Sinclair Orphanage.—During the year seventeen girls, including one boarder, have been admitted into the Orphanage. Twelve of the number were from the famine district: one from Mayurbhanj, and supported from Australia; two of Christian parentage; and one, a little motherless baby of a few months, who died the day following its admission into the Orphanage. It was thought that some drug, which proved fatal, had been given her by those who brought her to keep her quiet.

Two of the eldest girls, who have been for years inmates of the Orphanage, have gone to relatives and friends. And one, little Ruth, who was never a healthy child, beholds the face of the Good Shepherd. At present there are fifty-five girls to be loved and cared for. On the whole, the health of the children has been good. Even the itch, which is common, seems to be on the decrease.

At the last lower primary examination, seven girls passed. One passed the upper primary, and one the middle vernacular examination. The latter has taken up work in the kindergarten, thus making three of the girls who are teachers in the kindergarten; and two, including Annie, who has the junior sewing class, who are teachers in the Christian girls' school.

Though I cannot speak of any instances of conversion among the children, yet I feel that many of them are trying to serve God. In the little ones gleaned from the famine one would be interested. In learning and behavior the majority have surprised me. One day, I trust, they will be bright lights to their own people; and we ask you to continue with us in prayer for them. L. E. GAUNCE.

MISS SMITH'S REPORT.

Not having reached Calcutta until Dec. 13, 1900, and our own mission two days later, my report covers only three months and a half. Uncertainty as to my permanent location continued until the middle of February. Consequently the use of the time has been quite different from what it would have been otherwise. My headquarters have been at Midnapore. During January I visited Jellasore, Santipore, and Balasore. In February I spent two weeks visiting a very successful medical mission about forty-five miles north of Calcutta, for the purpose of observing methods of combining medical and evangelistic work, and that I might study the diseases most prevalent in this country, and the conduct of a large dispensary. I found this very valuable. The remainder of the time to March 31 was spent at Santipore and Midnapore, with a short visit to Bhimpore, where I performed my first cataract operation.

I studied Bengali about two months. I can do almost no medical work without a missionary to interpret for me. I have treated about sixty cases, and assisted at others. It has been decided that I shall be stationed at Balasore, and open medical work for women and children. SHIRLEY HOLMES SMITH.

BHADRAK.

MISSIONARIES.

REV. E. H. LOUGHER in charge. MISS E. E. BARNES, resident missionary.

LAY PREACHER.

CALEB HUDSON (1886), pastor.

OTHER HELPERS.

Two Bible-women. Two school teachers.

The Church.—There are three kinds of preaching, by word of mouth, by looks, and by manner of life. Of these three ways the chief one is right living. I have worked in the mission nearly twenty-five years, and in my life and character there have been many faults and mistakes. I have had many warnings, and am now trying to preach by my life as well as by word. The Bible-women are also trying in the same way. The work is going on well, and many say that they believe what we preach. But on account of the hindrance of caste, they do not openly accept.

Our church is only a little one. There were four backsliders, and during the year two have returned. The other two, after trying the best we knew how, without success, we had to leave. Only the Lord is able to bring them.

Nearly all the Christians come regularly to the church services. Sometimes Hindus come in, but not regularly. The few Christians who are church members we believe are really trying to live in the right way, and we see that their spiritual life is increasing, and we rejoice in this gain. We now have only one foreign member, our missionary, Miss Barnes.

Sunday School.—Our Sunday School numbers about thirty. We wish it were larger, and are planning for it. They are nearly all Hindus, children of poor people They learn the Golden Texts and other Bible verses, and are taught the Internationa lessons. We have hoped that some of these children will become God's true servants. Four of these scholars, three Hindus and one Christian, took the Sunday-school examination last July for the first time, and have received their certificates. We thank our friends for their prayers, and ask them to continue to remember us.

CALEB HUDSON.

MISS BARNES'S REPORT.

Evangelistic.—During the past cold season my Bible-women and I have had a better opportunity for itinerating work than ever before. This is because we had the use of a tent. Our native Hindu magistrate very kindly lent me a small one from his tenting outfit, to use in December and January. It was the one intended for his servants, but he seldom took it. This was a great help. Later Mr. Coldren lent me his. We were out about two months.

Since the beginning of the cold weather we have sold books in forty markets, and at two jatras (religious gatherings). Twenty-nine of the markets were in the country; the rest here in Bhadrak on Wednesdays and Saturdays. We were able to work in a good number of distant villages. Perhaps about half of them had never been visited by women workers before. Part of the time I had with me three women, and later two, all widows, and they worked as faithfully as any one could ask all the time, and we were happy in having the privilege of working together. We always took our book bags with us to the houses, and sometimes would sell a number to those who gathered to listen.

During the season we sold 1870 copies of the one-pice book called "The Way of Salvation and Life of Christ"; and for the year, including a few large Bible pictures, the book sales in and around Bhadrak have amounted to more than Rs. 58. The greater part have been various kinds for one pice, or one-half a cent. There are 64 pice in a rupee. We had no preacher or colporteur to go with us for country work, and feel that God specially helped and strengthened us.

Sometimes, in unexpected ways, our prayers were answered. Quite often, when we began to work in a market, the Brahmans would come and say, "No one will buy these books. If you had only brought 'this, that, or the other,' [naming different Hindu books] many would buy." And they would try to put all sorts of hindrances in the way to keep others from taking the "Jesus Christ books," as they called them.

One day, close by a Hindu temple in a market-place, the older Brahmans were especially tiresome. But we kept on showing, reading, and explaining, and behold! a young, intelligent-looking Brahman stepped up to our box and helped us until we had sold over seventy copies. He spoke a little English, was polite, and came away with us.

To many hundreds in houses, dooryards, and markets, we told the Bible stories, showed the pictures, read, sang, and explained, over and over again. It was very difficult to convince some of the villagers that we were not Government servants. sent to carry out some order, inspect the road, villages, or something of that kind, And if Government did not pay us how did we live and pay our cart hire? One man said, "Anyhow, if the Maharani (Queen-Empress) did not give her permission, you could not come." I replied, "Certainly the Maharani gives her permission. She is a Christian."

There were many interesting and encouraging incidents all along. We tried to sow the gospel seed in all the ways and places that we could. Sometimes unexpected ways are given. The other day a farmer asked my women if they knew why the court was closed on Friday. He said that he had asked a number of people who go to court, and they could not tell him. It was Good Friday. Of course they told him it was the day observed by Christians once a year as the day on which Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures.

It is a great privilege to live for Christ in India or in any country, and to do the ittle things for Him as they come along.

In January, thirty miles from here, where we were working, a destitute, fingeress leper woman, with her little child, came to beg. She had no one to care for her. In February I was able to take them both a long journey to a home for lepers at Asansol, where they will be cared for physically, and also be instructed in the way of eternal life.

In and near Bhadrak the Bible-women's work goes on very regularly five days in the week through eleven months of the year. It is one of the best ways of working we have. Native women cannot be reached with the gospel unless we go and carry the message to them.

Christian Community.—The Christian community is still small. I am glad to say that for a long time there have been no quarrels, nor any unkindness shown toward one another. In October Brothers Coldren and Lougher held a series of meetings which did good, and were the means of bringing back two of our backslidden church members. Our pastor gives good instruction in his sermons and prayer-meeting talks, and is anxious that our light, though small, should shine brightly. A consecration meeting in the early morning on January 1 is worthy of mention, as it has been one of the helps in keeping us in the right path to honor God in our daily life.

Day School.—The day school is going on as usual, with the same teachers. Being a girls' school, and nearly all heathen scholars—only three Christian girls—it is hard to keep them long enough to pass even the lower primary examination. One Christian girl has passed in the first division this year. There are some little boys also. The attendance has been smaller of late. One reason for this is that the Hindu parents object to their children learning anything from the Bible, and a Hindu school has been started a minute's walk from ours, and a number of our former pupils are in it. Notwithstanding this, through the earnest efforts of our head teacher, the attendance is at present improving. The patchwork sent from America is a great help in the sewing classes.

