REPORT OF THE CORRESPONDING SECRETARY.

Foreign Missions.—India.—During the year 1907-1908, after eight and one-half years of service, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Kennan have returned to America for a well-earned rest, while Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Murphy have moved to Bhimpore to occupy the place made vacant, though still maintaining supervision of Contai, which, though eighty miles from Bhimpore, they regularly visit. Mrs. Murphy often takes this trip alone, staying several weeks at a time. Mr. and Mrs. John Oxreider, on account of Mrs. Oxreider's precarious health, went to the hills during the heated term, and Mr. and Mrs. Coldren for three months supplied at Kharagpur. Doctor Shirley Smith, now Mrs. Thompson, was married this year and has permanently left our field. Miss Butts, after two years' furlough, left America for India in October by way of San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Z. F. Griffin and Mr. and Mrs. Murphy are due to come home next spring. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin permanently on account of loss of health. Mr. and Mrs. Lougher have been compelled, on account of sickness of Mrs. Lougher's mother, to indefinitely postpone their return to India. Mr. and Mrs. Kennan are preparing to return next autumn and will be accompanied by Miss Amy Coe, of Madison, Connecticut, and Miss Sadie Gowan, of Detroit, Maine, missionaries elect, the former of whom is taking normal lessons in New York city and the latter kindergarten course in Herkimer New York. Thus Contai and Santipore will be practically abandoned and Bhimpore will be left for four months until the return of Mr. and Mrs. Kennan. Two missionaries and their wives are imperatively needed for Contai and Santipore. They should be on the ground at this time getting the language and learning all possible before the others come home.

Famine and cholera have made fearful ravages upon our field during the year, but a bountiful rice crop is promised.

National unrest and discontent, and hatred of foreigners is gaining headway daily. Instances of violence and bloodshed are reported, and trouble undoubtedly lies ahead for the British government and possibly for the foreign missionaries also. Diligence should be doubled on the part of the home churches in pouring the gospel over India before the storm breaks.

The material and spiritual results of our India mission field compare most favorably with those on any mission field in India, and are enough to inspire and quicken the pulse of the most indifferent and lukewarm. No other enterprise, material or otherwise, has begun to pay such dividends. The sacrifice of lives, money and effort on our foreign field for seventy-one years has been none too great nor precious if we compare them with the results obtained. Out of such sacrifice have come organized evangelistic work, strong churches nearing self-support, Sunday schools, educational institutions, dispensaries, orphanages, native teachers, preachers and evangelists, substantial buildings and immeasurable influence with the natives and confidence of the government. It may not be generally known that we have a force of over 300 persons giving all their time to spreading the gospel message and telling the old, old story—it is a busy place. This has been the greatest year in our history. It has been a year of building and solid growth and evangelistic success; many have been added by baptism, thousands of books have been sold and tracts given away and hundreds are eagerly inquiring the way of salvation. We are overwhelmed by our success, and as never before the realization of our business and covenant obligation to sustain this enterprise comes home to our bosoms.

But 10,000 members, contained in 550 churches—actual count—are supporting our foreign missions, while between 60,000 and 70,000 of our members are literally giving not one cent. We are in desperate need of money and missionaries to do the work crowding upon us and to enter the doors opening to us on our fields.

One cent a day for missions on an average for every church member in every church, is the one plan we are pushing night and day. Our church was never more honored or favored than it is in these days when it is entrusted with the commission to give the gospel to this anxious people who are now begging for it. The conviction grows among the nations that Christ's religion is the next great religion to become universally accepted in India. Blessed omen. Let us hasten its realization.

Africa—Regular letters are now coming to us from Mr. Clinton. There was a time when we could hear nothing, owing to continued and systematic robbery of the postoffice on the African coast through which Mr. Clinton's letters passed. From his letters there is every evidence that he is devoted, efficient and worthy to lead out in the pioneer work he has undertaken in that dark country.

There should be some sensible woman found who can teach, mother and care for the young girls in his mission. See report of Mr. Clinton's work further on, following India report.

NOTE.—Since writing the above we learn that Mr. Coldren goes to Khar-agpur and Mr. Collet to Santipore and Mr. Oxrieder to Bhimpore.

REPORTS FROM THE HOME FIELD.

Maine State Mission Work—Rev. S. C. Whitcomb, State Agent. A year of gain in the Maine work. A net gain in membership of 200, but not so large as the year before. The evangelistic impulse is still felt among us and the definite aim of the churches in their plans is to a gratifying degree the winning of souls. In the northern part of the state our churches in practically every village have much grown in strength and numbers. In some of the older portions where population has declined we have to record the extinction of some small churches, but such loss is more than made good by gains elsewhere. Though a panic year, our finances are in good condition because of $2,000 raised at the annual meeting. Two field workers have been employed all the time. Men's class movement and other special agencies have much helped the Sunday school work.

New Hampshire—Rev. Edwin B. Stiles, State Agent. The state agent has been busy with a multitude of things, from supplying for an absent pastor to conducting a three weeks' series of meetings; from the rededication of a church to address a session of the Yearly Meeting. During the year ending May 30, 1908, I have been engaged in evangelistic work for 123 days in ten churches. Have spoken 250 times on a great variety of occasions. The year has been one of activity in evangelistic effort. Twenty-three of the churches have had special services, and, as near as I can get at the figures. more than 350 have made a start in the Christian life. I do not know just how many have united with the churches. The churches are better supplied with pastors than for a long time and the outlook for the coming year is good. Some of the churches have already entered upon the fall campaign of evangelism and souls are being saved.

Central Association—Rev. L. H. Sprague, Superintendent. The Home Mission work, among the churches of the Central Association of New York and Pennsylvania, has been carried along on two lines for the past year—that of helping needy fields in securing pastors and supporting them after they were settled, and sending evangelists to build up needy interests and strengthen those that were discouraged and ready to give up the struggle for an existence. In carrying out this policy the association expended over eight hundred dollars, besides supporting a superintendent, who gave all of his time to the work of the Association. Of the churches composing this Association more than one-third must have financial aid or go out of existence. The Association has supplied, and still is trying to supply this need, but it is beyond her power to do all that must be done if these churches are made strong and useful.

Ohio Free Will Baptist Association—Rev. John Wynn, Missionary. Is incorporated and composed of five yearly meetings. A missionary is kept in the field under direction of the executive committee. The battle cry is, "Our home work must prosper or our foreign work will perish." The work is carried on as follows: We make a specialty of revival meetings at all times of the year, preaching the gospel and baptizing, addressing Sunday schools and emphasizing class organization, organizing mission societies, representing our foreign mission work and urging the young to attend college. To assist in raising money to build new churches and parsonages and for repairs and furnishings; securing property to the denomination. In short, instructing and inspiring our people in all lines of church work.

Central Illinois Y. M.—Rev. G. A. Gordon, State Agent. The home mission work of our Y. M. is conducted by the State Agent, or directed by the assistance of a Home Mission Board of five members, the agent having a general oversight of the work, and one or more evangelists employed to carry out the plans. This year we have a Y. M. evangelist in the field. also two Q. M. evangelists, who assist in helping needy churches with revival services, and occupy new fields when so directed, no churches to be organized without the consent or with the advice of the Y. or Q. Ms. Pastors also aid in this branch of work, helping when they can leave their church work. Licentiates contribute considerable to the success of this line of work. Our evangelists are required to collect their salaries on the field. Of the five new churches organized the past year, most of them were the results of this kind of effort. Thus there was added to our numerical strength the past year, assisted by pastors, 436 persons by baptism and 287 otherwise, or a total of 723 for the year.

Michigan Association—State Agent G. W. Myers. Through the efforts of Brother Tolley the old Hamilton Church in the old Midland Quarterly Meeting has been revived and reorganized. Also in the same Quarterly Meeting a new Church, known as Fruit Farm, has been formed, and Rev. O. B. Anstead secured as pastor. From this place Brother Anstead goes out to communities in the new country that are much in need of the gospel. Here are great opportunities of preaching and organizing new work. In the Holton and White River Quarterly Meeting we have assisted Rev. N. Shaft financially at the Goodwell Church—one year old—so that he has been able to do some preaching for the other churches. In the Sanilac Quarterly Meeting the Pigeon River and Oliver Churches, which had become much discouraged because long without services. have been helped to quite regular preaching and new life.

Cairo Mission: Prof. Jared Arter resigned as president of Manning School to accept the presidency of W. Virginia Theological Seminary and Prof. T. W. Lott, his former assistant was temporarily chosen to fill his place. Prof. Lott is an excellent instructor with years of experience and is well liked by his students. There is the usual attendance and while Prof. Arter's resignation was regretted it caused no interruption nor decrease in the attendance. The institute held in March was large and enthusiastic. The evolution of the Cairo Mission is noticeable in that we have better church buildings, better and wiser pastors, a growing race pride and the colored people are accumulating more property and seem more prosperous.

Nebraska and Northern Kansas Yearly Meetings—Rev. John H. Wolfe, Field Superintendent. Our work in the Nebraska and Northern Kansas Yearly Meetings is moving forward. Our efforts this year have been evangelistic, reaching out after the unsaved, thus bringing new blood into our churches. Success has crowned the efforts. Rev. Wilmetta Marks has conducted most of the revivals. She has held two with the Summit church of Kansas, adding more than 100 to the membership. Her revival at the Hickory Grove church of Kansas resulted in about 90 conversions, and the church has called Rev. A. S. Reeves back as pastor. . Bright are the prospects here. At the present writing Sister Marks is in a revival meeting at Denton, Kansas, with 25 converts up to date.

Sister Marks also held a series of meetings with the Kenesaw, Nebraska, church, adding much new strength to the church, and they have called Rev. H. M. Burns, of Illinois, to be their pastor. This will mean much for Kenesaw.

The new pastors coming into the fields will mean much to the two Yearly Meetings, as we were short for pastors. This settles several perplexing problems that have confronted us for some time. Never in the history of the two Yearly Meetings has there been a time when the prospects for Free Baptists were brighter, more solid work being done, better plans, and a closer harmony. This year closed my ten years as chairman of the Nebraska Board, accepting the Field Superintendency for the Nebraska and Northern Kansas Yearly Meetings again. During these ten years I have traveled by rail 11,000 miles and by wagon and otherwise 8,000, and have written over 7,000 letters in the interest of the work. We are glad to report progress, unity, and a deep revival spirit. To answer these many calls for work in these new places and to sustain the work already started, will need more money and more workers.

Wisconsin Yearly Meeting. Rev. G. C. Alborn, Clerk. The forward movement in Wisconsin, while not at as full flood as two years ago, is not dead. Progress is being made, and churches hitherto untouched by the movement are coming into line. The last report of the Home Mission Board shows $350 appropriated from our interest fund to help weak churches support pastors. Also $102 has been used to assist churches in securing evangelistic services. As a result of the three series of meetings thus held, 24 souls are reported saved. The president of the board has also held meetings at Lawrence, with several baptisms as the result.

While the board has not employed a traveling secretary for the past year, still the secretary has done some traveling, in looking after our mission work. Our Northland Branch Q. M. is again supplied with a pastor, and looks hopefully forward.

The latest reports show 112 added during the year ending June, 1908. Since that date about fifty baptisms have been reported. A new policy, putting the Home Mission work on the same basis as the Foreign, was adopted at Y. M.. and is expected to give a new impetus to the work.

STORER COLLEGE.

By Pres. Henry T. McDonald.

This center of Home Mission activity has ever been near the hearts of Free Baptists. The work begun in prayer and self-denial has always been administered and performed as unto Him. Forty-one years have tested its efficiency and it has not been found wanting in aim or achievement. The church organizations which have grown up as a result of and scattered from this place have passed through many vicissitudes. But as a whole it may be said that our churches in the Shenandoah Valley are as efficient as ever in their ministry and leadership.

During the past decade we have not had a teacher of the Bible at the college whose whole thought and effort should be given to religious instruction and council and so our work in adjacent towns has not assumed the proportions it might, had conditions been otherwise. But the work at the school has gone on. We have had such a weight of pressure brought upon us by the rapid and improved conditions which the educational evolution of this part of the South has experienced, that we have steadily enlarged the extent of courses and enriched their content. And while we have done what we could, we have only done a part of what should have been done. Today the equipment of the school, while inadequate, is the best it has ever been; the normal classes are larger than usual and the tide of popular good feeling toward the institution was never stronger. The sacrifices of the North are coming to be better interpreted by the South and the unshaken fidelity of Storer to the ideals of its founders is a marked feature of our general reputation.

The leavening influences which have radiated from Storer have moved widely and wherever the son or daughter of this school is found, there is found one whose life is wholesome and respected.

Free Baptists in contributing to this work are helping to solve the great problem presented by uneducated American citizens. It is a patriotic service performed without thought of personal gain or reward. And so it is most noble in spirit.

The school, which is the beacon light for thousands of struggling. anxious souls looking upward out of the dark, is growing in efficiency. All the room we have is in demand. Six years ago nearly the whole of the first floor of Anthony Memorial Hall was used as a home for teachers. Now the entire building is given up to regular school work, and we lack room.

One of the most satisfying things to be remembered in connection with this work is that as our needs have arisen there has in due time appeared the means for supplying them. And in this connection it is proper for me to call attention to what seems the most pressing requirements of the school.

In order that our work may be more firmly established, we need to add $100,000 to our endowment. Dear friends, what better investment can be made than that which is made in men and women. A missionary institution can scarcely hope to draw very heavy financial support from its local constituency or from its sons and daughters, and so it is forced to look to its friends and appeal to them. Will you not think about this matter?

Our room for giving the courses in Domestic Science is wholly inadequate. Our general dining room is very greatly over-crowded. We really need at once a new hall in which the work in cookery, sewing. dressmaking and related arts, such as millinery, shall be given. In this building should be the demonstrating kitchen and diningroom as well as the school diningroom. Such a building could be erected for from $12,000 to $15.000. These courses here are rapidly growing in popularity and there is sure to be an increasing demand for this sort of instruction. Water is a sore need. My belief is that when we have it we must install it ourselves. Five thousand dollars will make it possible for us to be physically wholesome.

Finally, I am inclined to think that a regular teacher of the Bible who shall have had thorough preparation of head and heart, is almost our most pressing need. In the supplying of all these things I know that He will lead us all to give as we have been prospered and thus make possible the larger life and usefulness of this center of Home Mission effort.

MINNESOTA HOME MISSIONS.

By Chairman Home Mission Board.

The Hennepin and St. Croix Quarterly Meeting is composed of five churches. Mrs. M. J. Jewett at Diamond Bluff has twenty girls doing industrial work and twenty on the cradle roll. The Beldenville church has been repaired within the past year, the Home Mission Board contributing $50, and owns the property.

Rev. Mr. Markham, formerly a pastor of a Baptist church in Minneapolis, is pastor of our church at Champlin.

Rev. Mr. Howell, coming from another denomination, is now pastor of Nashville church, and additions are reported.

Brother Bolton is on his fifth year at Mapleton, with an increasing membership.

The College church at Winnebago, under G. W. Stansbury, has added over forty members the past year.

Minneapolis church, under the leadership of Rev. Benjamin Franklin, is gaining ground. Conversions and other evidences of growth are reported. The Minneapolis church is united in preaching service with the Central Baptist church of the same city, Rev. Mr. Franklin being the pastor. This is an interesting experiment and much success is anticipated.

The Valley Springs church, South Dakota, and the Congregational church are united in service.

A few remaining members of the Sioux Falls church have united with the Baptist church of that place, and the church property is in the hands of the Home Mission Board.