Woman's Missionary Society.—This society meets once a month. We have good little meetings. There are ten members, including nearly all the women in the Christian community, and two little girls. The fees, though small, are enough to do some work for the Lord. We had a thank offering in September, and have used Rs. 74 for different objects, and have Rs. 4-3 in the treasury, or nearly $4.00 in all.

The Bible study course for women workers this year is the third part of the Life of Christ. I have five in my class, two Bible-women, one school teacher, and two other young women who wish to learn. Pray for us in all our departments of work.

ENGLISH WORK.

The service for railway men has been kept up during the year, but with some breaks. During the rains it was not always possible to get there. Then the long country trip made another break. I have simply found out that I am not omnipresent.

During the year I got, on very good terms, a little piece of land not ten rods from the station, and have been hoping to get enough money to put up a little house that would answer several purposes; first, an English service, then one for natives, a there are always a few native Christians among the employees. I had thought also that a school for both villagers and railway men might be a success there. I have part of the money to build, and think I may get more.

There is real interest in the work. The audiences are not large, but change much, so quite a number hear in the course of the year.

The railway company has kindly given me a pass over the line for this work, and that is a help in a financial way.

One finds some very pleasant people among the railway men, and your heart goes out to them. They have but few privileges, and so monotonous and unceasing is their work that most of them forget when Sunday comes. We are putting quite a lot of good literature into their hands, and with what we can do apart from our chief work, which is for the natives, we trust they may be helped and more nearly led aright.

Church Work.—The church work has been regular, and the covenant meetings and communion services have been seasons of refreshing. It is a little difficult to get our native brethren to do aggressive work. When the responsibility has been given, they do well in trying to carry it. But to originate new work, and to make new plans for the advancement of Christ's kingdom, is far different. But the greater the responsibility given them for the work the more I see improvement, not only in the method of work, but in seeking out new work.

The financial part of the work has been kept up well. The church has taken a share in the salary of the principal of Storer College, paid thirty-five rupees to the flood sufferers at Jellasore, ten rupees to the India Sunday-school Union, and has contributed to the famine relief fund. This was in addition to supporting well all their poor, and paying one-half the pastor's salary, the other half being paid by the school, as he serves as second master in the mission school. The pastor will report the condition of the church.

The Church.—The pastor reports as follows: The year under report seems to be a most cheering one. The spiritual condition of our church is good. There have been six baptisms, among which one was converted from Hinduism at Chasakhand. But I am sorry to state that we have been obliged to dismiss one from our brotherhood, who was some years ago converted from Hinduism. Our collections this year have been considerably increased, and, in addition to our usual collection, we have started a poor fund to help our poor brethren.

In addition to our Woman's C. E. Society, we opened another one among our young people last October. Our young brethren cheerfully meet in our book room, and ardently preach the name of our Lord Christ among the public gatherings, and also in the market.

Among the two Bible-women we have one Oriya and one Telugu. Their work is cheerfully going on. They went to the nearest ten villages, including the nearest Telugu village last year, and worked nearly 250 days. Since Mrs. Coldren went away their Bible class is not going on well; yet Mr. Coldren is helping them sometimes to read their lessons. They paid six rupees for mission contribution, and one for temperance. Also another Bible-woman is working faithfully at Chasakhand, and she goes to the nearest villages with her husband, Jhampard Santara, the preacher. We ask all who read this report to remember this little church in prayer, so that all may be true Christians.

Telugu Work.—Norra Singh, the pastor, is doing a good work in a hard field. The people are very ignorant, and care little or nothing for religion. He has had considerable sickness in his family, which has interfered somewhat with his work, and he was away with me two months and a half in country work during the cold season. We had to drop one member, the Telugu teacher in the day school, for idolatry. He is very sorry now, and wants to come back. But we will let him consider the matter a little longer, that he may be quite sure he is willing to give up idolatry. It was not that he believed in idolatry, for he does not. But he did service (being of the priestly caste) for others who did believe, and took money for it, thus adding to his sin the sin of hypocrisy.

Chasakhand.—Jhampard and his wife are having a stirring influence in this village. The uncle of Kama Deb, who made such a disturbance, and tried to prevent Kama Deb's remaining in the village, has now become converted, and was baptized a few weeks ago. The Sunday when he was to have been baptized Umesh and a number of the Chandbali church went out to his place; and after the prayer meeting was over, and they were going to the water to baptize him, his wife called to him to come to her, as she wanted to speak to him. As soon as he entered the house the door was bolted by his brother, and he was kept there in prison until after dark, and the brethren had returned. So the baptism was postponed until the next Sabbath, when he was baptized, his wife having become reconciled to it. This came about more by his changed disposition than anything else. He had always been noted for his fiery temper and vicious habits. In fact, for two years he has been carefully watched by the police. And yet this lion has become so like a lamb that his wife beat him over the head with a bamboo, and he only replied that it was all right, just what he deserved, as he beat others when they became Christians. His wife, seeing this marvellous change, thought it best not to oppose his baptism further. He is a man who will need much of the grace of God to keep him, with all these years of sinful habits to overcome and change their course to that of purity. I trust you who read these lines will offer a special prayer for his safety, that he may take Jesus wholly into his heart. This man's faithfulness, more than any other in the village, would bring in the others. His older brother, Kama Deb's father, would now come out for Christ, but for the bitter opposition of his wife.

There is one serious difficulty to the people of this caste becoming Christians. Their only means of livelihood are begging, hunting, stealing, and dancing, none of which are respectable for a Christian. Some of them are now getting land, and will thus be able to help themselves in that way.

Kunti, Jhampard's wife, is doing a blessed work in this and the surrounding villages. The manager of the estate sent me word that she must stop her teaching the women. I simply replied to him that it was her duty to teach, and she must continue to do so as long as any were willing to listen to her. Now the people are actually sending to her to come to them. This is the woman supported by the Tioga Quarterly Meeting. We have not got a better worker so far as goodness is concerned, but being converted from a low caste she never had much chance for education. I believe all she had was while her husband was in the Bible school. She was taught by the lady principal of the Bible school.

Book Room.—This has been kept open during most of the year, and hundreds of people have been in to read or buy books. But not so many as when we had the pilgrims through this way. Over 4,000 Bibles, testaments, and portions of Scripture have been sold during the year.

English Work.—The English work has been kept up. It is not always easy to preach to an audience of four or five. Yet there is encouragement when you know that in your audience are all the Europeans of the place, which has, with few exceptions, been the case. I have been blessed in the work, and I believe others have been helped. I believe, as a general thing, missionaries to the heathen take too little interest in their European neighbors, who, in many cases, are just as needy as the so-called heathen. Brother and Sister Lougher came down in September for a visit, and we improved the time in some special prayer meetings. The dear Lord met with us, and we had the Spirit's power upon us, and the glory of the Lord filled the place. And on the 16th I had the blessed privilege of immersing all the unbaptized Europeans in the place. They were Mr. and Mrs. Mayston, my neighbors, Mrs. Mayston's sister who was visiting her, and dear little Marguerite Lougher. She had for some time wanted to be baptized, but her parents had kept her waiting till she was a little older. But her experience was so clear, and her desire so intense, we could not desire her to wait any longer. She was so happy, and it has been a great source of strength to her. Mr. and Mrs. Mayston have been such a help to me. We now have a Friday evening prayer meeting, and they look forward with great pleasure to these meetings. It is good to have Government officials take such a deep interest in spiritual things.