The Winona and Houston Quarterly Meeting is being looked after by M. L. Dewey and Curtis Marston, a favorable report having been received. The Winona church seems to be prosperous, and a deep spiritual life is obtaining. Brother Dewey is repairing the Pickwick church that was destroyed by a cyclone in the summer of 1907. Much of the country around the church was devastated, thus making the rebuilding doubly hard. The Home Mission Board is putting $200 into the work of the Winona and Houston Quarterly Meeting this year, and the Pickwick church has been deeded to the Yearly Meeting Board.

In the Winnebago Quarterly Meeting all the churches have efficient pastors, and good reports are coming in from their work.

Most of our churches contribute quite liberally for missions, but our churches being somewhat scattered, they require more grace and perseverance in carrying forward work. People in the East can scarcely appreciate our situation. We need both men and money to push the work, otherwise our growth must necessarily be slow. Brethren, pray for us.

Report of the American Free Baptist Mission

FOREWORD.

If it were possible to transfer to the minds of the readers of this report, the local coloring which attaches to all parts of it for those on the field, we might hope for an interested audience. As it is only a few who have the local coloring in mind, we must be content to hope that the following pages will help a little to dissipate the haze that lies over all things Indian, for most people in America.

But no bird's-eye view like this can do more than reveal the outlines of the landscape, with here and there a hill or a valley, a rill, which may develop into a river, or an oasis in the desert. No heaven-kissing peaks, or majestic ranges will be revealed herein. Only the brief outlines of common work, done by common people, living in conditions common in India, meet the view. Yet he who knows the value of common things, and the trick they have of transmuting themselves into the gold of heaven to humble believers, will not despise these pages.

It has been a hard year for India. Pestilence and famine have caused death to enlarge its maw even more than usual, and many a wreck waits but little longer to fall therein. All of our little part of the field has felt the weight of sorrow that these afflictions bring. Discontent, restlessness, sedition, political murder, and the ways and crimes of the anarchist, are abroad in the land. The ruler of this province is a Christian Scotchman, generous and kindly. Yet an attempt was made to wreck a train on which he was traveling near Kharagpur. And Midnapore furnished a misguided young man, who killed two innocent women with a bomb in an attempt to kill an unpopular judge. Even the life of the Viceroy has been in danger. And the end is not yet.

In our own little mission circles, ill health has made life a burden to more of our number than usual. And our brethren of the church have also suffered much from want and disease. Yet, in spite of all the adverse conditions, without and within, the prospect has constantly grown brighter. There has been a spirit of inquiry among the Hindus such as we have not known before. Baptisms from among them have been more numerous than usual, and more are coming. And best of all, the Lord's people here are beginning to realize their duty and opportunity towards their neighbors. More than one convert is the result of their growing zeal. These are among the things that the following pages will hardly reveal, but they look large to those who are on the spot.

One thought has often been in my mind this past year. "The children are come to birth, and there is not strength to bring them forth". There are scores, hundreds perhaps thousands, who have come near the kingdom, some of them very near. Just a little more prayer, or a little more effort, it seems, would bring them in. But the church is weak; we are weak. Possibly there is weakness in the prayers of those who "hold the ropes". So I beg that you will read this little report with prayer often, as you turn its pages, and specially for those who lack courage to dare all for Christ.

As to our numbers, three have left us during the year, and four more are due to leave in six months later. Perhaps others may have to go. We know only two to fill the places, where we need at least a dozen. This does not daunt us, for the work is our Father's. But what does it mean to you, dear friend? And what does the empty treasury say, when you are seeking closer fellowship with Jesus who gave his all for men?

REPORT OF GEO. W. HAMLEN.

If one have good helpers, the burden may still be heavy, but it will seem lighter. Such is my happy lot in writing this report. Almost all the work has been so well reported by others that I need not write much.

THE CHURCH.

As will be seen from the pastor's report, the church is in a hopeful condition of growth. The things about it that give me more joy than others, is the wider vision that is coming to some, of the duty of the church in the salvation of India. And this wider vision is leading to increased prayer and effort to spread the kingdom. Volunteers have gone to the surrounding villages, and have assisted in preaching in the bazaar, more than I have ever known here before.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

This has been the best year for the Sunday School of this church that I have ever seen. The average attendance has been above two hundred, and the teachers have shown more interest, and done better work than before. And we look for still better things.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The lightening of other burdens has allowed me to give more time to the high school. More time was needed, and it would be a blessing if one man could give all his time to it. It has grown in numbers, much to our surprise, for we supposed that the hard times would keep many away. But our fees are low, which may account for the increase. Anyhow, we are glad to have an opportunity to plant Christian truth in the hearts and lives of so many boys and young men.

Only two members of the present teaching staff were here when I returned. The first year I had some special classes for the teachers, but most of those whom I tried to help are gone. Such sweeping changes do not make for efficiency, but we are not discouraged. I hope that the next year will see improvement in all directions.

The lack of conversions may seem to show that we are not making the progress that we ought to make. And it is a sorrow to us that none of our pupils confessed Christ openly. Yet the changes in the lives of many of them and the adoption of many of the principles of Jesus in their lives, all testify to the spread of the power of his kingdom.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

This is a branch of our work for which the only expense to our treasury is the small share of my time that it takes, and the cost of supporting two or three boys who are learning in it. Many of our orphan boys are pupils in it, but we would have to support them anyhow, and this school gives us the means to train them for useful trades. It is supported, so far, by the District Board, which is a department of Government.

Recently Mr. Heaton who is at the head of industrial education in Bengal was here, to inspect the school, at the request of the authorities. He expressed himself as being much pleased with what he had found, and made a very favorable report. We hope for increased aid in due time as the result of his visit.

The young man in charge of this school, Rajanie Fullonton, is one of the former teachers of the high school. He is the right man in the right place, and is a comfort and help in many ways. He takes deep interest in the school and its pupils, and carries most of its burdens very cheerfully. But for him I hardly see what we could do. It is such a comfort to have a man about who can always be trusted, and who wants to see things improve.

The teacher of shoe-making is a man from the Baptist Telugu mission, and has proved to be not only a good teacher, but a missionary as well. One of his pupils was baptized recently, and we hope for others from the same village.

SERAMPORE COLLEGE

It was my privilege to attend a conference in Calcutta and Serampore, in March, to consider the reorganization or Serampore College, with a view to making it the center of higher Christian education in India. This College was established by Carey and his associates. Their aim was statesmanlike. The conference was composed of representatives of the various Baptist bodies working in India, to meet with whom was a treat in itself. Plans were laid and measures proposed, which, if carried out in the spirit that characterized that conference, will mean much for the future of Christian education in India, especially theological education.

"Thy Kingdom Come". Praise the King for the manifold signs of its advent in India.

REPORT OF THE PASTOR, NATOBAR SINGH.

By the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ I was appointed to the Balasore Church in November, 1906. When I was first invited to take up this work, I felt myself so unworthy that I was afraid, and began to pray to the Lord. After some days of this, our gracious Lord sent one of his servants to teach me about the work, and asking the Lord's assistance, I began to learn to do the work.

A short time after this some revival meetings were begun at Santipore in our mission. I went there, and the Lord graciously renewed my heart; and I returned to my place full of the power that Jesus gives and testified to his wonderful work in me. Especially did I begin to pray constantly that my brethren and sisters might experience that marvelous salvation and might be able to praise the Lord Jesus, and to receive new life to the glory of his name.

The missionaries and some of our Christian brethen and sisters began to pray regularly for a special blessing. After some time a special opportunity presented itself. What is known as the Poojah holidays, in October, came on, when all the schools, government offices, etc., are closed. We began to pray specially that we might receive the Lord in a special manner.

On the first day we gathered in the church, and began to pray, read the Scriptures, and to praise the Lord. Meetings were held every day. In the morning they were for all; in the afternoon for the sisters only; in the evening again for all. At first only a few took part. But after two or three days how wonderfully people began to be attracted. The church began to fill up, and gradually from one hour the meetings lengthened to six hours, that is from dark till midnight. and somedays all night and all day were spent in the church. People expressed sorrow for sin, confessed their sins, prayed for pardon. praised the Lord, and sang for victory. Oh, what a wonderful time it was! When one saw and heard all this it seemed almost as if Pentecost had come again.

Furthermore, even the children began to testify, quarrels and hard feelings of long standing in our community were made up. And some of the brethren and sisters began to bring others to Jesus. When I saw all this, I began to pray more earnestly with fasting, that the Lord's will might be fully accomplished. As I was thus given up to, or immersed in prayer, I began to see visions. I do not even yet understand the meaning of all that I saw. Only I felt them to be so pleasurable that I began to pray more than ever. In this way I became very weak in body, and did not always know what I said. when the Lord's servants saw my conditions, they began to pray for me. I also, when I understood something of my bad condition, began to pray to Jesus. After a day or two the Lord Jesus Christ by a certain event showed me clearly that Satan was sifting me, and I must be very careful. And owing to my ignorance or error, because I was fasting, and praying in a loud voice, my body had become weak, and mental error had crept in. How tenderly the Lord Jesus made me understand aright, and began to give new life to my body and soul! Oh, what wonderful life that is! It is my earnest desire to have more and more of it. Dear readers, please pray for me, that I may, like the Lord Jesus, increase in that life for the sake of others.

After those holidays, every morning we began to have good prayer meetings and every evening very helpful general meetings. The Lord provided a leader, in the missionary, and carried on the meetings in a most remarkable way. Then Mr. Collett and our brethren who are preachers, went out into the country for the cold season work. I also went with them, with the permission of the church. We all went by boat toward the northern part of Balasore District. We went to many villages and markets, preached the gospel. And we sold some books, especially a book called Gupta Purana (Secret Religious Story).

We found one village where the majority of the people were serving Jesus secretly. We found such secrt Christians in various places. They have not courage enough to confess Jesus as their Saviour openly. Dear reader, pray for them, that they may be enabled to confe Jesus openly.

There was no special obstacle to our work, nor any particular persecution. Only in the market of one village we were attacked by a party of people who were against everything foreign. But they did us no special harm. But toward the close of our tour, we passed through a very malarious region, and all began to feel ill. So we returned home.

In the mercy of the Lord my illness did not last long, and I again took up my former work. As I reentered the church work, I found that some of the brethren and sisters were drawing nearer to the Lord. But it was a sorrow that some of those who had been convicted of sin in the meetings, especially some young people, had grown cold and fallen into sin, and were disgracing the name of Jesus. The community, also, was being disgraced.

It is a matter of rejoicing that the deacons and members of the church committee who have been appointed this year are earnestly taking steps for the upbuilding of the church. Especially are they prayerfully endeavoring to have the praises of Jesus take the place of reproaches to his name.

Almost every evening the gospel is preached by some of our community in the bazaar. At the place where congregate many people who come from the country villages on court business, many of them listen with interest to the preaching. And in this work some of our young men are forward to render assistance; last week one man was baptized as the first of this work.

After the bazaar preaching there is usually a prayer meeting which we attend. Monday evening the C. E. Meeting; Tuesday, the Sunday School teachers' prayer meeting: Wednesday, the meeting of the young men of my Sunday School class; Thursday, the general prayer meeting; Friday a village prayer meeting; Saturday, according to turn a prayer meeting with some family. The meetings on Wednesday and Friday evenings, being especially interesting, often last for two or three hours.

Besides this, the preaching services on Sunday morning, and the Sunday School teachers' meeting, the Sunday School in the afternoon, and the general meeting in the evening are regularly carried on. In all these meetings our foreign Missionary, Mr. Hamlen, joins us and helps us to be more earnest in the Lord's service.

Besides the above mentioned meetings there are others. In the industrial school, high school, kindergarten, girls' school daily religious services are held, and the other C. E. Societies have their meetings The Young Women's and the Girls' under the superintendence of Mrs. Burkholder, and the Boys' Intermediate and Boys' Junior, under Mrs. Hamlen.

In view of all the various means of grace that our gracious Lord has established in Balasore, the hope is kindled that the kingdom of Jesus here will grow more and more rapidly in the future. Oh, reader, please kneel in prayer before the throne of grace for the Hindus around us. Amen.

THE CHRISTIAN HIGH SCHOOL.

DINA NATH BASU, B. A.

The Teaching Staff.—There were several changes in the Teaching Staff during the past year. Mr. S. K. Mishra, an assistant Christian Master, left us at the end of December last, to join the Bengal Police Department. Mr. P. Gupta, a Bengali Christian and an experienced teacher, has been appointed in Mr. Mishra's place. Pundit Mishwanath Kabvatirtha resigned the Head

Punditship, and our former Head Pundit, Babu Niranjau Rath were reappointed in January, 1908. Our beloved Assistant Master, Mr. H. N. Sarkar, resigned his post in February last, as he took up direct Mission work at Contai as assistant to Rev. Mr. Murphy, a Bengali Hindu graduate. Mr. J. N. Samaddar has taken Mr. Sarkar's place in the school. An assistant Christian Master had to be sent away; Mr. B. N. Das, a Christian young man who was brought up in this school, has been appointed in his place.

Pupils.—There are 136 boys on the rolls, against 113 in the year before, of these boys 83 are Hindus, 52 Christian and 1 Mahomedan. The average monthly number on the rolls has been upwards of 121, and the averaged daily attendance 99.

Examinations.—These students were sent up at the last Calcutta University Entrance Examination, of whom two viz., one Christian and one Hindu were successful; both were placed in the Second Division. At our last Annual Examination held before Christmas 1907, 102 boys appeared, of whom 83 were promoted. So the percentage of the successful boys is a little over 81 and thus better than that of the last year.

Vacations.—We had 244 working days during the year under review. This year being the jubilee year of the University of Calcutta, we were requested by the Vice-Chancellor of the University to give a week's additional holiday just before or after the usual summer holidays. So our summer vacation lasted for 31 days. Our Christmas and Easter holidays lasted for 15 days. We had 8 days for preparation for examinations, and other minor holidays lasted for 16 days, in all we had 70 days' holidays.

Religious Instruction.—We have had Scripture readings, running comments on them, singing and prayer every morning, and the teaching of the Bible in all the classes, and the Saturday afternoon addresses as in other years.

Evangelistic Work.—I could not do much house-visting during the year under revew, as my health did not permit me to go about much. I find a great change has come over my educated countrymen very lately. They have been full of political ideas, they wish to discard almost everything that is foreign. There has been a great unrest in the country. Those preachers who work among the educated class find it very difficult to get a patient hearing from them now-a-days as they are full of the ideas of swadeshi (of our own country) and swaraj (own government).

May the Prince of Peace have mercy upon our benighted countrymen, and help our rulers in establishing peace throughout the country.

MRS. ELMIRA HAMLEN'S REPORT.

It has been a year of changes in my Orphanage flock. When writing my last report, fifty-two was the number of boys. At present the number is sixty-three. Fifty-five are orphans or nearly so. Eight pay their board wholly or in part. Poddia, who had been here so long, first as an orphan boy, later as a helper, went to Midnapore in March to the Bible School. In part his work was taken by the boy who was learning the tailor's trade. But in July he went to work for Mrs. Coldren. So within a few months I parted with two of my helpers. Others have come up to fill the places.

One little fellow proved to be a leper, and he is at Asanszol in a leper asylum. Some few have been sent away; others have found work elsewhere. A number have come and remained but a short time, and run away. Life in the Orphanage did not suit. One died after being here but eight days.

One is an invalid, and will never be able to do much. He has been with us for a long time.