Sunday School.—The superintendent reports as follows: I am glad to report that we have got a good method of teaching how to sing in our Sunday school. Previously we tried our best, but could not teach the Hindu children how to sing nicely. We were disheartened, and obliged to think that these country boys would never learn how to sing sweetly. Then for the last attempt we gave the children some hymns to get by heart. And when they came with the piece learned, I, instead of taking the whole school, selected three or four out of them who had sweet voices, and taught them the tune of the hymn. And I was astonished to find that they led the whole congregation so nicely that they began to sing as sweetly as our Christian children do in the chapel.

We hold our Sunday schools in four different places: two in the town, one in Chasakhand, and the other in Ghukuily. The children of the last one belong to a low caste. So one of our brethren goes to them once a week. We cannot force them to come here, in fear of losing the high caste boys.

There are 232 names on the roll, and the average attendance is two hundred. In the last Sunday School Union examination seventeen boys passed, four in the middle and thirteen in the Viva Voce division, among whom two were Christians and the remainder Hindus. The superintendent's name is Charles Singh.

Woman's Work.—There have been two Bible women at work in Chandbali. They studied the life of Christ, and reviewed the lessons once a week, and were prepared for the examinations. But on the day set, one was away in Cuttack, and the other was ill; so they did not take the examinations.

They have spent 235 days in village work during the year. They have not been as efficient as they would have been had they been in charge of Mrs. Coldren, as she understood better what to do with them, and what was necessary. I have never had anything to do with the women's work, and so did not know how it could be best done.

The girls' school taught by Charles Singh's wife has twenty pupils, and has done very well. It has been taught 253 days during the year. It will have to change teachers or be closed, as family cares prevent the present teacher from continuing the work. We are in hopes of getting a good teacher soon, as some of the girls, though from low caste homes, are very bright, and may become useful Christians if they have proper teaching.

Mrs. Mayston, who has lately become active in Christian work, will have charge of the woman's prayer meeting, and assist them in such ways as she can in their work till Mrs. Ager returns.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.

Another year of evangelistic work has gone, and the humble part we took in it has to be recorded for the benefit of those interested. But the actual results cannot be given until all earthly records are complete. This is the work most refreshing to the missionary, to traverse new country, and see people who had never seen a missionary, nor ever heard of Christ. To tell such of the Saviour is real joy.

A Long Trip.—It was for such a trip that I left home the 2d of December, and returned on Feb. 23. Most of this time, in company with Bro. and Sister Lougher, we were traveling through the native States of Mayurbhanj and Keonjhar. We left Balasore on the 12th of December, and traveled over nearly every kind of road, from exceedingly good to no road at all, where we had to make a way possible for our bullock carts. The bicycle—oh, what a blessing it is! We had very little trouble following the foot path through the jungles and rice fields. At unbridged rivers, however, the bicycle always failed us, and we had to wait assistance or "carry one another across."

Through Mrs. Lougher's forethought we were amply provided with food, and by the untiring labor of Bro. Lougher we had plenty of filtered water. The filter would take the muddy tank water and bring it out clear and sparkling, but it took a lot of muscle to run that filter.

We were almost daily exposed to smallpox. We heard before we crossed the hills that it was bad on the other side. Some of our native brethren wanted to go back, but we said, "No, we are not to turn back." But we found it worse than we anticipated. In one village, where we had been preaching for some time, we noticed a case of smallpox, and began to look about us; and Bro. Lougher counted eight persons with the disease just in the scaling-off period. I remarked that a scene like that would cause a panic in a revival meeting in Boston. But we were in the service and keeping of Him who keepeth them that trust him.

All told, there were twenty-six persons in our party. But notwithstanding the exposure, and inconveniences not accustomed to at home, I think we really had less sickness in camp than a like number of persons at home. One of our Bible women, who was exposed almost daily, was not ill at all, but was called home before the end of our trip on account of her children at home coming down with smallpox. Marguerite had very high fever for a few days. But altogether we felt the dear Lord's presence with us; as we recall the trip we feel positive he led us all the way.

Interesting Work.—I cannot here speak of all the villages visited, but would say that, from the time we reached the country of the Kols and Santals till we left it, there was a continued interest and a most hearty welcome. We were camped at one village four days. Most of the time it rained. And yet we had hundreds of these simple-hearted people at our tents buying books and listening to the Gospel.

They seemed to think that such a Gospel of love ought to have some physical benefits in it. So the halt, the blind, deaf, and lepers came to "Dr. Lougher" for healing. His knowledge of their diseases and language was about equal to his knowledge of medicine. But he was encouraged by the fact that they had nothing better. So he would look at the tongue, make a few suggestive gestures, look very wise, shake his head doubtfully, fumble over a dozen homœopathic medicines, and select something which could at least do no harm. Of course, in very serious cases, he always referred them to the "bishop," who always administered permanganate of potash, even for cataract. It always clears the vision to purify the stomach.

A Village Awakened.—At one large village the head man was very anxious to have us hold a public service on Sunday; said he would invite all the people to be present. So at the appointed time there were no less than five hundred people present, and Joseph preached, and we had a most interesting service, at the close of which many books were disposed of. We found this head man had, some twelve years before, gotten a copy of one of the Gospels, and it had made a great change in his mind, and many others were influenced by it. We instructed him about reading the Bible, and holding services every Sunday; and he agreed to let me know every month how they were getting on. He has written three times. The last letter told of the conversion of one of the men who was very earnest when we were there. He said Jesus had appeared to the man at midnight and filled his house with light, and had changed his heart; and that now he was going about the village preaching Jesus all the time. They are anxious for a teacher or preacher. We are hoping that some good brother will volunteer for this service. Many in that village might be saved if properly instructed. God's Word was sown plentifully there, and we can wait expectantly for the harvest.

I thought so many times during that trip that that was the work for which God kept me in India another cold season instead of letting me go with my family. We prayed for a hundred souls, and they will yet all be counted as the result of that cold season trip.

Work at Home.—During the rest of the year we have been busy evangelizing the villages in and around Chandbali. And the workers at this end of the mission are all hopeful and encouraged to work on until He bids us rest.

MRS. J. T. RAE, assistant missionary. Two Bible women.

The Church.—The present condition of the little church here is not far from being praiseworthy. There has been a remarkable change toward advancement in Christian character since the visitation of the last flood, and the death of my dear husband whom they all loved. The church has lost four of its members, who have gone to be with their Father in heaven.

The Flood.—The state in which the last flood left the people here is sad indeed. None but those who have witnessed can imagine it. It was the highest in the annals of the place. The native Christians, as well as the heathen, were not only homeless but were bereft of their little all. The mission churches have helped the churches here very liberally. The total amount received was Rs. 241. For this they are very grateful.

Sunday School, etc.—Sunday school and Sunday services have been carried on as usual. The two Bible women are still carrying the blessed news of salvation to their heathen sisters.

MRS. J. T. RAE.

METRAPORE.

REV. E. H. LOUGHER in charge.

How like some little home village things here move on in a quiet, even way, and one wonders what has been or is really being done, until something happens to stir up affairs, and show its needs or its resources.

The Farm.—Not much need be said regarding this, as my predecessors have made it clear to them that we have neither time nor disposition to have a lot of trouble or worry over land. But if they will use the land and pay the rent and also appoint some one to collect, we are willing to hold it for them in the name of the mission, which is a help to them in more ways than one. First, the zimindars oppress them. Then, secondly, if they need anything from the estate, I can get it for them easier than they themselves can. For example, this year the Hindus above them stopped their water supply. I easily got the manager's attention to the affair. I am also promised Rs. 100 to enlarge and clean the tank.

Repairs.—The bungalow here for some years has been a question as to its repairs, but a crisis came. We must either let it go entirely, or fix it up at once. So I have taken off the roof, am having the walls fixed up, and re-roofed with straw thatch. In this way we can save it for years to come, I hope, at little expense.