As a whole good health has prevailed; one case of pneumonia, dysentery, and a little fever now and and then; boils and itch sometimes.

The general condition of the boys has been fairly good this year. Four have been baptized during the year. All are members of one of the three Endeavor Societies.

From the last of November till March, I was out working in the villages, mostly around Ujurda, Miss Dawson kindly letting me have some of her Bible-Women. We found many things of interest and encouragement in the work.

REPORT OF MRS. J. P. BURKHOLDER.

Sinclair Orphanage.—With devout gratitude we return thanks to our Heavenly Father for his protecting care over us during the past year. During the hot season cholera raged all about us; hundreds, possibly thousands, were cut down, but it was not allowed to enter our home. Famine conditions have prevailed for months; provisions have been high, but day by day we have been amply provided for. The general health of the girls who have been with us for a number of years, has been good. One of this number has died. Lame Annie has finished her work and gone home. She is the one who when a tiny baby, was placed in an earthen vessel and left to die. She lived to be at least thirty-five years old.

We began the year with fifty-two girls in the orphange and now have seventy-seven. The whole number cared for is eighty-eight. Two have been married and gone to homes of their own, three have returned to their friends, and six have died. It is no easy task to rear a child by hand under the most favorable conditions, but it is well night impossible when a tiny mite is already half starved, and brings with it inherited disease. Again and again these little ones have been brought to us on the verge of the grave. One died during the first night, others have lived a few days or a few weeks, only to grow weaker and weaker, and then to pass away.

Step into our nursery for a few moments, and let me tell you where some of the children have come from. Here is the little lame girl, possibly two years old, who, with her sister, a little older, was brought to us by the police. They were carried in a gunny bag suspended from a bamboo. With the best care and nursing we have been able to save both of them. Their mother had died and their father forsook them. Think of that! Over there is a tiny Telegu child found under a thorny ledge near the Chandbally graveyard, who in all probability would have died within twenty-four hours, if Mrs. Coldren had not cared for her. Another, a child of eight years, was brought to us by her father, she was hardly more than a walking skeleton. "Keep her alive if you can. Her mother is dead, and I have nothing to eat," was what the father said as he left her with us. She is gaining nicely. They started from home with another child who died on the way, starved! One morning a few weeks ago, a bazaar woman brought a baby in a dying condition, saying, "The mother of this child left her on my verandah, promising to return in a short time, but has not been seen since. I cannot keep her. No one will buy from my shop if she should die there. If you do not take her, I'll lay her down by the road-side!" This is a glimpse of Hinduism, that some would fain lead us to believe is all that is desirable! We of course took the poor little one. Every breath was a low weak moan. In two days she was where hunger and suffering are unknown. Our youngest, a baby of five months, was picked up by the road side in or near Chandbally.

Keenly have we missed the "Dr. Missi Baba" while trying to keep life in these starved little bodies. Two women who were themselves rescued from the famine of '66 and '67 are doing good service helping to save these children. We are truly thankful for them. Most grateful are we for the large supply of Mother Hubbard dresses sent us from home. I hardly know what we should have done without them.

Several of the older girls have been a real comfort to us in cheerfully carrying responsibility. One of the oldest is expecting to take a course of training as a hospital nurse. We are thankful for such openings for them, for they need to leave the shelter of the orphanage and begin to be self-supporting.

Will all of our friends who have adopted children in this orphanage, and all who are interested in this institution, pray daily for the superintendent, that she may have wisdom to care for and lead these children to Him who alone can save and make them a blessing?

THE YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Our meetings, with a very few exceptions, have been held regularly every week during the past year. The Infant Department is superintended by our pastor's wife. She has been very faithful in her work, and has succeeded well in keeping up her class. She has on her roll a membership of 46. The others have 30.

I wish it was possible for me to give bright, interesting items of news regarding results. The sacredness of a promise or pledge has yet to be learned by this people. We live in hope of better days in the future.

CHRISTIAN GIRLS' DAY SCHOOL.

Since the 15th of March it has fallen to my lot to care for this school. We now have on our roll 41 names. The greater share of the pupils come from Sinclair orphanage. Of the four teachers, two are young women who were reared in our orphanage. They have taken the Junior Teachers' Training course in Calcutta. We are thankful for their help, both in the school and in the orphange, where they still find a home. Our greatest trouble has been to find a suitable head master. After a long search in our own and other missions, we were obliged to employ a Hindu pundit. We live in hopes that some day we shall have an entrance passed woman for head mistress of this Christian Girls' School. When we remember that the majority of the girls come from the illiterate classes. who probably never have had a book in their hands one ceases to wonder that they rise so slowly and yet we have great cause for thankfulness when we call to mind that the most of our best mission workers have come from this grade of people. Brilliancy of scholarship is not the most desirable qualification. If our girls grow up to be good, exemplary Christian women, we shall thank God and take courage, while we shall hope for teachers of a higher grade in the future. What we need is a good school house, which we never have had. The one used thus far is only a make-shift, until something could be afforded. A thousand or fifteen hundred dollars would put up a good building, plenty large enough for many years to come. How I wish some generous soul would wish to donate this amount for education of Oriya girls.

REPORT OF MISS R. S. BOMWETSCH.

The Kindergarten.—As the kind friends of the kindergarten welcome the report of the past year, they will naturally expect that it will record the past, estimate the present and forecast the future.

The retrospect is dominated by a deep sense of the love and grace of God. In spite of great distress and want all around us, we have been enabled to enlarge our work and to add to our numbers in every department.

The school has had the blessing for another year, of the fervent prayers and devoted work of the officers of our committee in America, and the liberal donations of faithful friends in Rhode Island. We are much indebted to the government, too, for their unreserved approval of our department, and a generous increase of grant-in-aid.

The number of children whose names are upon the school register is 115. Since the mid-summer holidays our numbers have increased rapidly, which is chiefly due to the famine children, who have been gathered into our orphanages, from different parts of the district. The growing interest of the teachers in the welfare of their children has been shown by their regular attendance, and the good results achieved.

The political agitation prevailing here in India, is a great problem, and it was with some interest, and not a little amusement, we were able to trace its appearance in the kindergarten among our little Hindu pupils.

It was in March last, when three of the fairest Brahmin children were brought to the kindergarten by their private tutor. Two little boys, respectively seven and five years of age, followed by a servant carrying a little girl one of the prettiest little mites imaginable, covered with jewelry, and about four years of age. I received them in the front verandah and soon gained the confidence of the elder brother, Gonosiam and his sister, Unasundari. The younger brother, Jaganath, however, clung to his teacher, who begged of me to allow the child to return home with him for that day, adding that the novelty of meeting a foreign lady had inspired the boy with fear. I consented, but felt convinced, by the expression upon the boy's face, that some strong objection was keeping him back. The next day the father, a lawyer, dressed in his official robes, of noble appearance and bearing, accompanied the children to school. He spoke English fluently, and seemed extremely anxious to have his little ones taught according to kindergarten methods. Jaganath appeared unwilling to stay, but upon my holding up a pretty picture book, he changed his mind, and sat down on a little chair quite close to me. He became quite talkative, and finally, putting his book down, stood up in front of me, then pointing to his sister said: "She is doing 'bilali kamo' (European work). I hate Europeans, please don't compel me to do that sort of work." The only measure adopted was to treat him with the utmost consideration. He appreciated kindness greatly and within a few days declared he would do even "bilati kamo" to please me. It was with intense interest I watched this little "extremist," but much to our regret he left after six months, his father being transferred to Cuttack.

So much for the past. For the present we rejoice in the admittance of ten probationers who are to take their kindergarten training, and the formation of a Normal School consisting of fifteen students, who, being supported by a special government grant-in-aid, are able to devote most of their time to study. This new branch requires the full attention of the superintendent, therefore an assistant has been appointed as "absolutely essential," the government providing for her salary by an additional grant. Miss Niradabala Das, a fully qualified senior grade teacher, joined us on the 10th of August. She comes with a strong recommendation as "a successful teacher and a good Christian."

For the future we anticipate much help from the normal school, and we hope that our anticipations will be so fully realized that it will be necessary, before long, to have in contemplation a further development. There is a great dearth of teachers, and there is no doubt but that the government requirements as to the employment of trained teachers will become more stringent. This presents a dilemma. The government demands trained teachers, but the salaries of trained teachers are almost prohibitive to our mission. In due course the girls who are receiving their training with us will be able to take part in educating others and will surely be willing to accept a moderate salary in order to repay to their mission something of the cost of their education. Each will have been trained in the principles of Christ, and will desire to teach them. Thus our scheme aids that which is perhaps the highest aim of education, to call forth a thankful, self-denying spirit in the service of God and man.

REPORT OF MISS M. E. DAWSON.

March 20th not only meant a change for Dr. Shirley Smith, but for me also, and on March 23rd I found myself and my belongings at the Widows' Home.

There were five women and three children in the home when I took charge, and of these only two are here now. One is out working in a Christian house in the village, another has been returned to her village, as she proved a disturbing element, while the last—a young woman with her baby boy, who was walking from Bhadrak to Calcutta in search of her people, but whose courage failed when she got as far as Balasore, and was found and brought here by one of the Zenana teachers—was put on the train and sent to Calcutta. We have since heard of her safe arrival and that she has found her mother.

Seventeen women have been in the home at different times since March, as many as twelve women and six children being here at one time. There are seven women and six children at the time of writing. Of the rest of the seventeen the time of residence varied from one night to a month. One was coaxed away by her friends, who frightened her by telling her her caste would be destroyed if she remained. She went off while I was out with the Zenana teacher and sold her seven days' old baby girl to women of ill-repute in the Bazaar for five yards of cloth and then returned to her village. Will any who read understand when I say I prayed the baby might die and bowed my heart in thankfulness when a month later I heard that it had.

Several have come in on account of prevailing famine conditions, and as soon as they begin to feel strong and well after the good food, off they go. Three ran away in the night last week, one of them being a young girl for whom I was beginning to have ambitions. She was learning to read, and hope burned bright for the future, but—evidently the independent and rambling life outside proved too strong to be resisted. It is a great disappointment.

One woman had to be sent away and that is the saddest of all. A home here to shelter her from temptation, yet she would persist in going outside into the temptation, and for the reputation of the Home she could not be allowed to stay.

I have engaged Sukha, a Christian woman, formerly an inmate of the Home, now happily married, to help in looking after the women's work. The Zenana and Bible work takes me out the greater part of the day, and it would not be wise to leave the women alone so long. Sukha and her husband live on the Compound so she is here all the time.

For some months the women have been husking their own rice and making their own blinja (parched rice), besides making rope and date palm mats. It is hoped some may be able to find employment in the Christian village when their babies are old enough to be left. I have a Bible lesson with them every morning, and we are trying to instil into their minds the principles of the Christian religion. Old habits and customs do not give way in a day, and many times it has been a hand to hand fight with caste system and prejudices. One rejoices to see it giving way, and there is less than formerly.

Zenana Work.—The work of the Zenena teachers has continued as usual during the year, and the average number of pupils is about the same. For two or thre monthes at the beginning of the year it was feared we should have to stop work on account of cholera which was raging in every district, but the teachers kept faithfully on and not one was attacked. Many of the pupils have died, and in some places it is so sad to see the closed houses, and know that all the inmates were swept away by the dread disease. It was one of the worst cholera epidemics Balasore has had for a long time. Our Christian community was protected, and so many times the heathen have spoken of this as a proof that God is with us in truth.

In a distant suburb of the town stands the big house of a wealthy gentleman. We have often looked up at the windows and closed doors, and longed to get inside to the women, but the door was fast sealed. A few months ago, however, an old woman called one of the teachers and said she would like to have the wife of her grandson taught to read. They are relatives of the big man's, and their house adjoins his, so we feel the thin end of the wedge driven in, and are praying on that in time the big home itself may be open.

The work in Mohammedan homes is increasing. Mohammedan girls, are nearly all taught to read the Koran, so they make bright pupils when they call us to teach them Bengali and Oriya. One Mohammedan pupil has a little school in her house, where she teaches children to read the Koran. She delights to read the gospel in Bengali, and we count it a privilege to be able to teach both her and the children (for she stops her school while we are there) of the true Prophet, Jesus the Son of God.

Last month the Raja had a prize distribution for girls' schools, and the Commissioner of Orissa presided. In the course of his speech he said "He was pleased to find Balasore so far ahead of most places in regard to female education. It is first of any town of its size in Bengal, and this is largely due to the efforts of the Missionaries of the American Free Baptist Mission."

Bible-women.—The Bible-women have this year covered more ground than for some years before. In November we all started out, accompanied by Mrs. Hamlen, to visit the villages between Balasore and Contai. Mrs. Hamlen and three of the Bible women branched off at Basta for the Urjuda section, where they worked until Christmas. The rest of us went on to Jellasore, where we were joined by Miss Barnes and one of her Bible-women. We reached Contai the Saturday before Christmas. The story of that trip would be too long for this report. We counted it a privilege to be the first Messengers of the Cross who had visited those villages for at least ten years. We found a man to whom Rev. Jeremiah Phillips had given a Bengali bible. He came to the rest house to ask for another, as that one was worn out. From conversation with him we could see he had read and fully grasped what he had read, there remaining just the stepping over that line which caste has drawn—but it means so much, and he hesitates.

The magic lantern proved a never failing means of drawing the people out so we could preach to them.

We spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Murphy and returned the next day to Balasore to prepare for the next trip, which would take us to Dhalbhoom, a native state to the north, for which we had been praying for four years. Miss Barnes and her Bible-woman, Mariam and I formed the party which started out on January 8th. We were out just a month and had a blessed, blessed time.

Jabana and Moni worked with Mrs. Collett in the country during January, and Sukha went to Metrapur with Mrs. Hamlen. Since the cold season touring ended Momi has spent several weeks at Urjuda where she was preacher, teacher and Bible-woman all in one. Sukha has been with me into Dhalbhum, and Momi and Sukha spent several days with me at Bhadrak.

We have been trying a system of home to home visitation to reach the women in Balasore. It may take years, but we want to know that, as far as possible every woman has had the opportunity of hearing the gospel at least once. The villages round about have not been neglected, but have been visited occasionally during the day, and sometimes with the magic lantern at night.

The days of the past year have been full, busy ones, but there is such joy in being a fellow worker with Him.

"There is joy to tell the story,
Joy eternal, full of glory."

And we praise Him for the privilege.

REPORT OF MRS. DORA COLLETT.

I think reports should be written during the cold season, rather than during the hot sultry rainy days of August and September, when the mind refuses to respond, no matter how much one cudgels her brain. However the workers are busy, the work goes on, and you like to hear about it.

Schools.—I have the same number of schools as I had last year, though there has been a change, I closed the Astapore school in May. It has been on the doubtful list for a long time ever since a Christian teacher was put in charge. The people would not send their children, and I did not care to give them a Hindu teacher. The grant has been transferred to the Banpada school, which was opened in the spring and has a large and increasing attendance. The school now occupies the new building in Krushna's yard, and being so near his house it is very convenient for him to look after the work and give regular religious instruction. There is a good Christian woman as teacher.

The head teacher of the Permit Ghat school was taken on the High School staff in the spring, and his brother is filling the vacancy and doing good work. Upon my last visit to the school, I was very much pleased to see vegetable plots at the back and sides of the house, and the flowers in front, all made possible by the new thorn fence.

The Matsai teacher did such unsatisfactory work that I changed a few weeks ago. I think that I now have a good teacher, and one who will exert a good influence and build up the school.

These three schools have lost some of the most promising pupils on account of the famine and cholera this year.

The Ujurda school is still in my hands: i. e., I do the secretary's work, and Mr. Collett inspects it when he goes to Ujurda.

I try to visit the schools once a month to hear the children recite Bible verses and sing, and to tell them a story, and give S. S. cards. The teachers conduct S. S. every Sunday morning, and I frequently send one of the preachers to give religious instruction.

Illness at the beginning of last cold season prevented my doing much work in the country. I went with Mr. Collett in the boat in December, but did little work except looking after the family. My health having improved, after Christmas, I took two Bible women and worked with them two weeks. Then an unexpected hard rain made the tent and clothing so damp and unhealthy that I came back and stayed until Mr. Collett came in. Then we went to Metrapore for two weeks where I visited among the people and had a daily prayer meeting with the women.

None of us have been as well this year as usual, and the doctors have ordered us off to the hills. We have decided to go to Darjeeling Oct. 1st, and are looking forward to the trip with much pleasure, hoping that a month of invigorating air will give us a little of the old time vim and put roses into the children's colorless cheeks.

REV. C. A. COLLETT'S FIELD REPORT.

Both in America and India, every new year brings new experiences. Most men are generally glad because of new experiences, for they mean growth and knowledge and the sage says, "Knowledge is power." Perhaps ro more varied experience could be gven a man than to transport him from one side of the world to the other and permit him to remain there five or six years. However, I must doubt, in some cases, the wisdom of some sages. I am confident that my late participation in Job's experiences has not added any new vim to my physical power. But all things taken into consideration, this year has been most encouraging, and the visible results have been more far reaching than in any previous year. The country work, bazaar preaching, and the number of converts in the field under my supervision, although not altogether what we always hope for, yet are gratifying, and cause us to hope for still greater results in the near future. You will see by the statistical report that there has been a general increase in every department. In the Sunday Schools there has been a net gain of 107, in the day schools a gain of 50, and 33 have been baptized from Hinduism. The new unpleasant experiences gained by contact with the climate and Mofussil hardships cannot offset the pleasant experiences gained by the joy of even this small victory.

Soon after my last year's report, my tents were put out for their airing, old tent pins were straightened, and new ones made, bamboos split for poles, and ropes repaired, preparatory for the cold season work. Abut this time our good "Bishop of Chandbali" came along with his house boat. I finally persuaded him that he didn't feel like making a trip before Christmas, so, sending him and his wife home via Cuttack, and capturing his boat, we enjoyed a pleasant trip up the canal as far as Contai.

After Christmas we had to content ourselves with bullock carts again. Oh, what would I not give for a good American team of horses and a wagon! The end of two weeks found us at Deganagar, a place we visited two years ago. The people's interest had not waned. In one day we sold over five Rupees' worth of books, the best we did any day during the whole season. All day and until late at night the people came to our tents to buy books and hear the preaching and singing. On Sunday P. M. over one hundred people remained at our services from four o'clock till seven, although it was a cold damp day. From Deganagar we journeyed to Baliafal. A few quotations from my diary will give you a little idea of our experiences for a few days in this district. "Feb. 3, a. m., moved to Baliapal and took breakfast under a tree; p. m., moved to the river, being late we pitched a tent for the night, a bad day. Feb. 4, a lying boatman and a leaky boat are two things to be avoided if possible; but impossible in India, hence we have wet tents,—boat upset,—and we must pitch them for the night. Good village work. Feb. 5, a. m., village work on the river bank, I fully realize the need of a boat for the work in this section. P. M., hard work! New earth on the road! Moved to Kamada, 4½ miles—time, 4½ hours. Feb. 6, our boy colporteur went to the school to sell books. The master and a swadeshi agitator sent the boys to tear his books. They destroyed fourteen Annas' worth but did not know the consequences. I went and sat before their idol and threatened until they paid the amount. They learned their lesson and bought more books at the market in the afternoon. Feb. 7, moved to Mampo, 5 miles, a little feverish."

The last statement gives you the beginning of the end. We had been in the malarious district for about a month. Arriving at Mampo we asked about the tank and were assured that everything was the best one could ask. After we had been in the place two days, and were beginning to feel feverish, the people informed us that the place "was" healthful, but the last three years it had been pregnant with fever. We pulled stakes and moved as quickly as possible, but it was too late. My whole party, myself included, were attacked by something as near like the American la grippe as anything I ever saw. We were knocked out of service for two weeks. And to tell the whole truth, until the last two weeks, I have not felt like my former self. Over two months ago boils took possession of me, and did not give up until seven weeks of "patience developing" had been accomplished.

The station work has been moving quite nicely. The bazaar preaching has had more than the usual interest, especially in the New Bazaar. Two weeks ago a young man from the astrologer caste was baptized; one of the direct results of our New Bazaar work. A lecture room is much needed in this bazaar. I have already purchased the best suite in the bazaar, and begun preparations for a good house. As soon as my American friends send more money it will be completed.

Last year I thought of transferring Krushna Das to Ujurda, but as soon as his village people learned of it, they came in a body to petition me to let him remain with them. Some of you will remember Krushna as the man who became a Christian a few years ago and suffered such severe persecution from these same villagers. I gave them a school this year, and their children not only attend day school but attend services every Sunday. Three have been baptized in the village this year.

The library in the Old Bazaar is now as it has always been, a source of much good. The average number of visitors per month this year has been 375, 25 more than the average last year. As I went to and from the bazaar I always noticed a great mny boys nd girls playing in the streets. It seemed to me that they should be learning something more than the vulgarities of an Indian bazaar, so I had the librarian open a school in the rear of the room. Now thirty-nine of these boys and girls are attending school during the week, and Sunday School on Sunday. Nineteen are Mohammedan children. This is practically all the work done for Mohammedan children in this district.

The book sales have almost been phenomenal this year. It seems as if famine, pestilence, cholera and their accompanying burdens only serve to increase the desire for knowledge of the truth. People are tiring of the false means used to prevent these things. The new knowledge, although perhaps not outwardly received, is inwardly believed. My band of workers has sold over 18,000 books this year. During the month of January we sold over 1,200 of the new three piece book, Gupta Purana. The year's average has been 600 a month on this book alone. Gouga's pen has been busy a greater part of the time writing and translating books and tracts for the press. He has translated Gupta Purana into Bengali, o I hope that field will soon reap some of the pleasures we have been experiencing from this book. For reaching Hindus there is no book like it. A second edition in Oriya is now in the press. It will sell for two pice instead of three. I anticipate still larger sales from this edition. This is the only book we have that has received the general favorable comment of the Hindu Press, and been able creditably to present a concise life of Christ in a form acceptable to the general public.

OUT-STATIONS.

Bhadrak is a hard field, because fully one-half of the population is Mohammedan. The sin and idolatry of the Hindus, together with the Mohammedan's vices and love for practicing anything but the truth, makes the work hard. Nevertheless this field gives me more pleasure than any other. Rajanis' faithfulness, love of combat, and courage in presenting the truth, are telling effectively. I remember one evening I took several of my workers to the bazaar. After the visitors had all spoken, I asked Rajani to speak. He began by saying, "You know me and have heard me speak every week." Immediately some one answered, "Yes, and we call you a good man." To work with such men is a real pleasure.

In his report Rajani tells of the young Brahmin. His village people persecuted him so severely that he had to come to Balasore. They followed him here and guarded the house in which he was staying. He stole out the back way and came to our home. That night I spirited him away to Midnapore. He is now with me, doing good work in the bazaar, and in his studies. Yesterday he sent a registered letter to his wife asking her to come to him. I believe he is a promsing worker.

We have taken three new Hindu schools into our Sunday School. There were four, but the parents of one school took their children away because they sang Christian songs all the time, and were becoming Christians.

Metrapore is practically independent of the Mission in its church work. They elect their own pastor, and try to conduct their own work. I have placed the general oversight of the work with Joseph. I have secured a grant of Rs. 6 from the Nilgiri State, and raised the school to an Upper Primary.

For several years we have owned 54 acres of land about two miles from Metrapore. It has always been a source of trouble, and no gain, because no one was near to look after the fields. This year I have started a village there and hope to be able either to make the village a success, or to sell the land to some Christian who will do so.

The famine has been felt quite keenly there by all but two families, and cholera has claimed three victims.

I had a colporteur and his wife at Soro for sometime, but last spring he too, fell a victim to cholera. I am having difficulty in getting land because I received the money about three months too late to purchase when land was available.

Ajurda is a more serious problem. We have had to aid the people some since last November. I began relief work and required every able bodied man and woman to work, but the work was soon finished. I then apportioned each family enough to keep them living and have been paying this regularly for four months. The prospects now are for a good crop of rice, so I shall soon be able to shut off famine aid. They had no seed, so I sent a letter to our New Brunswick friends asking for aid. Mrs. Sunder, formerly Mrs. Boger of our mission, immediately sent 122 Rupees which tided them over that difficulty. These people have been a heavy expense to us this year, but I expect some more aid from New Brunswick to help re-imburse us.

Last week I waded through mud and water to my hips in order to visit the station. It is really a pitiable sight. Little boys and girls who only four months ago had plump, round faces and arms, now look like little old men and women. They have plucked every leaf, and uprooted every herb that would serve to help fill their empty stomachs. Quite a number of them have plenty of land, but of what use is land when the clouds refuse to give rain in proper season? But perhaps this has been an opportunity to get a hold on that whole community. Our care for these people is known for miles around, and is awakening a general interest in the religion that does not desert its followers even in trouble and need.

Thanks to the ladies in America who sent the mother-hubbards, I have been able to cover some of the naked bodies, and now that the cool days will soon come they will be even more appreciated. I may add here that the dresses have been a blessing to all my out-stations.

One thing I have not been able to overcome in this place. I have tried to prevent people from becoming Christians because I feared they were coming for their stomachs' sake. But with all my precautions, they will come. A man sends word that he wants to become a Christian. I send back word, not now for he will get no aid. A few days later Krushna or Sari came saying he was eating rice with Christians, and is attending services regularly. What would you have me do? I cannot throw him out of the church. Some of these men are in good circumstances, and two months later will have plenty.

In concluding this report permit me to repeat a statement I made in closing my last year's report, "The future will be the present plus improved opportunities." If there is any one place in the line that must be "hit hard" or harder, it is opportunity. And our American assistants must help keep up the team work.

ORPHAN GIRL

BHADRAK.

REV. C. A. COLLETT in charge.

RAJANI MAHAPATRA, Native Pastor and Evangelist.

Two Colporteurs. Three Teachers.

Church.—We thank God for his great blessings toward us and our work, and his permission to submit this year's report. The church has improved some since last year. During the last year three men have been baptized, one Mohammedan, one young Brahmin and one Hindu, who has been in the Christian community for some time. The few members attend services regularly and often several Hindus and Mohammedans are present.

Evangelistic Work.—Two colporteurs sell books in the villages, bazaars, at the railway station and help me in the markets. Ganga Dhar Rath and Mr. Collett have also helped me this year. The people of this place hear the Gospel gladly.

The young Brahmin mentioned above, lived about three miles from our bungalow. He is the only son of a well-to-do Brahmin priest. His wife is about sixteen years old, and is now with her parents. Miss Dawson and two of her Bible women came and tried to have a talk with her, but her parents forbade them. When we were in the village, his father became very angry with us. He said, "You baptized my son, therefore you will go to hell." About two hundred villagers were present. We gave them some tracts, and tried to show them the true light. We made arrangements for a magic lantern exhibit, but in the evening three young men caused such a disturbance, that we had to give up the idea, and returned to the bazaar, where we had a nice work.

My wife has been working some among the Hindu women. One wealthy young widow wishes to become a Christian, but she is unable to get out of her uncle's home.

On the 8th of August Mr. Collett brought the young Brahmin to Bhadrak, and tried again to get his wife. Everything was under flood, and in some places the road was broken, and the water was from two to four feet deep for great distances. There were no conveniences for crossing. At one place the people made a boat from pans used in making cane syrup, and took us across. In other places we went on carts. In two or three places there were no conveniences whatever for crossing, so Mr. Collett took off his shoes, and rolling up his pantaloons, waded in water to his hips. The whole distance of three miles was traveled four times, but the woman, having received advice from her parents, refused to go with her husband. They told her that her husband had to eat beef, and if she went with him, she would have to eat beef. Some said that if Christianity is not the true religion why did the Sahib, Mr. Collett, take so much trouble to come at this time. Others said he received Rs. 500 for baptizing the young man, and would receive Rs. 500 more if he baptized the woman. I clearly explained to them that we receive not one pice for baptizing others, but that our Lord Jesus has ordered us to go forth and preach the Gospel. and we are simply obeying his commands.

We thank God that he has drawn into his work one who stands high in estimation of Hindus. It certainly shows that He has some secret purpose, and will accomplish good through him.

Sunday School.—There are really five Sunday Schools, although we have them all assemble at our bungalow as one school. Four other day schools meet with our school each Sunday. The roll numbers 137 ,and includes Christians, Hindus and Mohammedans.

Famine conditions have been bad the last two years. Many people after selling all they had, are going from house to house begging. Many die from starvation.

I hope all who read this weak effort, will kindly remember us, and pray the "Lord of Harvests" that He may give us strength and courage to labor in his fields.

Station Work.—Report of Rev. M. J. Coldren, D. D.

The Station work has been carried on with a fair degree of regularity. The Schools, C. E. Society, Church and Sabbath School have all had their due attention.

Sickness has been more prevalent than in other years. All the workers at some time or other have been laid up for a while with fever.

The famine conditions have given us much extra work. It is pitiable beyond description to see the starving women and children. There were in front of my gate at one time 150 women and children all begging for something to eat, and daily numbers came for help. A famine cannot be described by pen or tongue. The constant strain and anxiety are telling on Mrs. C. and myself. We hope the worst will be over in a month or two.

The morning prayer meetings continue to help us on our way. The brethren kept them up every morning all the time we were away at Kharagpur.

Nisha's wife, mentioned in last year's report, has been baptized, and is growing into a nice Christian woman. There are several others, who want to be baptized, but we fear the famine conditions have something to do with it, so have thought best to wait a while.

The Bible Class Friday evenings, led by Charles Singh, has kept its usual interest.

The finances of the church are more than half paid at the half year. The new method adopted January 1st, has worked well. Each member is assessed proportionately with others, according to income. Those under R. 10 a month pay two pice, those over, pay four pice a month per Rupee.

This all goes into the church treasury. The finance committee forms a budget of expense, giving so much to each of the different benevolences of the church, which is sanctioned by the church and paid out of the treasury as each comes due. This prevents the confusion of having so many different collections. Only one fund to pay, and that is the church—and her duty is to distribute the funds. All have paid some advance and some have already paid through to the end of the year. Now we have no nagging and worrying every covenant meeting to get up the pastor's salary. All are very happy over this arrangement.

Chasikhand.—This work has suffered most of all from the famine. All these people are very poor, and have suffered much for want of food. This church (Chandbali) has been supplying them with half a seer of rice a day for each child, and the parents had to manage the best they could. We have had some trouble there in regard to keeping the church obligations. The oldest member backslid, and is living an immoral life. Debraj, the pastor, has had a hard time there, and yet when he received a call from the Jellasore Church, where he was laboring when I first come to the country 29 years ago, he refused to accept it, but choose to remain with his people another year.