Self-Support.—Not a great deal of change here in this respect. We are trying our best to get them to finish their native church and schoolhouse, and I am in hopes of succeeding. I am trying to teach them that the missionary is the wrong one to run to every time they are in need or in debt. Several times during the year I have sent such back to the village to their brethren, and the result has been satisfactory. They are doing something, however, both in the way of money and in sustaining their own service.

Meetings.—We have had a great loss during the year in the death of Labha Singh. He was really the backbone of the place, honest, a worker, and unselfish. O that we could say the same of many more of our helpers! We miss him in many ways; to advise with in settling the village troubles, and in the meetings, colporteur work, and other ways. In fact, the impress of his life was upon the whole work of the station. But he has gone, and our loss is heaven's gain. The Lord has seemed to stir those left, and the schoolmaster is filling into the gap with much willingness. And we and the work are in the Master's care.

School.—I have had to make some change in the school during the year. For a time the under teacher did not do good work, and the attendance ran down. But a new teacher and a new woman to bring the pupils (you don't have to do that at home) seem to have the desired effect, and the attendance is well up, and I hear no complaints regarding the attendance or work from the inspector of schools.

For sustaining the school the rajah's estate gives half, and the mission half. The pupils are both Hindu and Christian, so there is opportunity to spread the truth among the children.

DEBRAJ SINGH (1886), pastor. ABRAHAM DAS (1885), at Salgardia.

The Church.—The pastor reports as follows: Though the condition of the Santipore church for the past year is not all we could have desired, yet in some respects we are able to report advancement. There is an increasing effort toward independence. The church is now paying three-fourths of the pastor's salary, leaving one-fourth to be paid by the mission treasury. Ten persons who were, for various reasons, separated from the church, have reunited, and ten have been added by baptism. The young men are aiding in bearing church burdens. The church walls for some time have needed repairs. The young men have, in a very satisfactory manner, by voluntary service, repaired and whitewashed the walls. The young men are now conducting Sunday schools in six neighboring villages. The aggregate attendance in their schools is about 250. Mrs. M. R. Phillips has been their inspiration in this new movement, in which some of them are taking a very deep interest.

DEBRAJ SINGH.

REPORT OF MISS H. M. PHILLIPS.

Sunday School.—The work of the Sunday school during the year has been measurably satisfactory. In July twenty-two appeared for the examination on the International Lessons conducted by the India Sunday School Union. Of this number two were Hindu boys. All who took the examinations passed, and have received their certificates. The Sunday school children, as their share of church expenses, have assumed the janitor's pay, and make it up from their monthly collections of pice, cowries, and rice. Since Jan. 1 ten members of the school have been added to the church by baptism. We are hoping that more will follow.

A new helper gives new life to the work, especially if this new helper is an old one, whose long experience has specially fitted her to bear burdens, to guide and direct work. We are grateful to the mission board for making it possible for Mrs. M. R. Phillips to come for a work so much needing help. God is blessing her labors here. Our only fear is that, where the demands are so great, her efforts to meet them will quite exceed her strength.

Our children and young people are gradually learning that the church is theirs to care for as well as to enjoy; and we have been much encouraged by their enthusiasm in church repairs. The young men in the Bible class made the sun-dried brick. The younger children carried them to the church; the infant class outdoing all others, carrying one at a time, hugging them up to insure no falls or breakage. The little girls swept the church yard; the young men mended the broken walls and whitewashed. Then followed the young women with brooms and water buckets. There was plenty of good nature and hard work; a little too much splashing, perhaps, for the new whitewash. But it all looked very bright and clean when we spread down the new mats our women had woven with their own hands. And we were thankful.

Day School.—Our Christian village school is growing in favor with the Hindus, who are sending their children with no apparent fear on account of Christian teaching. The children take an intelligent interest in the Bible lesson, enjoy the hymns, and there is very little sign of caste feeling in the class, on the playground, or in the work room.

By keeping constantly on the lookout for them, we are succeeding in keeping the older pupils in greater numbers than formerly, and thus in saving a good number of young men and women from the temptations inseparable from idleness.

In the different grades ten pupils were sent for the government examinations. Of this number seven have passed. Our most promising young woman has gone to Calcutta for an advanced course of study in the school where Rachel Das was so well prepared to become a mission helper.

Parents are showing an increased interest in the advancement of the children. Many of them have learned quite uncomplainingly to pay fees, and to buy books for their boys. The school is not advancing by leaps and bounds. It is advancing, however, and having a very excellent influence on the life of our Christian community.

INDUSTRIAL WORK.

Perhaps the most perplexing question in our mission, as in many others, in these days of large accessions from famine regions is, How shall our young people earn a living? The question has a serious moral bearing. Whether through the influence of missionaries, or the more general influence of advancing civilization felt throughout the country, the wants of the common people have rapidly increased. In place of a single sari costing thirty cents, worn day and night, worn during her bath as well, and dried while wearing, every Christian woman and girl must add to her wardrobe a second and third sari; she must wear a skirt and a waist as well. The boys must have shirts; and unfortunately many of them must wear shoes and stockings in addition to the single dhuti and scarf of olden times. They must buy important articles of diet, wheat flour, tea, etc., where rice and vegetables served them before. They must have foreign medicines when ill; must buy books, and occasionally a newspaper. More than this, they must ride on the cars. Our new railroad has done much to make walking impossible. Our young men used, in one day, to make the trip from here to Balasore on foot, thirty-five miles. Now they pay three days' earnings for a railroad ticket, which leaves them still seven miles to walk.

We would not object to additional comforts if they could pay for them. But unfortunately the changed style of living is leading many into debt, and into habits of dishonest dealing. We missionaries greatly blame ourselves for our part in the unfortunate state of things. But it seemed so evidently a duty to teach a mother not to allow her child to go naked, and herself immodestly clad in a single soiled garment. We have now to ask ourselves seriously, What right had we to increase their wants in advance of their ability to supply them?

We have been by no means insensible to the situation, and have tried in many ways to meet it. But in these days of machinery, hand labor is at a discount. Hindus wear garments from Manchester and Lynn mills, because they are cheaper than they can make them. In the meantime their own looms are eaten by white ants. They burn kerosene oil from Pennsylvania, and their own oil mills are idle. Their land only is left them. And when rain fails millions die who might have lived, had not Western enterprise robbed them of the handicrafts which, in former times, tided them over a year of scarcity.

But the mission report does not allow sufficient space to discuss the industrial problem. We have tried to institute various industries, with the result that the financial loss in them all seems directly in proportion to their extent. The very last, the one we are row experimenting on, is durry weaving. These cotton durries, if sold here for thirty-three cents per square yard, would give the weaver a fair living. I sent a sample to a Bombay dealer, who buys a large quantity for export trade, and was told that the pattern being one which could be imitated by machinery, he could pay only twenty-six cents per square yard delivered in Bombay, 1500 miles distant.

He sent me as a sample an elaborately wrought hand-made rug, with the offer to buy, at thirty-eight cents per square yard, 15,000 annually if we would follow the pattern of the sample. Estimating material and transportation at twenty cents, this would leave the weaver a wage of eighteen cents for labor, which, if skilful, he could perhaps accomplish in six days. Evidently this would not be a short cut to fortune. I learned, however, from some one who has the inside track, that this same dealer boasts of making three hundred per cent profit on some of these exports. The next problem is how to sell in England or America, and save a large share of the profits to the weaver.

If our Santipore rugs ever reach an American market and sell well, it will be because some good Free Baptist has become convinced that it is just as much his duty, as a Christian, to see that a brother Free Baptist in India gets a fair price for his day's labor, as it is to pay for the Testament that was the means of his conversion, or the rice that saved him alive in famine.

I would be glad to correspond with some one who understands the ways of trade, United States customs, etc., and who could give me helpful suggestions.

Native Helpers.

Philip Baski (1900), lay preacher. One school-teacher.