Evangelistic Work.—The country work is ever an interesting work. We get nearer to the country people. They are more simple-hearted; have not learned so many civilized tricks as those living in the seaport towns. The preaching was spiritual and in many villages we had evidence that good was accomplished. The famine conditions made it difficult to sell many books, and so very little has been done in that line of Christian work. During the year 11 Hindu festivals were visited where thousands of people were assembled, and hundreds listened to the preaching of the Gospel. Over two thousand visits were made to villages where the gospel had never been preached before. When I think of the more than four thousand villages in the subdivision, and of the three preachers and one colporteur to reach them, it does seem like an impossible work, and our prayer is for more laborers to be thrust into the harvest. And did I not know that God is more interested in this work than I can possibly be, I should surely get discouraged. But some times in the midst of the darkest hours God gives us a ray of beautiful light to cheer and help us. India must and will be brought to Christ, and year by year we are drawing closer to that blessed day, when the dear Lord will have the heathen for His possession. May it speedily come!

Kharagpur.—I spent three months of the year at Kharagpur. The work was a little difficult for me, not having the pastorate of an English church for 29 years. And then an English congregation is different in this country from what it is at home. There are many very nice people, and I am sure the change of work did me a lot of good, and I have reasons to believe others were blessed also.

Village Schools.—PADMALOCHAN DAS report: "It has been my duty to visit these schools as often as possible and examine the children in the catechism and temperance teaching. There are 14 schools. I visit them nearly every month. The number of pupils in this roll is 300, and the average attendance is less this year on account of the famine conditions existing. The cholera has been epidemic, also, reducing the attendance. In addition to the general course of study, the children are taught the elementary and temperance catechisms. The larger pupils are taught the International S. S. lessons, and get the golden texts by heart; and a number of the boys can give them for the past 12 months without a mistake. Last year 40 pupils appeared in the All-India S. S. examination, and 35 of them passed; and one of them stood first in the Orissa division—not bad for heathen boys. During my inspection I not only examine the pupils on the above subjects, but teach them the Love of the Lord Jesus Christ; and some of them have come to believe in Him, and have no faith in idols of stone and wood. We hope these will be true Christians when they grow older, and will make a public confession of Christ."

MRS. E. S. COLDREN'S REPORT.

GIRLS' SCHOOL.

In January, 1908, the head mistress entered the teachers' training school in Balasore. The second teacher has been able to carry on the work, as the girls of the first class left the school. One took the government lower primary examination and passed; the other went to Balosore and later passed the examination there. Another girl from a Hindu family dropped out.

Last year several of the girls left our school and attended a Hindu school in the bazaar. The hard times have closed that school, and now these girls, some of them, have come back to our school. But I think one teacher will be able to do the work of the school for some time to come.

During the past year there has been a class formed of the children of this school and the Christian boys of the other school for Bible teaching, a kind of junior C. E., though the children are so small they cannot fill offices. The meetings are conducted by a man appointed by our C. E. Society. There are three of these meetings each month. The last Wednesday of the month the same children have their Band of Hope meetings. We had ten pledged members, but two of them have left the place. Nearly all the girls' school children attend the meetings. The pledged members are all from Christian families, except one girl from a Bengali gentleman's family. This girl and her little sister often attend the other meetings for the children.

The Juvenile Superintendent of our local W. C. T. U. has charge of the Band of Hope and teaches them the Temperance Catechism.

The Primary Sunday School is composed mostly of the members of our day school. Some of the time there has been a class of Telugu children taught in connection with it. Besides the children, I have a class of women from our Christian community. Most of these are recent converts from Hinduism (one being baptized during the year) and are unable to read, except one of them reads a little and another is learning. All but one of them commit verses to memory quite readily.

Recently a Hindu woman has joined the class. She and her husband have broken caste and are seekers of Christ. They both attend all our meetings and seem quite earnest. In these famine times it is hard to tell what is their chief object in wishing to become Christians.

We had a pleasant time at our Christmas celebration. Both the large boys' Sunday School and the girls' meet together on our lawn under the shade of the trees and a tent fly that we put up for the women and girls. All the children took some part in the program, after which the presents were given out. The book-bags from home were greatly appreciated. I have nearly enough left, with a few that came this year, for our next Christmas treat. I hope our friends at home will continue to make and send out the book-bags as they have opportunity.

I have a supply of the little dresses that came this spring. I have given out some of them to poor children attending our girls' school, both to Christians and Hindus. Two of the latter sent back their dresses after wearing them a while, or their people sent them back, as they said they were Christian clothes. The children were pleased enough with them, and one girl asked for her dress again later. Many Hindu children wear dresses in other places, and the gentleman's children before mentioned wear them; but they are from Calcutta and are more civilized. I am keeping most of the dresses for the cold weather. Some little girls whom we sent to the Sinclair Orphanage had dresses given them. The dresses are also much prized by the children, and will be a great help especially in the cold weather. I have promised to give some as prizes for good attendance at school and Sunday School

We went to Kharagpur in March to take over the English work there so the Oxrieders could go to the hills for a much needed rest. I enjoyed the change to that place. and the work of the Sunday School and children's meetings and prayer meetings during the week, as well as visiting the people. I also much enjoyed the meeting of the W. C. T. U. Last spring the Midnapore Union of four members joined with the women at Kharagpur and have formed a strong union. With the Miss Coombs as president, the work is sure to prosper there. The three meetings I had the privilege of entertaining at the parsonage were of increasing interest, new members being received at each meeting.

While I was away for nearly four months my women who are studying the Life of Christ and Life of Paul had to get on by themselves, and so had not advanced as far in these lessons as they should have. Now we are having to hurry up to get ready for the annual examination in the fall.

Famine Work.—Since we returned to our station in July we have been busy much of the time looking after and helping famine people. We took three women and several children to live in rooms of some of our houses, to keep till we could send them to the Balasore Widows' Home and the orphanages. One little girl baby of about four months was found abandoned by the roadside one night. It was taken to my neighbor, Mrs. Mayston, as we were not at home. She looked after and fed it regularly, getting a poor woman to keep it. When we returned she brought it to me, and I had it cared for in one of our Christian families. But a poor woman, who was staying in a veranda room, took care of it and carried it several times a day to Mrs. Mayston's house for its milk. It was a nice, healthy child, though rather thin. The next day a poor little skeleton of a child, about three years old, came here. begging with others. I found it had no parents and only a sister to care for it, and she was begging and had allowed it to be thrown into the graveyard to die. So I took it to the house where the little baby was and sent her milk three or four times a day. Our people told us that this child had been thrown out with a cloth tied about its face so it would be unable to get away and would die. A policeman found and rescued it, giving it back to the sister, and had a small quantity of rice given to it daily. At the end of July we sent a boatload of women and children to Balasore. There were thirteen in all, only two of whom were boys. Very soon after these had gone others come wishing to be sent to Balasore. If the "Widow's Home" can take any more, they will probably be three or four more women to go when a boat can go again. Also there are several children to go. There have been 150 to 200 people mostly women and children, camping under trees all summer and during the hard rains with only the tree and sky for a cover. One of the women we sent to Balasore had been living there, and had a baby born under the trees. She came to us that day at evening. We gave her a place to stay and the women of the house kindly cared for her and the baby, which was a fine child, and very pretty. We got good reports of them from Mrs. Burkholder and Miss Dawson. All the children were thriving well, even the poorest little girl whom our people said could not live.

Bible Women's Work.—The Bible Women's work, both here and at Chasikhand has been full of sadness and trial the past year because on account of the famine they have met with so many cases of extreme want and distress. The scourge of cholera that was so severe about here in the cold season and spring has taken off many of the women who for years have gladly received the Bible-women and their message. Several of these we are assured died hoping in Christ. One woman in her last illness frequently called for Ludia, our Bible-woman. Among the victims of the epidemic were some of the women whom I mentioned in my report last year, as coming market days to buy fruit of the Bible-woman to sell, and who always wanted her to sing and talk to them before taking the fruit. This summer an old woman from that village has been coming to Ludia each market day to hear the Gospel story. She would listen attentively for an hour or more. One day this week she with three other women came from their village by boat over the fields, saying they had nothing to eat and could get no work while the floods were so deep. So we let them have a place in a house we are using to shelter some poor women and children. Now there are fifty persons in all there, being fed or supplied with rice and salt each day. All of these who are able are doing some work in the mission compound, pulling weeds, cutting grass, etc. They pick up dry sticks and leaves for their fuel; also some kinds of plants for greens to go with their rice and salt. Most of these poor creatures had been living under trees during the rains. We only had this house vacant for them this week.

Some of the children will probably go to our orphanages in Balasore later on, when there is a chance for them to go. Also some of the women want to go to the Widows' Home, others will return to their villages when they can get work there. Our Bible-women will work among them while we have them here, and teach them about Jesus. We will have a class for them on Sundays. Several were in my Sunday school class last Sunday and they came to the preaching service, but could not understand much. So we will try to have some woman speak to them at a different place at the time of preaching service.

Many of the women in the villages who are yet in their homes gladly receive Ludia and listen attentively to her message. Last week one woman asked her to pray for and with them.

Ella, the Bible-woman at Chasikhand, has worked faithfully as usual out there, but I have not been able to see her to ask about the work since we returned. She took a little girl and kept her two months till there was a chance to send her to Balasore. They helped other children early in the year and had them sent to school.

Dear friends do not fail to pray that these poor people and children who have heard the word during the past year may be brought to know Jesus as their only Saviour. Pray for all the workers that they may be faithful, giving the word in season and out of season.

CHARLES SINGHA'S REPORT.

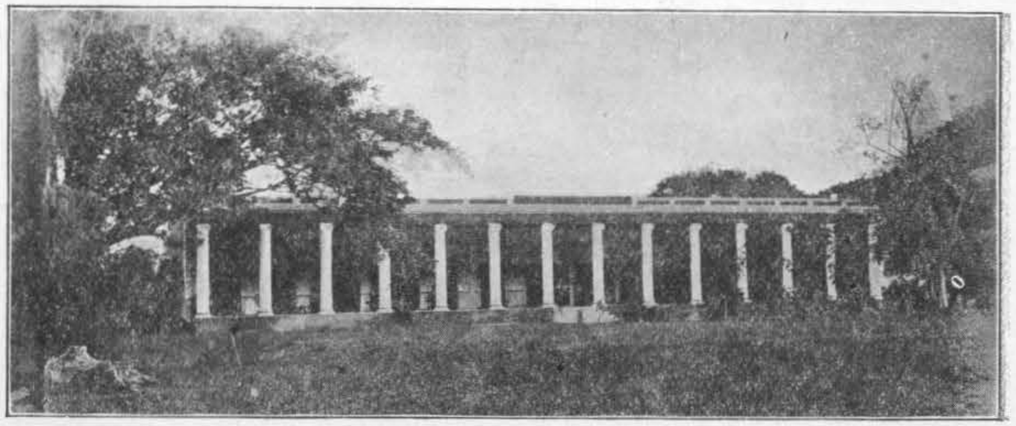

Middie English School.—Chandbali Middle English School was established in the year 1884. The people of the place, at first, did not know the value of English learning. There were no public offices nor courts here. One of the students, named Madhn Sahn, did not like to accept a scholarship, fearing that he would have to pay it back with interest. We tried our best to explain to his parents about it, but in vain. But we are glad to report that those days have passed. The people now think that the school is a blessing to the place. Since the beginning, thirty-six students have passed, six of which have been able to secure Middle English scholarships. Twenty-six have received the Middle English certificates and ten the Middle Vernacular certificates. Some of them have been trained and passed the medical course in Cuttack, some are sub-overseers, some lawyers, some teachers, some preachers and some clerks, etc. The school has a good reputation, and the local people are bringing their children from the town schools, thinking that the teachers here take more interest than those of the towns. One has recently brought his children a six or seven days' journey by rail and steamers, although they had high school privileges where they were.

The school house stands on an elevated piece of land, and as there are no big trees towards the southern side of the compound, it is very airy and there is plenty of space left for the children for their physical exercises. The school boys are healthy and look so neat and clean that one may easily distinguish between a school boy and a village boy.

Moral teachings are carefully given, and nothing occurred during the year that required severe punishment. The temperance catechism is also taught; not a single boy was seen with pan in his mouth during the school hours. The bigger boys have promised not to touch any kind of intoxicating drugs. We are glad that the director of the public instruction has recently introduced a tract against opium.

There are five teachers in the school, three Hindoo and two Christians. Three of them have been educated in the training school, Cuttack. The average income and expenditure of the school, for month is Rs 75. On account of famine, flood and cholera epidemics, the attendance of the school has been small this year and we hope these troubles will go away e'er long.

HIGH SCHOOL, BALASORE, INDIA

JELLASORE MISSIONARIES.

REV. Z. F. GRIFFIN, in charge. MISS E. E. BARNES.

Other Workers: Ten School Teachers, One Colporteur, Three Bible-women, One Zenana Teacher.

REPORT OF REV. Z. F. GRIFFIN.

Miss Barnes is now living in Jellasore so that we feel somewhat relieved from the whole responsibility of the church and community. They have no settled pastor, but arrangements are made so that they get preaching each Sunday, part of the time from Balasore, and part of the time from Santipore. In the absence of a settled pastor, Umesh Curtis, a grandson of old Silas Curtis, is a sort of spiritual head, taking the lead of the Sunday school, C. E. society, etc. He is really a very valuable man.

Peace and harmony prevail, and the church is one of the most benevolent according to the income of the people of any we have.

The terrible opium habit, which got hold of a unmber of the people a few years ago, has sent one to his grave during the year, and three others are fast going in his steps. So far as I can find out none of the others have contracted the habit. These terrible wrecks have proved a warning.

Quite a number have been baptized, and some from the ranks of the heathen. The table of statistics will show the number. We have had in Jellasore and vicinity during the past year six schools. Two of these are entirely maintained by government, and the Girls' Middle Vernacular school is aided by government. This latter is in a very prosperous condition, there being over 100 on the roll. At a recent prize distribution given by Mrs. Griffin, 124 were present from this school, and the connected Lower Primary school. The head teacher is a Hindu, but a very good man. He is upright in his dealings, and an excellent teacher. He has been many years connected with the school, and although flattering offers have been made to him by educational officers, he has steadily refused. He says the mission has always used him well, and he will not leave it so long as they want to retain him. All bills and accounts respecting the schools in Jellasore I entrust to him. He seems to lack "the one thing needful," and we do not forget to pray for him.

REPORT OF MISS EMILIE BARNES

There is much to praise the Lord for since last September. In October, a part of the month, I had a little vacation, and returned to Santipore in time for the Bible examination of the women workers. My women, both in Jellasore and Santipore, all passed, although it was the first time some of the older ones had ever had a written examination. It was a great encouragement to them to continue study this year. At the yearly meeting in November, the Christian community in Jellasore sent a request to the committee asking that I be permitted to live at Jellasore. It was granted and the 1st of December I moved from Santipore, and Jellasore is at present my home. There were some fears expressed lest I should be ill here, as this place, of late years, has been considered unhealthful, but I have been very well and thus far during the rainy season, which is the most trying time for me, I have been much better than last year at Santipore.

Last year I made monthly visits, staying several days or a week, to look after my workers and work with them here, and this year I have made similar visits to Santipore, for the women's work there. There are eight in Santipore, six zenana teachers and two Bible-women. They have been doing steady work all the year, some more faithful than others, and my adopted son, who lives there, has given them their weekly Bible lessons. In Jellasore I have three Bible-women and one Zenana teacher. The third Bible-woman is only a beginner, and of course goes with the older and more experienced ones, to learn how.

The month of December was mostly spent in country touring work, between Jellasore and Contai, about forty miles. Miss Dawson and some of her workers, one of my Jellasore Bible-women, and I, all went together. There had been no work done along this way by Christian women for about ten years, and we had wonderful opportunities in the villages, which are not far apart. Our great regret was that we had to pass by so many, to reach the "dak bungalow" when we could stay. The bungalows are about ten miles apart. Miss Dawson had a magic lantern service in the house of a rich Hindu land owner, and also in a big Mohammedan house on this trip. Just the residents of each of these families and their servants, made a good audience. We were thankful we could give the message to many in little mud houses also.

In January we went on our long trip into Dhalbhum. I got a new tent in time for it, or we could not have gone. It was the home of Miss Dawson, the Bible-women and myself for the month. It was a great privilege to go to these new, unworked places, and will long be remembered, especially on account of two villages we found, Manushmurdia and Dumuria. Much prayer has been offered during the year for the village of Manushmurdia and the young men there who wished to become Christians, here in India and in Australia and America, and some day we expect to see the answers to these petitions.

My women in Jellasore have been doing faithful work. The first of March a young Santal woman whom we knew, desired to become a Christian and was visited in her village, some miles away. She decided, and came at once and was baptized. My oldest Bible-woman, Gumbari, went with me and helped to win her. In June a family living near by all became Christians, through the teaching of the Bible-women, mostly perhaps, and some help from the missionary. We praise the Lord for these! and although there are three new Hindu temples here, we hope and expect more new Christians from among the heathen this year. We distribute a great many leaflets to those who can read, and also sell some books in the market, bazaars and the houses. They are eagerly asked for, both in the Oriya and Bengali languages. We now have the privilege of giving and selling at the railway station, which is interesting, when the great train loads of people are going to and returning from Puri, where the Hindus go to see the far famed temple of Juggernaut.

I am much interested in the little church here. We have some very faithful members. One old man, named Madhu, goes every Sunday afternoon to read the Bible to the Hindus. They had asked me to join here, and I said, "I will ask for my letter from Balasore when there is some new Christian from among the heathen to join with me." The Lord gave the Santal girl. Although there is only a small Christian community here, this is a splendid center from which to work in the villages all round, and the people, both Christian and Hindus, often tell me how glad they are to have me here. And I'm glad to be here, so it is mutual, if only I may be used for the Master's glory!

I have nine women in my Bible class here, mostly workers, studying the life of Christ. We are all anxious that our women workers should know the Bible better, and so be able to teach others.

We ask all who have worked and prayed for Jellasore and Santipore during the past year, to accept our thanks for loving interest and to continue, and to rejoice and be glad in the Lord that we are all workers together with Him. What a privilege!

GEORGE AGER'S REPORT.

Through the faithful and persevering efforts of our pastor, Ram Jena, also of Abraham Das, I am glad to say that the work here has been successfully carried out; though owing to the failure of crops last season we were unable to finish our house of worship. The people here have had to live very sparingly and will have to continue doing so till the rice is cut in January. If the rains keep on to the end we hope to have a good crop.

There seems to be a better feeling among the people since the Quarterly Meeting which was held here in June last. Our good and faithful Brother Jhampard has left us to be with the Master in heaven.

The Sunday School Is Progressing.—Owing to some mistake in the postal department in not delivering the examination papers at Hatigarh, but sending them elsewhere, the Bengali question papers did not get here in time, to the great disappointment of all concerned. The Oriza question papers came all right, and eight children passed in that language.

The C. E. Society meetings are being carried on as usual.

Owing to the grain being expensive, I have tried to help these poor folks as much as I could, and got a loan from the collector of Midnapore, and excavated a large tank. It will be a great blessing, both to man and beast, for all our wells run dry in the dry weather, which causes great discomfort and sickness, owing to their using bad water.

We have been able to take in six orphans, and a poor woman who was nearly dead with starvation. We are on the lookout for more, if the Master sends them to us. We hope and pray that these will grow up to be faithful workers in the Master's service and to be the means of bringing many from darkness to light.

We ask those who are interested in our work here not to forget us, but to remember us frequently at the throne of grace.

REPORT OF REV. Z. F. GRIFFIN.

I am sitting at this moment under the shade of a tree, trying to write my annual report, and at the same time to direct the work of twenty men, more or less, as they are putting in the foundations of the new school house. I was about to say "lazy men," but if I had to work all day long in the blazing sun for six cents and board myself, I am sure I should loiter at every convenient opportunity. You ask no doubt why I do not stay in the house to write my report? The fact is I have never yet found the native mason who, if left to himself, where thought and judgment were required, who would not make some mistake. They say a thing is "about right." That is quite enough.

I have often had to undo work because I could not look after it just at the right time. I want these foundations in right so I am here on the spot to see that it is done right.

The Famine.—I may as well speak of this first, for yesterday I had 500 people to feed from rice given me by the government, and have been doing this each week for six weeks. The sight when once witnessed can never be forgotten. The pool of Bethesda could not have presented a more pitiable sight. Blind, palsied, lepers, children in great numbers with big eyes, distended stomachs and withered limbs, old, emaciated men and women, leaning on their staffs. I have strict instructions to give only to those who show signs of starvation, and am furnished with a number of chokedars (village police) to keep the people in order, and to help discriminate between the worthy and unworthy. We try to have the people sit in rows while the rice is doled out to them, but this is not easy. Where there are 500 people hungry, and some of them starving, the sight of rice excites them. They will not sit still, especially if they think they are to be left out. Some of them are what the natives call very "chalak" (clever). They break ranks and get some rice and give it to a friend, and come back in another place and get more.

Yesterday the chokedars had to resort to sticks to keep some of the people off me, while I was giving out the rice. Next week we shall avoid this by putting them all in an enclosure, and letting them pass out one by one.

In the early part of the season I also had the excavation of a large tank as a government relief work. At this writing, however, the rice looks fine, and if we can have rains three or four weeks more, a bountiful harvest is sure nearly all over India. But high prices prevail, and this is really the cause of the famine. There is plenty of rice in the country, but the people cannot buy. A bountiful harvest will reduce the price.

Law Suits.—There have been a few during the year, and I expect there will be others so long as a certain man lives; but we have not been in them. In one case I have had to resort to the courts. Two Santals were baptized in a village where we had one of our outside schools, and others in the village were intending to be soon. The landlord gave them notice to leave the village, and tried to take possession of their land entirely contrary to law. He thought they were poor and ignorant and could do nothing. We thought we could not allow such an injustice, and hence the case in court. It is not yet settled.

The Church.—The pastor is reporting this, but I feel to say that the great revival wave which swept over our village over a year ago left some driftwood on the beach. I think there is a general improvement in the condition of the people, but some have gone back farther away from God than they were. The men who broke open my safe and took Rs. 560 were no doubt of our Christian community. Some of these same young men are engaged in the business of kidnapping unsuspecting persons, and sending them off to Assam, as coolies in the tea gardens. This is practically a life of slavery, for while it is true that the coolies are well treated, as a rule they are compelled to stay a certain number of years. Three from our village have been spirited away. One was a member of the church, and when she found where she was being taken by a very clever trick she got out of their hands and fled for her life, getting back here safe. But two others who were working for me went, and have never been heard from. The wife of our head weaver, while he lay at the point of death with smallpox, was induced to go, which she did after taking all the money the old man had. Such things done by professed Christians must hinder our work, for Hindus do not stop to discriminate between the false and true, any more than the people in America do. It is enough that he is called a Christian. The pastor is faithful and has the general respect of the people both in the Christian village and also among the Hindus. He is a great help to us in many ways.

We have tried very hard to increase the benevolence of the church, but it is a slow work. The most wealthy man in the village does nothing for any line of church work, and stands as an obstacle in the way of others doing. We expect Mr. Jones here for a few days in November and hope then that some will make a start in the Christian life who are almost persuaded now. The statistics will show the number baptized during the year. Sunday four more from heathenism are to be baptized. I think about twenty Hindus in all have put on Christ by baptism during the year, in this place and Jellasore. But death has also claimed its share. Twelve have died during the year. One young man died of cholera. He was a promising young man, and his death was something of a calamity, especially to his family. He got the germs by drinking tank water. We have told the people time and again of the danger, and explained about the germs, but with few exceptions they will not heed. They will not deny themselves a drink if they are thirsty. They say: "We will take the chances of cholera. Some drink and do not get cholera, and perhaps we will be of that number; and we are thirsty."

Sunday Schools.—I have found pleasure and profit to myself at least, in conducting a teachers' class each week. I have also a class of twenty men whom I enjoy teaching. In the village itself we have three Sunday schools, besides a number in the little schools near Santipore. These are conducted by either the teachers in the schools, or by some of the young people from Santipore.

Schools.—The middle vernacular girls' school has been made one in reality, by separating the boys into a Middle English school. Before it was a mixed school, but by keeping the number of girls greater than the number of boys, it passed as a middle girls' school. We are trying for a large grant from government for this boys' school, and will get it I think. We have also been promised a large increase to the girls' grant, and would have had it this year but for the famine. A grant for 4,900 rupees has been sanctioned for the new school house, and we shall get it if we can show a clear title to the land. For all such grants the government requires a "Trust deed." But we have gone so far with the work it must not stop now.

Colporteurs.—We have two in this place and one in Jellasore. One of these is supported by the mission, and two by the Christian Literature Society. Famine conditions have greatly interfered with the sale of books. Still many thousands of copies of tracts and portions of scripture have been sold. The Life of Chundra Lela has been put into Oriya by Ganga, one of our preachers, and published by the Christian Literature Society, and is selling very well.

Evangelistic Work.—Preaching has been conducted in the market for the most part by our native preachers, and a good strong force was out during the entire cold season. I have not been able to accompany them. When in the country before, there was no work I enjoyed better but my lameness has prevented me attempting anything of the kind for the past two winters.

This will probably be my last report from India. I have tried to hold on now two and a half years since my fall. To say nothing of the physical suffering, I feel that I have not been able to do what a man ought to do. I feel also that I ought to have a better chance to get help for my lameness, to save me from being a cripple for life if possible. If we had had a better force in the field, we should have gone home last spring. I hope a far better man will be found to take the work I have so imperfectly done.

I forgot to mention the death of Jhampard Santara. He was a faithful preacher, and though not cultured, was nevertheless an effective speaker, and a consistent Christian. We shall greatly miss him. His sickness was lingering and painful, and death came as a welcome relief.

MRS. L. C. GRIFFIN'S REPORT.

The Training School has taken much of my time during the year. It has been very difficult and very enjoyable. There is not one text book for our use, either in the Origa or Bengali. Nor is there one in English simple and short enough for these schools, except the one on hygiene. There will be. The alert men and women of the government educational department find it impossible to keep square with the needs of this needy, needy land. They keep doing good things and we must keep patient and keep grateful. Meantime, to get from everywhere simple notes on psychology and child study, zoology and botany, methods of teaching and physiology, to get these into the Oriya, and to teach them in that tongue, has been too much for my brains. One can talk easily in English about the plain things in psychology, sensation and perception, attention and development, environment and discrimination, and the talker may know much or little of what these things mean. But to put these words even into a language which, if it has the words at all, has used them in another sense, and then in that language to try to get people not used to close thinking to try to comprehend what you are talking about, and to remember it, this has made me dizzy many a day in the year gone by. The principals of the other training schools in Bengal have the same trouble. However, the classes and the teachers have dug away together with a determination not to be beaten. And we now rejoice together that out of the seven sent up for the government examination, five have passed.

The school has averaged twenty-five pupils during the year.

The men teachers' class on Saturday afternoons has gone on steadily through the year. Miss Ruby Kenyon joined the teacher's staff in November, 1908. She is a thorough teacher, not afraid to work and much of the success of the school is due to her. She taught the hygiene, the sewing and much of the nature work. The kindergarten gifts, occupations and songs were taught by Mrs. Nundy.

We are looking to America for a woman who has had a normal school education, or the kindergarten training school work, to be at the head of this school. May such a woman speedily be found.

The Girls' School.—On January first the girls were all taken out of the village school and put in a separate building. I have taught much in this school also. Since the training school examination three of the teachers who passed have been put into the girls' school, making four trained native women teachers in the school. The Girls' School has now been put into Miss Kenyon's care and she teaches history and geography to the four highest grades.

Our pastor, Umesh Patra, is a thorough teacher, and he has given regular help in the girls' school during these months of transition.

The Oriya Kindergarten has been well cared for Kherod Nayah, and her helpers. The children are kept happy and busy.

The Santal School moves on as usual, small during the rains, large during the cold and hot seasons.

The Santipore Night School has been started during the year. It is good to go into it and see many men and big boys who must work hard all day, sitting and working away noisily at reading and arithmetic. Government has given a small grant for this school.

Thirteen Village Schools near Santipore are in Mr. Griffin's care. These are all centers for definite Christian work. In those not too far away, Sunday schools are regularly held. Two Santal men living near one of these schools have been baptized, and others are talking of baptism.

The Y. W. C. E. has been in my care. The meetings have been spiritual and well attended.

Saroda, the pastor's wife, has the Girls' Junior C. E., and the children are interested.

The Boys' Junior C. E. is in Miss Kenyon's hands and the boys are quite enthusiastic.

Dispensary.—This year and each year in Santipore, the giving out of medicine and the responsibility of the sick have been harder on soul and body than anything and everything else. A good doctor here would have heavy medical work caring for the people of a great range of country. The condition of the people without any skilled help is pitiable. For one not a doctor, with time full of other work, to try to do it is crushing.

Dr. Shirley Smith came once in two weeks during last cold season and relieved much suffering. Also for those weeks she lifted a burden from off my heart for which I am most grateful.

Evangelistic Work.—I have preached occasionally in the chapel here and at Jellasore. I have had some blessed talks with the Santals in their villages, and with Hindus in their homes. The Santals especially are glad to hear, and are genuinely interested. Prayers in the homes of Christians, Santals and Hindus have brought us nearer to God and to each other.

In working in our Santipore Christian community I have had glad throbs of joy, and stabs of pain, but the fellowship of Christ has been so real that it has seemed wonderful that he would let me work with him like this, day after day.

UMESH CHUNDRA PATRA'S REPORT.

This year we can say of our church that many of our church members are alive, and growing in grace. But there are some who are indifferent, and some who are back-slidden in heart, and these pass their time without care for the church. We are praying for these and trying to bring them back. Mr. Griffin has brought to his help at much expense men from other missions, that these and others might be saved.

This year our church numbers 221. Ten of our unumber have gone to Jesus and sixteen have been added to the church by baptism. Of these, nine were Hindus and four were Santals.

People in the villages all about us are suffering for food. Many of them know much of the Christian religion. If they could be definitely helped to work, it may be many of these would become Christians and their conditions and the condition of their children greatly changed.

This year we have two preachers for outside work and two colporteurs, and these with two Bible-women and six Zenana teachers, are all the time working in the villages round about. Also in all of the village schools that are in Mr. Griffin's care the teachers and other Christian young men go and hold Sunday schools and teach the people of Christ.

We praise God for our missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin, who work so constantly for the spiritual and the temporal good of the Christians and the people in the villages.

I am an ordinary Christian, one of Christ's people. The Lord has given into my hands a great work. Pray that I may not try to do the work in my own strength, but in His, and in the end find the crown. Pray that God may use me and the other workers and the missionaries, for the salvation of this people.

REPORT OF REV. HOWARD R. MURPHY.