Seven months of the year this little church in the midst of Hinduism has been without a pastor. Nothwithstanding this, the prayer meeting and Sunday school were kept up, and during the week the children were called together, and taught Sunday-school songs and texts of Scripture. During the year five members of the Christian community have crossed the river, one of whom was Modua Barik, the first in the village to embrace Christianity. He used to delight in telling the missionaries and other workers that he was the seed of the church, and all others were the branches.

A Hindu, who during the days of Daniel Nayak's pastorate manifested an interest in Christianity, has at last left his caste and people, and joined the Christian community. At first his wife was not willing to come with him, and went to her father (was in fear of her relatives), but soon after was visited by some of the Christian women, and eventually joined her husband and little son. They seem to be peaceful, quiet people, and I hope they may be a blessing to the community.

At the beginning of December, a native pastor and school-teacher with their families were sent to work in this village. The newcomers were warmly welcomed by the Christians. Their reception was perhaps not as expressive as some are in the habit of giving, yet one gave a little from his store of rice, and another from his, and another vegetables for curry; so the newcomers' wants—for they had brought no provisions with them—were supplied on the day of their arrival.

Since the advent of the pastor, who seems to be interested in his work and is liked by the people, a class for women who cannot read has been organized. They meet at the pastor's house and read one hour a day. It is hoped they may persevere until they are able to read the Bible.

The Sunday morning preaching service and Sunday school are well attended. Both prayer meetings have a good attendance, and all present are in the habit of taking part. The men's meeting is attended by the boys, and several of them manifest an interest.

The day school, I am sorry to say, has never been a success, that is, in passing pupils. During the months that the school was closed many of the pupils forgot much of what they had been taught, and the work of reviewing has not been to the advantage of the new teacher.

As usual I made trips to this village during the cold season, and three of the Bible women spent some days among the people, and visiting the surrounding villages.

MRS. KENNAN'S REPORT.

There is nothing eventful to report concerning my work here the past year. My time has been divided between looking after the work of the women and girls in the church, caring for the orphans, overseeing the Bible women's work, and studying the language, besides many things of lesser importance. I cannot, of course, compare this year with any other, as this is the first I have really known anything very definite of this work. I hope nothing has been lost, and that perhaps something has been gained during the year.

Bible Women.—The Bible women have carried on their work with few interruptions throughout the year. Their Saturday morning class for Bible study, of which the pastor has charge, has been faithfully attended. At present there are only seven workers here, three less than last year. One is now ill, another has a little baby, and still another has removed from the village. We have also two Bible women in Chitrapathar, and one in another village. During the cold season work some of the Bible women went with us, and their work was quite helpful, especially in some of the more remote villages.

Young Women's and Children's C. E.—The senior society, and the juniors as well, have had as good a year as they possibly could, with so new and inexperienced a mamma to work with. Betsey has been very helpful in this work, especially with the small children.

W. C. T. U. and Temperance.—We have four temperance meetings monthly, the W. C. T. U., the girls' society, the boy's Band of Hope, and the men's temperance society. I am very thankful for the temperance catechisms, pledge cards, etc. Temperance is not one of the virtues of these people, and I sometimes wonder that there is no more drunkenness in our little village.

Girls' Orphanage.—This work is a new experience to us. Just how well we are succeeding is a matter of uncertainty. Little by little I hope we shall learn how best to care for these little ones that God has entrusted to us. Some of the girls have improved this year; that is to say, they are a little less careless and naughty in general. In some the growth has been very slow, and one, whom we had hoped had repented of the past, and set her face towards righteousness, has disappointed us again. One whom I often noticed when I first came, wondering if any good could be hidden behind such a face, has surprised me by her improvement. The careless, slatternly look has given way to something decidedly pleasant and womanly. This spring Soree was married to one of our school-teachers who lives in the village. She has been a real good girl, and the man she married is one of exceptionally good report This is one more Christian home founded in a dark land. Three of the girls have been received into the church during the year. BELLE R. KENNAN.

A. L. KENNAN'S REPORT.

Boys' Orphanage.—The shadows have been rather more in evidence than the sunshine during the past year, but there have been good wide rifts in the clouds. I am not having the nightmare over those boys, but I am not sure but that the good doctor will have, as he thinks of trusting them to my hands, as he has now wholly done. Several of them had reached an age when the other boys about them begin for themselves. We wanted them to continue in the school, and nominally they wanted to. But their love for study was somewhat lacking, and they allowed little things to throw them off the track. Three of those who have left the orphanage during the year are now doing well. But four others have left us with not so good a prospect before them. The presence of two sahibs with a somewhat divided authority has not tended to peace among the older boys. And the new sahib has still much to learn about these people, their manners and customs. I am not sure but he has been at fault, partly on account of ignorance, quite as much as the boys.

Industrial Work.—This has been carried on as heretofore. An effort is soon to be made to teach some of the boys a little about printing, with a view, quite as much as anything, to develop quickness of eye and hand.

Educational Work.—This work was put into my hands by Dr. Burkholder on the first of October, and every day since then up to the present I have been thankful that there was some one at hand on whom I could clap the saddle of responsibility at frequent intervals. On the whole, the year has been a fair one so far as schools are concerned. There have been three changes in the teaching force of the training school. Two of our pundits have gone to the Bible school at Midnapore, and our single pundita went to Balasore to study kindergartening. Their places have been taken by former pupils of the school, and things move on as before. The Bible examination of the school showed a knowledge of the ground covered that would have done credit to an American school.

The cold season trip among the jungle schools revealed some of their weaknesses. They do not do as good work by any means as schools of similar grade at home. But on the other hand there is nowhere in America where there is the same amount of primary school work done for ten times the money. The American primary school has much the better timber to begin with. The central truths of the Bible, and regular, systematic teaching of temperance are given in these schools. This last is much needed among them as the British license system develops. Drunkenness is becoming more and more destructive to the race. For a good part of the year Kisun made regular trips among them, examining this department of the work. But he is now laid up with a chronic ailment, and unable to go. I am hopeful that he will be able to resume work in the near future.

One of the disappointing features of the work is that by far the greater part of our pupils continue in school for a short time only. The Santals live on the borderland not of relative but of absolute poverty. And as soon as a boy can tend goats or herd cattle or plow, the needs of his stomach seem so much more pressing than the needs of his brain and heart, that the boy drops school for work. But "who knows which shall prosper, this or that"? We must keep on the sowing here and there, leaving the watering and increase with Apollos and God.

PASTOR'S REPORT.

Having accepted the call of the Midnapore church, I came here in January, 1900. Since then I have been working here. I have been teaching in the Bible school, and have been pastor of the church. The spiritual condition of the church is tolerably good, judging from the human point of view; but its real condition is best known to God, who sees and knows all hearts. There is no disaffection, or strife, or any other special cause of sorrow at present. Some backsliders have been taken back into the church. Some of the young men are seeking Christ, and I am sure that some of them will soon join the church by baptism. Some of the church members seem to be growing in grace.

Last year I was led to speak to my brethren from the pulpit mostly about spiritual growth, and the necessity of Bible study. Some of the members, especially the young men, have given me real pleasure by attending regularly all the services, and by showing a spirit of readiness to do anything they are asked to do. There are other good workers also, who are working with the Lord for the upbuilding of the church. I count myself but the least of them.

At the beginning of this year, during the week of prayer, this impression came very strongly to my mind, that we ought not to rest satisfied in only doing something to help one another in the church, and trying to keep peace among ourselves. We should go out and tell others of Jesus and his love. I frankly acknowledge that we, the church members, feel very little of the burden and responsibility that is resting on us for the salvation of our fellow-men. May God send us an awaking and a reviving, that we may be up and doing for the ingathering of hundreds to the church. We are believing that it will come, and waiting and working for it.

SACHIDANANDA RAI.