At the command of the India committee we came here on the first of March last, to take up the work then being left by Dr. and Mrs. Kennan, who were leaving on a well earned furlough. We had come to feel that Contai was in a way our own, and any how our personal preference of all our mission stations. It was with deep regret that we made the change, although we were retained by the Committee in general charge of the work at Contai. However, we have enjoyed the work here immensely. A round hundred of children, a medical dispensary, fifty schools, and a half a dozen out-stations to care for has been a picnic for us every day. Thank God for the children! The grown-ups some times make me tired, but the children never. I am never happier than with fifteen or twenty of them all wanting to get into my lap or on the arms of my chair at once.

Church.—Rev. Debonath Marndi has served the church as pastor the past year. He is an energetic man and is doing a good work. This locality cannot support much increase of population, so that any considerable growth of the local church can scarcely be expected. But from here are going forth year by year scores of Christian teachers, preachers, farmers and workmen, who are carrying the Christian message into the dark corners far and near. Who may say but it is a wise providence that this church cannot grow. There are Christian families scattered all over this half of the Midnapore District I could spend many days traveling in the district and eat every meal with a different Christian family. True not all who go out from us are able to withstand the many temptations the country affords, and some are poor representatives of Christianity.

Owing to the famine the income of the church has not been sufficient to meet the running expenses, but during better times the church had accumulated quite a fund so that they have been able to meet all bills promptly. The prospect now is for an abundant crop this year, which if realized will enable them to replenish the church treasury. The Sunday services, prayer and covenant meetings are all well attended. The Sunday School under the superintendency of Upendra Soren is full of life and interest. Two Christian Endeavor Societies, one for the large boys and one for the small ones, have been started, through the efforts of our pastor, and are in a flourishing condition.

Schools.—The Bhimpore Boys' Training School has held its own in attendance in spite of the hard times. These Santal boys, for the want of literature in their own language, are compelled to do all their studying in the Bengali language, which is just about as foreign for them as French would be for American youth. Notwithstanding, this severe handicap our boys won every prize available for them, in the Government examinations, in competition with Bengali and Mussalman boys of all castes. An industrial plant is greatly needed for these boys. Not every boy from our orphanages can be made into a teacher, preacher, clerk or writer. Some must learn to make their living with their hands. We have now teaching in carpentry, sewing and rope-making only.

Jungle Schools.—Owing to the famine one-fourth to one-third of the population upon which our schools depend, have had to leave their homes to seek work, while those who remained have had to keep their children out of school a great deal to help earn a living. This has made it very difficult to keep the schools in condition to meet the government requirements. The actual attendance has fallen off considerable, although the enrollment is larger than last year. The teachers, about fifty in number, gathered here in May for the semi-annual examination and Institute. A course of study is assigned to each grade of teachers. The forenoon, with the exception of a lecture in the early morning, were given up to examinations in the assigned course of study. In the afternoons Mrs. Murphy conducted classes in methods of teaching. Each evening evangelistic services were held in the church which all attended. The last afternoon of the session was devoted to sports and prize giving.

Out Stations.—We came to Bhimpore just at the beginning of the hot season, and as the rainy season follows immediately upon the hot season, we have been able to do but little out-station work. We hope to spend at least three months this cold season in this outside work. My plan is to hold revival meetings as far as possible, in every community where we have Christian people living.

Chitrapatra.—Narayan Soren is pastor of this church. This year has been a glorious one for this devoted little flock. Eight converts from heathenism have been baptized during the year. The church is in a splendid spiritual condition and now has about fifty members.

Topabon.—Rev. Champai Murmu, Superintendent of the Southern District, pastors this church in addition to his other work. He is one of the many workers of whom our mission may justly feel proud. The services of the church are all well sustained, and a number of heathen have from time to time expressed a desire to become Christians. You should know that Topabon was made possible by Dr. Kennan's taking up a large tract of waste land and the building of a large dam has brought it under cultivation. Owing to the unprepared condition of the soil and the lack of rain for the past three years, the people there have been very hard put to it. But for repeated assistance from Dr. Kennan they could not have held on. This year they enjoy every prospect of a fine crop, and the little colony is filled with courage and rejoicing.

Ulda.—On account of dissensions and land difficulties this little church has almost ceased to exist. I have seen in the forest a fine tree prostrate where it had been thrown by the tempest, but when I looked again I saw a straighter and finer tree springing from its roots. So it was with "Old Babagadia," and with the vigorous little church at Kala Matia. Pray that it may be even so here at Ulda.

Kenduasole.—This church remains about the same as last year. Rev. Tono Hasda, the "Santal Mystic," who has preached the gospel for years without any salary, is pastor of the church. Sundor Murmu works with him as an Evangelist, doing the work of a "Circuit rider." We might well call him a circuit walker, for it is little opportunity that he has to ride. He visits a number of Christian families and holds services with them and as many of their neighbors as can be gotten together.

Goresole.—Is a new out-station lately occupied by Champai Murmu, who is one of our oldest preachers. He is getting quite feeble. His family have been a sore trial to him. Pray for Champai.

Choinasole.—Here holds forth Dubku Hembrom. He is unlettered but full of zeal and courage. He surely has doubled his talent many times. He is old and may soon hear the "Well done, come up higher."

Dumuria.—This is another new station located to the north of Bhimpore about ten miles. Parnu Kisku, one of our best young evangelists, is working here. Two weeks ago we visited this place and baptized a well-to-do man who promises to be of great service in the Lord's work at this place. Already others are asking for baptism.

To the west of us are many scattered Christian families for whom we have no "under shepherd." Pelaram Kisku and Rathan Murmu are, at the time of writing, visiting these scattered families. There are in that direction three men and their wives of whom we have heard who are asking for baptism, and we hope that our workers will be able to report several baptisms, when they return.

Medical Work.—The people here seem to know the difference between a doctor and a "quack." At any rate the attendance at the dispensary is not as large as when Dr. Kennan was here. However, we are not in the least discouraged as there are still patients enough to give us plenty of "practice." Some day, after we have had our "practice," we hope to study medicine. There have been as it seems to me, a rather unusual proportion of hard cases to deal with, such as puerperal convulsions, peritonitis, cholera, small-pox, consumption, leprosy, snake-bite, and the like, beside a large number of cases calling for surgical treatment. How I have longed for a good doctor upon whom I could shift the responsibility of some of these cases, or with whom I could at least share the responsibility, but I have had to face the music alone. Some of the most hopeless and saddest cases I have had have been those resulting from treatment given by the ignorant native doctors. Yesterday a man came to me who had been troubled with night-blindness for which a native doctor had put some stuff in his eyes, which had set up an inflamation which utterly destroyed his sight in a few days. This morning another case exactly similar to the above came to me for help. God has blessed our blundering but well intended attempts to heal the sick, to an extent which any holder of a medical diploma would find difficult to believe possible. We have often wished that we might drop the whole business. God has called us to serve, and we are doing the best we know, and leaving the results with Him for whose blessings we daily pray.

REPORT OF MRS. EMMA G. MURPHY.

Bhimpore with its schools, kindergarten, two orphanages. Bible-women, classes, etc., is a veritable bee-hive. I came into the midst of it all just a fortnight before the Kennans left. What a busy time that was! Quarterly Meeting came just at that time too, and it was especially hard on Mrs. Kennan, who was overwhelmed with last things, and sewing for herself and children. In addition to all this to have me plying her with questions about the work was taxing indeed. I found after she was gone there were still many things which we had not talked over, so had to go ahead the best I knew how. Mrs. Kennan will probably report for the first half of the year, as this report dates from March 1st only.

Girl's School.—Bhim Maindi is head-master and seems to be doing very good work. Bemola Murmu, second teacher, was a pupil of our beloved Rachel Bose. She is a capable and enthusiastic teacher. Julia, who was in the primary room for some time, was sent to Kalimpong to learn lace-making. Bemola Das, who worked with me at Contai, has taken her place. It is gratifying to see the progress she has made as teacher during the past two years. I have been in the school several times each week, examining the children and planning class work. New daily programs are an incentive to better work for both the teachers and pupils. Gorola, the one girl who would have completed the Middle Vernacular standard, was married a few weeks ago, but has promised to return for the examination.

Kindergarten.—Nilmoni Soren, our kindergartener, is a graduate of a teacher's training school in Calcutta. She has taught here for three years, but until the present there seemed to be no chance to have any of the other girls work with her. She is a good model, and I have been anxious to have other girls learn with her. For this purpose I have moved the kindergarten into the large room of the girl's school. Previously it was held on the church verandah. Jutnie now helps in the morning session, and she, with several others, attends the afternoon session, having two hours a week for their own study with Nilmoni.

The two languages are a great drawback to the Santal children, as they hear only Santali in their homes, and must do all their studying in Bengali. This of course destroys much of the real pleasure of the kindergarten. A set of twelve charts gotten up for sight reading, a thing before unheard of, is our latest acquisition. The children think it great fun to toe the line and use the pointer while reading from them. How I long to see a new girl's school house here with a special room for the kindergarten.

Girl's Orphanage.—During the last six months we have taken in eight girls and one little boy, making a total of thirty-seven now under our care. Of these two were little famine waifs about two and three years of age. They were almost starved, and were only skin and bones. One had a badly distorted stomach, but with regular baths and good feeding they are doing nicely, and are beginning to act like real children. Recently a mother, herself nearly starved, gave us her seven months old baby. This one also is responding to good treatment and is a smiling and happy girlie. Who can say but God himself has directed these children to us for his own service in coming years. There has been very little sickness among the girls, but just now a large number are nursing sore arms. Several cases of small-pox occurred in the village, and we had eighty-five of the school children vaccinated. I marvel at the small amount of quarreling among the children. We had three notorious girls, whom I designated as the "Biggest, Middlest, and Littlest." All were noted for their ability to quarrel and fight. The "Biggest," Mrs. Wyman kindly took to teach housework. The "Middlest" is lame and so cannot husk rice as the others do every day. So we have worked her in as "Little-Mother" to the famine babies. And nowadays we never get any bad reports of the Littlest. I tell her that I only hear of good Sunie, and the bad Sunie, whose mouth we had to tie for having bit her teacher, has gone quite away.

Since Betsy Whittaker, who had been matron for so many years, has gone away, it has not been possible to get a woman to live with the girls, so we have had to keep two women who supplement each other's work. But we do need some one who can be right here among them all the time. How one longs for more time to spend with the girls, in order to inspire them to truthfulness and higher Christian living.

Boys' Orphanage.—Bhuta, of whom Mrs. Kennan made mention in last year's report, has proven himself faithful at his post, and a genuine help to the boys. Except for one sickness and death in the spring, the health of the boys has been excellent. The boys deserve praise for doing all their own cooking, dishwashing, washing and sweeping. They are in school from 6 to 11:30 a. m., and in working class from three to five p. m. We have classes in sewing, carpentering and rope-making; and the little ones are kept busy in the compound pulling weeds and cutting grass.

Bible-Women.—There are four Bible-women. Podi was put into the girl's orpanage, and in her stead we have taken on Singa Murmu, wife of our good and faithful Champai. They are faithful in going to all the villages within walking distance. I make it a point to ask every woman that I meet on the road, and those that come to sell vegetables, rice, etc., if they have heard of Jesus. I unvariable am told "yes so-and-so's mother comes to our village and tells us." Please pray for these women that they may continue faithful.

I wish we could make every one who reads these reports realize what a splendid plant we have here among these Santals. God has wonderfully blessed this work, and the workers from the very beginning, and it grows in size and influence year by year. Praise God for Bhimpore and all that it stands for in bringing his Kingdom into the world.

REPORT OF REV. HOWARD R. MURPHY.

The first six months of the year covered by this report was spent at Contai. The present condition of the work may be found in Mr. Sarkar's report. During the time he has been in charge I have been able to visit the station but twice. Mr. Sarkar has proven a wise and energetic worker.

Country Work.—In a postscript to my last year's report I mentioned the baptism of a man of about forty years of age. Soon after his baptism he moved to a village about forty miles from Contai where he owned a house and some land. A good share of my cold season had to be spent in his village and its vicinity to protect him from the fury of his Hindu neighbors, one of whom by pretense of friendship had gotten him to store his goods—about three hundred rupees—in his house while he was getting his own house in shape to move into, and then refused to give up the goods when called for. To prove property may seem a simple matter, but with a whole village against one man it is not so easy. I went with Khirod, the owner of the property, but we were insulted and forbidden to come to the house again. They even sent word warning me to leave their village. I spent several days with three preachers gathering evidence, and then sent asking them to come to my tent and make a sttlement. This they refused to do. I then sent informing them that I was an Honorary Magistrate appointed by the Governor of Bengal, and that I purposed to report the matter to Government. I immediately broke camp and started toward headquarters. Five miles away six men pretty much out of breath overtook me and offered to settle.

The remainder of the cold season was spent in the usual way visiting villages. markets and Hindu festivals, preaching, explaining, showing pictures and selling books.

Medical Work.—The medical work continued to grow while we remained in Contai. On leaving we prepared a note book on the principal diseases and their treatment and gave it to Mr. Sarkar, spending a few days in going over the subject matter with him. With this assistance he took up the medical work and has carried it forward with success, as you must see from his report. I have been able to secure a government passed compounder who should be of much assistance to him in the work.

Contai is in many ways an ideal place for mission work. The population is immense and the people generally well to do for India. They are always ready to listen and to buy books. The mission house owing to its elevation and proximity to the sea is the most comfortable and healthful of any in our mission. Contai is now a hot-bed of the Swadeshi (my country) movement, which is agitating all India. The movement is a revolt against everything foreign—foreign government, foreign merchandise, foreign education, and foreign religion. The movement is affecting the entire population, and is setting them to thinking, something they have not done for ages. Unfortunately the first to be enlisted in the movement are the fanatics and cut-throats. Train wrecking, bomb throwing and mob-violence have gone on apace, but back of all this is a real awakening which will mean much for the advancement of Christianity in India.

REPORT OF MRS. MURPHY.

Girl's School and Zenana Work.—After the death of our head teacher, in September, we went on with the school about as usual up to the holidays. I did much of the teaching myself. We had prayed specially and definitely for a teacher, not knowing where she might be found, but feeling that Santipore was our only hope and Udia Jenna the one specially fitted for the work. Though I had not mentioned the matter to any one, imagine my joy when a few days later Mrs. Griffin wrote: "It seems as though the Lord intends to provide you a teacher from Santipore. Udia is ready to go to Contai." Udia had had an offer from Government ,and when she went to Mrs. Griffin she said to her: "Why not go to Contai, where you can still work for the mission" This she readily consented to do.

On account of our Christmas exercises, or rather on account of what appeared in the local paper the following week, our Girls' school was in danger of being broken up. The writer, who withheld his name, said that he was surprised that Hindu gentlemen would allow their eleven and twelve-year-old daughters to appear in public and to sing Christian songs. It was grievous to see how many village children were being taught the Christian religion, etc. He concluded with an appeal to the Hindus to not allow their children to attend the Christian school, and urged those families, who were so keen to have the Memsahib's shadow fall on their thresholds to take warning. Of course it was the topic of discussion for several weeks and resulted in our loosing a number of girls from the school. Soon after this disturbance the Lady Inspectress of Schools came and with her approval the school was put under the Zenana department, it being the only school with female teachers, and so the only one where young married girls can attend. The Government School Inspector at once sent his eleven-year-old married daughter, thus opening the way for the more timid to send their daughters.

Our new teacher, coming just at this time, enabled us to fulfill the Government requirements in order to receive a Government grant of thirty rupees a month. Thus God again overruled the wiles of the heathen and the work goes steadily on.

Sumoti Das has more house pupils than she can teach so the second teacher helps her as well as doing some work in the school.