H. E. WYMAN'S REPORT.

New Missionaries.—Mr. and Mrs. Murphy arrived during the Yearly Meeting. They have been hard at work on the language, with good results. They will soon be able to begin active work in the field. Bro. Murphy has been helpful to me in many ways, especially during the month of January in the cold season work, and in supplying at Kharagpur. He has also taught a class in English in the Bible school.

The Church.—My work in connection with the church has been very light this year, owing to the devoted labors and consecrated tact of the pastor, Bro. Sachidananda Rai.

I am glad to report a gain of one in membership, over and above the loss sustained by the death of four of our number. Among the latter were Dr. and Mrs. O. R. Bacheler, who are dear to the memory of all our older church members.

Very encouraging is a gain of one hundred and three rupees in the contributions of the native church members.

BIBLE SCHOOL.

Graduates.—Of the nine students in the school last year, three graduated in the class of 1900. Their names are Kailas Saren, Philip Baski, and Dharma Das Murmu. The first-named took the full course, while the others took the course with the exception of Sanskrit. These two labored under the disadvantage of coming into the school late in life, and without much previous training. The rank for the three years of study was as follows: Kailas Saren eighty per cent, Philip Baski eighty-six per cent, Dharma Das Murmu seventy per cent. Kailas has entered the high school this year to continue his studies, while Philip and Dharma have been engaged as preachers.

Workers Sent Out.—As Akshay Bera and Dao would be unable to profit much by taking the harder studies in the course, it was decided to let them go into the work without further study in the school. They had both worked hard in the school, but lack of previous training and lack of mental ability were hindrances to much progress. Dao has been employed as a colporteur, and Akshay is teaching a small school. Both men are of good character, and, it is hoped, will be useful in the work.

The New School Year.—We have ten students enrolled for the present year. One of these is Kakil Patra, who has come back to the school with deeper Christian experience, and, I trust, better fitted for the school life and work. There are six new students. One of them is a Bengali, two are Santals, and three are from the Oriya field. Of these, two are at present taking but a partial course in the Bible school, and making up some lack of previous training in the middle English school. The work of the school is going on smoothly and satisfactorily, and we are looking forward to a prosperous year.

Another good dormitory, costing about $300, is needed for the students. Deering Hall has been a great convenience, and added much to the pleasure of working in the school. Let readers of the Report kindly remember that this building still remains unfinished, and that about $1000 are needed to finish it properly.

OTHER WORK.

Middle English School.—This school came into my charge during the year, owing to a change with the ladies of the Woman's Board, we giving them our girls' school, and taking this in exchange. The school was not and has not been in good condition, but I have changed the teaching staff, and hope that improvement will be seen. The three Hindu teachers have been replaced by Christian young men of ability and good character.

The Press.—Want of funds for printing tracts and books, and unsuccessful competition with steam presses, have compelled us to close the press. Two of the old presses have been sold, with an outfit of type, to Randall Jena, who has been the faithful foreman for so many years. And the good presses are to be sent, one to Bhimpore and the other to Balasore, to be used in industrial training in the orphanages.

The Book Room.—A room in the principal bazar of Midnapore has been secured, and has been placed in charge of Jacob Mishra, who will sell books, distribute tracts, and look after a circulating library. We hope to use this room as a preaching place and a reading room, where Christian books and papers may be read. It promises to bring our work into close touch with the life of the town. The house rented belongs to the moulvi, or religious teacher of the Mohammedan community of Midnapore, and the room is just across the street from one of the most famous temples in Midnapore. These facts show that we are on good terms with our neighbors.

Among the Churches.— Babagadia. Separation and sickness have wrought some good in this place. The people remaining have expressed a desire to occupy a better place among our Christian communities this year. The death of two of their number has helped them to realize their condition, and to point out the path of duty. I have hopes of improvement during the coming year. They need our prayers.

Dainmari.—Bhagabat Mana is still faithful at his post. On visiting this place in February I was much pleased with his Sunday school of Hindu children. There are two young men thinking seriously of baptism in this place. One wanted to be baptized while I was there, but was prevented by his relatives.

Palasbani.—This church is still alive, and its members are all active in combating the evil influences about them. At present they are engaged in rebuilding their place of worship. There is one man in the neighborhood who desires to become a Christian.

Bhanga Mada.—This little community shines brighter than ever before, and this year gives us two students for the Bible School. One who fell away shortly after baptism has penitently returned, and promised to do better. There is promise of better things in this village.

Chandrakona.—This work has been opened not because the people of the place asked for it, but because they needed it. They are not yet well enough acquainted with Christianity to desire to send their children to a Christian school. But they listen well to the preaching, and Charles Das, who is in charge of the work there, says that there is no reason for discouragement. There must be much seed-sowing in new work before there can be a harvest. Mrs. Wyman has an item of interest to report about a man from this place.

Satbunkara.—This year has seen new work started in this place. This, like Chandrakona, is a lighthouse in a dark place. It is located twenty miles north of Midnapore, twenty miles northeast of Bhimpore, and fourteen miles from Chandrakona, and lies near the cross roads of a populous district. The new railway is to have a station at this place. A school has been started with a Christian teacher, and now numbers eighteen pupils. Khirod Das, who was obliged to remove from Chandrakona on account of ill health, has been moved to this place. He is hoping for good results in the near future. I have purchased an old schoolhouse from the village people, and a small thatched bungalow from the government. These two buildings will furnish us with all the houses we shall need for work.

Kharagpur.—Bro. Rae worked hard and unceasingly for this place, and it no doubt hastened on the ravages of the serious disease that had laid hold upon him. He was at last obliged to give up all work, and has passed peacefully to his reward. Since his illness I have been carrying on the work there every Sunday, excepting for a few Sundays when a Church of England clergyman visited the place, or Bro. Murphy relieved me. About two months ago a Church of England clergyman was sent by the Bishop of Calcutta to open work at Kharagpur. As the majority of the people then in the place preferred that church, he took possession of the field, putting his service and Sunday school for the study of the catechism at the hours of my preaching service and Mrs. Wyman's Sunday school. This was done without any notification to us. Some of the people who were not Church of England people were anxious for us to continue both the Sunday school and preaching service, and after deliberation we decided to do so. The results have justified us in so doing.

Kharagpur has a future before it. The workshops so long talked about are really coming, and there will be a large European population. It promises to be one of the largest railway settlements in India. One hundred and twenty-five blocks of houses are already under construction, and more are to be built. Already European firms are securing adjacent lands as sites for shops, and paying high rates for rent. I have applied to the railway managers for a site for a house of worship for non-conformist people. The Church of England clergymen now engaged in work in our field are High Churchmen. They have a shrine to the Virgin in their mission school. They use tobacco, and are not total abstainers.

I have been holding a Tuesday evening prayer meeting with the people, and we have all enjoyed them very much. [The work Bro. Wyman reports in this place is all in English.—ED].

Bhari Baranga.—Here is a new place for our report. It is a place fourteen miles southwest of Contai. A school-teacher from this place was baptized last November. I visited his house in January, and found that it touches back to back with an idol's temple. He has a nice little school, and has introduced the catechism and the Lord's Prayer into the school. His wife is reading the Bible, and he hopes that she will be baptized later on. He took books and tracts from me, and seemed very anxious to teach his people about Christianity, especially after my visit to his home.

Touring.—Good health throughout the year has been a great opportunity both to myself and Mrs. Wyman for greater effort in the field. I have visited all our outposts except Babagadia, and most of them several times. I was able to be out six weeks during the months of January and February, during which time I traveled two hundred miles, mostly within the Contai subdivision. During the six weeks Brother Murphy, Mrs. Wyman, and Dr. Kennan were with me by turns. Bro. Murphy repaired and set to work our magic lantern, and the work of preaching went on every day and evening when we were not on the march. A careful estimate gives the number of people preached to as 15,000. Amrit Mahity and Samuel Das were the Bengali preachers with us. Samuel Das got so worn by the work that he went home very ill, and had doubts of his recovery. But I am glad to say that he is faithfully at his post in the Bible school at present.

Tracts and Books.—We gave away several thousand tracts, and could have given more if we had had them. We took along a lot of damaged books, and sold them at a little below the usual price. We sold 1500 books at a half a pice each.

Contai.—Our visit to Contai was very interesting, and I was sorry to come away. One interesting young man declared that he should surely become a Christian, and that his mind had been made up ever since he first heard about Christianity from Mr. Hallam. There were other young men in the high school there that my heart yearned after. They assured me that if I would come there and live, they would become Christians. Bro. Murphy made some friends among the students by patiently talking English with them.

Seekers.—At present there are three young men in Midnapore who are looking forward to baptism. On the whole, I think this has been the best and brightest year I have yet seen in India.

H. E. WYMAN.

MRS. WYMAN'S REPORT.

The Bible Women.—I am very glad to report that the Bible women have been out a long time in the cold season work this year. They began in December, and have kept out most of the time until the first of April. I have been out with them twice, and found the work very interesting, and the workers much in earnest. We spent a little time in a Christian village, Bhanga Mada teaching the women there, and working among the outside people. The people were eager to hear our teaching, and they were anxious to have us come again. One woman invited us to her house, and after hearing our teaching said: "We are Catholics. But there is no priest that comes here now, and we have no religion. Your words seem very sweet, and I wish you would come often and talk to us."

Paras, the Bible woman of Babagadia, removed to Salgardia, the new Christian village seven miles west of Santipore, and she has begun work there with a helper, and I hear very good reports from her. Chandra Lila, Raimoni, and Ellen were out to Satbankara during the month of March, and they found the work very interesting and the people ready to listen. While preaching in the bazar one evening, a Brahman pilgrim became interested in their talk, and afterwards went to the house to hear more about the new religion. Chandra Lila became interested in him at once, and she being a Brahman by birth could expose the faults of his religion. The next day he came again and wanted to hear more. After a time he said, "Yes, this is true. I believe this." A few days later he came to Midnapore, and Chandra Lila has been caring for him, as he had been ill with fever. He has been a pilgrim for six years, and has visited many of the shrines.

We spent over a week in a raja's domains during a great festival, and the work there was varied. We preached in the market-places and visited from house to house in the villages, and also worked with the people who gathered about our door. We showed the pictures of the life of Christ in the raja's own house, and his wife and daughter-in-law came to listen and were very much interested. We were entertained in a royal way, and everything furnished for us that was necessary.

Kindergarten.—I have been planning for the kindergarten for two years, but was unable to begin it until the middle of March. The children have been anticipating this for some time, and have been eagerly waiting for it to begin. There are thirty-five children, all under ten years of age, and all of Christian parentage. They are delighted to come, and are very disappointed if kept at home on account of illness.

One item of interest is that I have been able to get all the supplies for the kindergarten in this country. The government has ordered kindergartens to be opened in all its own and all grant-in-aid schools, and in order to do this, the supplies must be forthcoming. A number of English firms in Calcutta are keeping these supplies in stock. I have found them of a cheaper quality than supplies from America, but they answer the purpose just as well, being made for the kindergarten in India. The benches were made here in the bazar, and the stools were made here in the Midnapore jail, both being what is needed for the children in this country.

A little over a year ago I sent Temi, a bright young woman, to Balasore to learn in Miss Hattie Phillips's kindergarten; and after a year she has come back ready to begin work. Mrs. Murphy is spending an hour every morning with a class of the smaller children, and is helping to train a new teacher in the art of kindergartening, while she is hard at work in the Bengali language. I hope that the readers of this will pray that the kindergarten may be the means of bringing the little ones to Christ. A few small pictures for decorating the walls would be acceptable if any one can send them.

Kharagpur Sunday School.—I had helped Miss Coombs in this work for some time, but not until September did she give the work into my charge. I found the work intensely interesting, as a work of this kind among little children should be. The school had thirty-five children, and everything was going on smoothly until the first of March, when the Church of England clergyman came and wanted to take every child from the Sunday school. This he was not able to do, for all the children did not belong to parents of that church. It has settled itself in this way, that I have eighteen children, and he has the remainder.

The children are very regular in attendance, and are anxiously awaiting the half yearly examination that comes in July. I have used the International Sunday School Lessons for the older children, and the lesson cards for the younger ones. I should be very glad if any could send out pretty cards with Bible verses, as I try to have them learn Bible verses to repeat every Sunday. G. M. WYMAN.

REPORT OF MISS COOMBS.

Zenana Work.—Vacation days, preparation for and enjoyment of Yearly Meeting, getting ready for and passing Christmas and New Year's, and itinerating in the cold season, have taken so much time this year that zenana work has seemed more of a side issue than my principal work; and I have felt most of the time that I was trying to "catch up" rather than giving it its proper time and attention.

There have been one hundred and sixty on the roll, but not all at one time. The average steady attendance has been nearly one hundred. When the zenana pupil was baptized last year, I expected to lose several in that neighborhood. But only one stopped, and she has begun reading again within a few months. Three have died and there has been the inevitable transferring to other stations, besides the going of some to live at their husband's home, but through all the changes the work goes steadily on.

The zenana school keeps its numbers well up, in spite of the marriages last year of four of the larger pupils. New ones come in, and we hope to keep these later ones till they pass the lower examination. The old woman who so determinedly learned to read last year has been sick nigh unto death. But when I called on her not long ago, she said she wanted to begin again, though she feared she had forgotten a great deal. I asked her if she had forgotten what she had learned in the little book (Catechism), and she said, "It will all come back as you tell it."

One woman who began to read secretly, and did not want her neighbors to know it, now openly takes her lesson with her neighbors standing round. An old man died near her house having no one to perform the last rites, and no one would do anything. This woman called the proper persons, and paid them for taking care of the body. Her teacher said she would not have done that before.

A carpenter who, at one time, was almost persuaded to be a Christian, but met great opposition at his home, now that his daughter is married has her taught in her husband's home. A young man who used to be a boy in our industrial school has lately lost his father, which leaves him the head of the house; and now he wants his young wife taught.

The Hindu girls' school supported by the municipality has sewing as one of the things to be taught; but they have been very dissatisfied with its results, and have applied for one of our Christian zenana teachers for this department.

Itinerating.—I have been able to do much more itinerating the past cold season than formerly. The first trip in December was among the bretheren "scattered abroad," the farthest living about twenty-five miles away, and the nearest eight. There were nine houses in all, and the people greatly enjoyed the Bible readings and prayers together with us. I had one Bible woman with me, and we found opportunity also to give a message to those "sitting in darkness."

Two other trips were made to places where new work has been opened, and Christian preachers located in Hindu villages. I had two Bible women with me on each of these trips, and we worked in the bazars of these and surrounding villages, stopping at night and through the heat of the day at the homes of the preachers. These were twenty and twenty-eight miles respectively from Midnapore, and in different directions.

Another trip was made in company with Mr. and Mrs. Wyman, two preachers, and three Bible women, and we were all housed and made comfortable by the raja by whose invitation we visited the place. It was at the time of a jatra, which is a kind of a religious fair, with a company of singers and players on instruments as the central attraction. These sing the praises of their gods and goddesses in long recitations and with much repetition. Venders of wares of all sorts are on the grounds, and crowds come to buy and sell, to hear and see. This made an excellent opportunity for preaching, and we were allowed to preach and sing and explain, show pictures, sell books, and distribute tracts, wherever and whenever we could. Indeed, we formed one of the well-patronized side-shows of the fair, though the Bible-women, Mrs. Wyman, and I stopped at the jatra only a few times, as we preferred to talk in a more quiet way with the few we could find at home in that and surrounding villages. This was about forty miles south of Midnapore, and we were there a week.

In all these trips we found ready listeners, and several promising and interesting cases of evident seekers for truth. Many books were sold, and hundreds of tracts were given away, parts of which may have been as the seed by the wayside or in stony places. But some of it will find the good ground, and there must be fruit.

Work at Home.—The work for the Christian community and church comes in when it can best be arranged for. The women and girls' C. E. have made one meeting a month into a kind of sewing circle, and the work for that must be prepared. They also take sewing home, and the proceeds of the sales of these garments go to support one of the famine orphans who have been taken into the Sinclair Orphanage. They also pay part of the salary of one of the Bible women.

The native W. C. T. U. has kept up its regular meetings, and sent a contribution to help pay the debt on the White Ribbon, the organ of the national W. C. T. U. The Band of Hope has its weekly meetings, attended with considerable regularity and interest. A correspondence with the Junior C. E. Society at Milton Mills, N. H., has been a source of great interest to them. This means more or less translating of letters.

Sunday School.—The Sabbath school has not kept up its usual average attendance the past year, though the general interest has been good. Nineteen pupils took the examination on the lessons for the first six months of the year, which is taken all over India, and thirteen passed. The illuminated certificates received are greatly appreciated.

Workers' Bible Class.—The women workers' Bible class meets every Saturday afternoon to study the course taken throughout the mission. A yearly examination has given the prize so many times to one of the Midnapore zenana teachers that it has been decided to have a second prize for the winner of the next lower number.

L. C. COOMBS.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY.

Our Young People's Society numbers twenty-one members. Up to the present it has been made up of members of both sexes. It has continued its meetings, though with decreased numbers, throughout the year. Five committees were appointed—prayer meeting, Sunday-school, lookout, social, and missionary and temperance committees. Except the Sunday-school committee, which keeps up regular Sunday schools in the bazar, very little work is done by the committees. May God be with this society, and enable each member of it to preach both by word and by life, and bring many into the fold of the Shepherd of souls. Pray for us.

MR. H. R. MURPHY'S REPORT.

We have now been in India but five months. Our principal business is with the language, to which we try to give six hours a day. About one month was spent in cold-season work, in company with Mr. Wyman. I now have an English class in the Bible School, which takes from one to two hours a day. Mrs. Murphy has begun kindergarten work, to which she devotes one hour a day, finding it after all the most practical way of getting the language. This, together with what little assistance we can give here and there, constitutes our work for the present.

H. R. MURPHY.

MRS. MURPHY'S REPORT.

After five short months in India, we would report good and not evil concerning the land whereunto we have been sent. Here also the divine command, "Only be thou strong and very courageous," is needed.

As to an actual report, it is one of receiving, rather than one of giving or doing. Good health, kind friends, and pleasure in pleasant work—that of language study.

Kindergarten Prospects.—On our arrival we found plans already in progress for a kindergarten. With the help of a native teacher, who has had one year of training with Miss Phillips, our Midnapore kindergarten began last month, and I am now giving one hour a day to this work. I find the children interesting and lovable, and willing to learn. We hope for large results in the future from this department, that through its influences many hearts and homes may be won for Christ.

EMMA G. MURPHY.

REPORT OF MISS BUTTS.

Ragged Schools.—The term "Ragged Schools" as applied to the lower primary schools in Midnapore and the country villages has become a misnomer, and will hereafter be omitted in reporting these schools. Fifteen schools have been kept up during the year, and only four of them are supported entirely by mission funds. In several schools, small fees, varying from two to eight cents a month, are paid by most of the pupils. In the country the leading men of the village usually agree to pay the teacher a specified sum monthly, and in addition to board him, or give him a certain amount of rice, etc., which he cooks for himself. The aid from the mission supplements this meager income. With the exception of the teacher of one of the girls' schools, no teacher receives more than six rupees ($2.00) a month from the mission, and five Hindu teachers receive but three rupees ($1.00) a month from mission funds. They generally get about three rupees more from the villagers besides their board. One receives the surprisingly large sum of nine rupees and his board, which, with the three rupees from the mission, gives him four dollars a month and board. But this man can teach the upper primary and middle vernacular grades, and knows considerable English.

Girls' schools cost the mission much more per capita than do boys' schools, because almost the entire expense must be borne by us. People of the middle and lower castes, and, indeed, most of the higher and educated classes as well, are still too indifferent regarding the education of their daughters to care to spend any money for the purpose.

About 380 pupils have been in attendance during the year, one-fourth of them being girls. Nineteen passed the last lower primary examination. Three girls took the examination and one passed. The little girls are married so young that it is seldom one remains in school long enough to be prepared for even the lowest examination. Consequently I was much pleased at the success of this girl. She intends to try for the next higher examination.

The only condition on which aid is given to these schools is that the Catechism and temperance lessons shall be taught in every school, selected passages of Scripture committed to memory, and the Christian inspector and myself be free to give all the religious instruction we please whenever we visit the school. In some of the villages a marked change has taken place in the attitude of the parents towards the Christian teaching. Many of the people are so superstitious that at first they feared the mere handling of Christian books or the memorizing of their contents might, by some occult means, bewitch their children, and compel them to become Christians. For this reason some parents refused to allow their boys to come to the school. Gradually, however, they have become convined that no magical arts will be employed to make Christians of their children, and they are not afraid of moral forces. They care little what their children believe or disbelieve, so long as they conform outwardly to the established customs.

Whenever I visit these schools the men come and listen attentively to all that is said, often asking very intelligent questions. At such times many tracts and leaflets are given away. They frequently ask, "Have you anything printed which tells more about what you have been saying?"

During the year two teachers have died, Sara, the Christian teacher of the Patna bazar girls' school, and a Hindu teacher. One of the older girls from our Christian girls' school is taking Sara's place.

On New Year's Day nine schools came to the mission compound for the usual Christmas exercises and gift distribution. Each school took part in singing, recitation, answering questions from the Catechism, etc. An English lady present expressed surprise that the Hindu children were allowed to memorize so much Scripture. Some of the Hindu teachers take great interest in preparing their pupils for this occasion. "The entrance of Thy word giveth light." May we not confidently hope that some of these boys and girls may be led into the true light?

Other Work.—Since the first of last July I have been in charge of the Christian village girls' school, but have not been able to give it the constant personal attention it requires. A well-educated Christian woman of experience is needed for the head teacher of this school, a woman like Rachel Das, now Mrs. Bose. But such women are still rare among Bengali Christians, and consequently command a higher salary than men of equal educational attainments.

When the Bible school was in session I taught a class of young men in English, and had a Bible class for the wives of the married students. Some of these women showed an encouraging desire for improvement, but one young Santal woman was a great trial. She had evidently become a Christian in name simply because her husband urged her; but she was without the least desire to learn anything about true Christianity. It was only after much persuasion that she was induced to come to the class. In my presence she always seemed docile and quiet, but the other women said she made her husband very uncomfortable with her outbursts of temper. He had always been lame, and she scorned him for that. One day she attempted to commit suicide, in order to frighten her husband into letting her do as she wished. Finally, during the cold season vacation, she ran away with another man, and has not been heard from since.

Every organ we build we warrant perfect and up to the highest standard of organ-building art in tone, material, and workmanship. Purchasers have to rely on the integrity of the builder and his reputation. Hence the reputation of a builder has real value.

We command higher prices because we have won a high reputation. The difference is for the higher grade which our reputation assures; yet small compared with the superior finish and voicing.

There is immeasurable difference between a commonplace organ mechanically treated and one of artistic conception and execution.

Mechanical pneumatic, tubular pneumatic, and electro pneumatic action. The last by our patented system is used only by ourselves and fully guaranteed.

Nearly 2000 organs in churches, etc., all over the country, have made our work known and recognized as pre-eminently the best.

Organs in many Presbyterian Churches in every State.

Circulars and information connected with our art promptly furnished.