It was with regret that we left the work at Contai to fill the gap at Bhimpore, although we still have it under our charge and much on our hearts. I spent two weeks in April and a month during May and June in Contai, and hope to go again next week if the roads are not too bad for the long fifty mile cart ride. Mr. and Mrs. Sarkar are doing good work. We have reason to thank God for raising up such efficient workers from among the country's own people.

MR. SARKAR'S REPORT.

I was called to this new sphere of work in February last. The change was a happy one.

Hindu Homes.—It has been my privilege and pleasure to be the gospel-messenger to bring to my benighted countrymen the glad tidings of salvation.

"He knows how I am longing
Some weary soul to win;
And so He bids me go and speak
A loving word for Him."

After my medical work in the morning when I could spare time I have called on the men of light and leading in the town, talked and discussed with them on religious topics, and ever tried to impress on them the high and sublime teachings of the Bible. Those that have moral stamina openly declare that they are certainly lofty, simple, consistent, and suitable to the ignorant and learned alike, whereas Hinduism is more philosophy, intricate and incongruous, meant for the Sanskrit Savants of India. I take especial delight in visiting the secret seekers at their homes. For them we greatly need your daily prayers at the throne of grace, that they may boldly cut off the ties of relationship, and the trammels of society and openly confess Christ before men.

Markets.—Two days in the week and on Sunday morning at an appointed hour we four workers here march to the market to preach the way of life. We begin our work with a hymn. In rush a throng of people and encompass us to hear the wondrous story of Jesus and his love. The books are sold and the tracts distributed with silent prayer and find their way into homes that were inaccessible to us.

Villages.—Sometimes you might find us plodding our way through the poddy fields, sometimes wading through water knee-deep, sometimes walking bare-foot through miry paths with a bundle of tracts and gospel portion under the arm. to reach the nearest village there to preach the gospel to young and old. Village preaching is really encouraging. Crowds of people flock round to drink in the revival hymns as they are sung, between the intervals of which the gospel message is delivered to them.

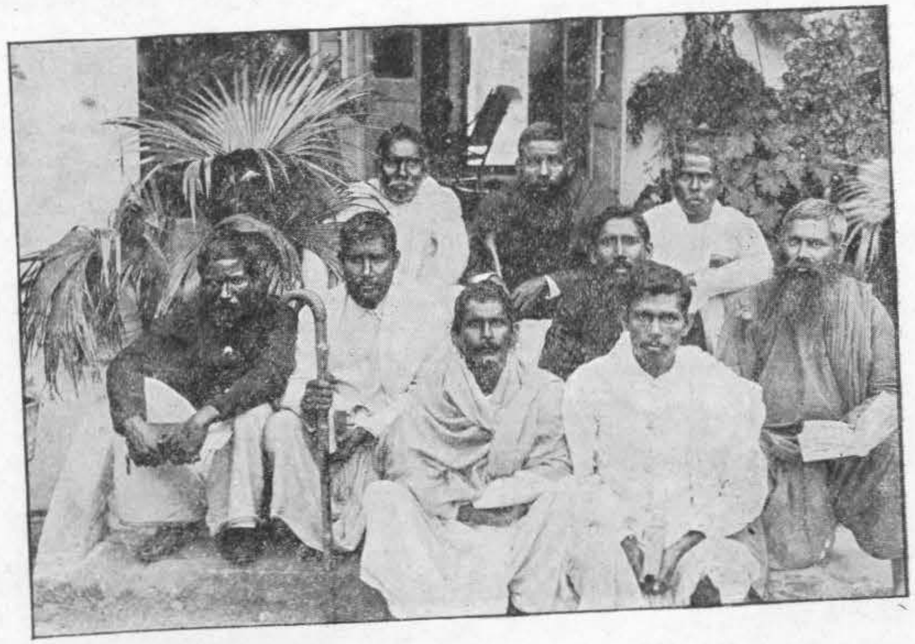

Hindu Festivals.—At the Hindu religious festivals we endeavored to prevail upon blind souls with all sorts of arguments to cast their hideous idols to the moles and bats, and turn to the true and living God the Maker of heaven and earth. Some were greatly interested in the talk and some were greatly perturbed in spirit.

Sunday Schools.—W have twelve such schools. one for the Christians and the rest for the Hindus. In the former we have only eight children and in the latter about 275. It is encouraging to note that four Hindu schools have this year opened their doors to us. The precious seed we are daily planting on the tender hearts of the little ones in these schools, moistened by the fervent and effectual prayers of the righteous, and above all quickened by the Divine power will bring forth fruit a hundred fold in the distant future.

Christian Endeavor.—We have started this year for our little folks a Christian Endeavor Society. It is gratifying to be able to say that they conduct their meetings themselves.

Medical Work.—This is a good aid to the mission work, and it is a great and valuable means of winning the hearts of those who are opposed to the gospel message. We are greatly cheered in our work by the fact that people have begun to lose faith in their own village doctors, who are great hindrances in the spread of the gospel. The poor, sometimes a better, or rather a higher class of patients socially, are being attracted to our dispensary. Who is there among you whose heart is not touched at the poor suffering agonies innumerable and indescribable at the hands of quacks with no prospect of a cure? Brother Murphy's medical fame has extended far and wide into the surrounding villages. Patients sometimes come 24 miles, walking to the dispensary to get healing for their bodies and whenever we go to their villages they come bringing in their sick. Brother Khirod, whose eyes the Lord opened last year, is a valuable help to me in the dispensary work. In the last six months since I came here about twelve hundred patients have been treated. A medical man is really needed here.

REPORT OF J. H. OXRIEDER.

The work here, both in English and venaculer, has been growing slowly the past year. There have been many encouraging features; also some discouraging ones. Lack of workers, both native and English, as well as lack of money to put things into proper working shape, being in the latter list. We need such a man and his wife for the native work the worst way. And when I think of how much might be done, I feel as if some one will have much to answer for some day.

We have organized an English church the past year. We have 24 members. We hope to take in some more soon. Many people who come to our services are people who belong to other churches, and it takes time to get hold of the hearts of some of these professed Christians.

We also have a good prayer meeting, and a good attendance at prayer meeting, especially among the young men. We are hearing new voices every now and again, for which we praise God. May many of these be brought into his Kingdom.

Our Sunday School is well attended. Brother Rothwell is now superintendent, and he makes us a good one. He is our first convert. He was baptized about one year ago, and has been growing and doing good work for the Lord ever since.

We have a young men's class who are studying the life of Christ among men. They are very interesting in the study. These are the young men that we are hoping to lead into the Kingdom, and who, we are hoping, will come into the church and become workers for the Master, later on. Some of them are very bright young men and if they give their lives to Christ, can do much for him. We have also opened another Sunday School on the north side of town for the poorer people. This is a very needed work, but gives us four services every Sunday. Brother Rothwell helps me with this work.

The native work I am going to let the native pastor report. He knows the work as I do not. I have all I can do with this work, and have very little time to give to that part. There are a great many opportunities here in the native work that we have in no other station, and if I could give my time to it, I believe many souls might be won for Christ, but as it is, with only one man besides myself, and 25,000 people to feed with the bread of life, it is slow work.

May the Lord give you all a greater love for this field, and may men and means be found to help to extend his Kingdom in this dark land, is the prayer of your fellow-worker.

REPORT OF NATIVE PASTOR.

KOILAS CHUNDRA MAHAPATRA.

Another year has come and gone so swiftly that it seems hardly credible that the time has come for another year's report to be submitted.

I thank God that again I have the opportunity to tell the story of another year's work. This year God has visited our Christian Endeavor Society with a wonderful blessing. The last quarterly meeting was held in our church on the 11th of June, 1908. Since that time the young men have devoted their lives to the work for the Kingdom. They are working for the railway company and have but little time; so they are unable to do special work in the bazaar. But they are holding special prayer meetings at the different houses, and I believe many Hindu people will be lead to Christ by the influence they will have in this work; and they are helping to bring about a great improvement in the church.

Since last year our church has grown both in members and in spiritual power. Ten have joined by baptism. Seven of them were Hindus. We have a small Sunday School and it is doing well.

Reader, please pray for us, that we may receive the baptism of the Holy Spirit abundantly, and work for our Indian people.

REPORT OF MRS. CARRIE OXRIEDER.

When my husband told me that our reports were to be ready for September 1, I exclaimed, "Report! what have I to report?"

But that you may know that even in India, people sometimes have to learn to fold their hands and wait, I will tell you a little of my past year.

With the great amount of work lying all about us, and so few who are willing to work, the hardest thing in a missionary's life is enforced idleness.

When the last reports were written, I was too ill to know or care anything about it; and for several months after, I simply existed in the hands of doctor and nurses till about Christmas time, when I learned for the second time to walk. I am not very good at it yet.

At the children's Christmas treat, some one distributed measles very liberally, and Raymond was one of the victims. The first time he went out after that, he caught the whooping cough. These things were not of great help to me.

We were ordered to the "hills" for the three hot months, hoping it would restore me to health and strength. It did much for me, and I am looking forward to this cold season, hoping it will bring me quite up to normal.

The zenana work, and the work with Bible-women has unusual difficulties here. There are no Christians of more than two or three years' standing, except those who have come for secular work, because of higher wages; so it is difficult to get workers.

Then there are so many languages that we have to use Hindustanee, which is to some extent general; but we have very few people who have a working knowledge of it, practically no women. We have one woman who can speak and read, but not write it, and a younger woman who has learned to read and speak a little, during the past two years; but she has been ill the last year, which has hindered. Betsy, one of the zenana teachers for Bengali women, went away early in the year, as her husband was leaving. Then we got Ruth's mother to go with her as companion. Now Ruth's husband is without work here, and if he gets work elsewhere, she will go.

But pioneer work has to be done, and we hope for better things.

I have been in the Sunday School so little during the past year that I leave it to Mr. Oxrieder.

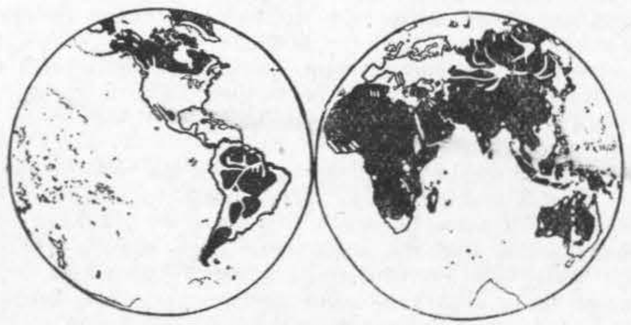

Each Saturday morning I have a class of boys and girls, who are learning the names of books in the Bible with principal characters and events of each.

These people have regular "religious" instruction in the day school, but it is all from the prayer book and they are as likely to look for Acts in the first part of the Bible, and for the story of Moses in Revelation, as anywhere else.

Once a month we have a W. C. T. U. meeting. Miss Coombs is president, and the Midnapore people are members. The social caste system is a hindrance, but we hope to help some.

My principal part in this is to entertain with tea, etc., which, by the way, is no small part of my work. I am glad to be able to do that, especially when I am hindered from outside work.

Our visitors are many and various; but we hope that the spirit of love may, even in this way, have its effect.

NOTE.—The Bible School has one teacher, Samuel Das, and twelve pupils, who give three months in the year to evangelistic work.

REPORT OF REV. H. E. WYMAN.

It is now again time to "count our blessings and name them one by one." Among these is not what we long for so much, i. e., the report of thousands converted and baptised. But there is a gain, and we must not despise the "blade" because it is not the "full corn in the ear." It has been another year of lengthening the cords and strengthening the stakes, and getting ready for the great things God has promised.

Preaching.—Preaching has been carried on faithfully in Midnapore bazaar by the Bible School students, with the aid of Rev. Sachidananda Rai, and Samuel Das. They fairly won a victory over the young men engaged in the "Swadeshi" or revolutionary movement against foreign ideas. Midnapore has been a political hot bed, and one young man of this town became notorious during the past year—as "Khederam, the bomb thrower." He killed two English ladies at Muzzuffarpore with a bomb. Some of his followers thought that it was their duty to stop the Bazaar preaching, but the persistence and good nature of our boy preachers won them over, and they gave up in despair. Two Santal preachers, Philip Baski and Gopal Das, have been working steadily in the surrounding villages. A colporteur, Sripati Santra, has heroically continued selling books, although repeatedly roughly handled by the students who have engaged in the propaganda of revolutionary ideas. I have had two classes of young men from the town who have come to me for instruction in the Bible for some days. Some have been under conviction, but have not had the courage to come out and confess Christ. Many thousands of tracts has been distributed in the town, but the book sales have been small, owing to the prejudice against the so-called "foreign religion."

Cold Season Work.—On our first trip Mrs. Wyman and myself, with the preachers, and a Bible school student, visited Satbankura, and with Surendra Majumdar, the local preacher, preached in many of the surrounding villages, and showed lantern pictures every evening. From there we moved half way to Chandrakona, and spent several days in the village of Anondanayon. Here the people seemed much interested. While here, we were called back for a Committee meeting, and made a stop of one night in a village near Satbankura. This village is of Mohammedan people. We visited with them and showed the pictures of the gospel story in the evening. The people were sorry to have us go away, and offered to furnish us food of all kinds needful for our entire party, if we would only stay.

After the committee meeting, a short visit was paid to Manush Murdia with Brother Sachedananda Rai, at the call of Miss Barnes and Miss Dawson, who had found seekers there. Doubtless they will report the events of interest there. I next made a trip to the south to Nekarasini, where a Christian convert was residing alone. We spent two happy days there, and drew a good crowd with the lantern pictures, but a great storm came up and wet the tents and blew them down. So we had to put the wet cloth on the train and flee to Midnapore to dry off.

The next was an extended trip to the west, beginning with Gidui, Dumaria and Parihati. At the last place we stayed but one night, but interest was aroused by the pictures, and as we found afterwards, some were deeply impressed. From there we visited a large Jatra (religious festival) at Bend. Here two companies of boys learned the Christian hymns by coming and sitting at the tent door when I had leisure to teach them. Many books were sold at this jatra. The preachers from Kharagpore joined us here, and also two Santal preachers, so we had a large force. The pictures were enjoyed every evening. Two low caste men promised to become Christians. A boy of sixteen also was anxious to become a Christian, but fear of his Hindu people prevented him. From this place we went further west to Chakulia, about forty miles west of Midnapore, and after interesting work here, we went south to Manush Murdia again. The young men who had been seekers still showed interest; but were in such fear of the older people in the village they dared hold but little converse with us. After trying to encourage them, we went on through twelve long weary miles of jungle road to Chinchira. Could find no memory of any missionary visiting the place to preach. Much interest was manifested in the preaching, and many books were sold. Here I met an interesting case. A Bengali lived here. who had studied medicine, and who at one time had been under conviction, but feared his parents and friends, and had back slidden after having professed Christianity. He listened eagerly to Christian teaching, and I trust may be revived. His son, a youth of about sixteen has written me recently.

The sun had now become so hot by day that my faithful monitor, Brother Samuel Das, warned me that I must give up the tent life, or suffer later. So we returned to the railway at Surdia, and after a day's work there came home. It was an ideal trip and was full of interest from start to finish. We showed the pictures every night on the trip except one, when it rained. But the malaria did not spare me, and I am suffering a little low fever every day as a result of the sun of the hot days, and the work in the cold, damp nights.

Chaudra Lela.—During the year one faithful worker has passed to her reward. Chaudra Lela died last November, triumphant in faith, and seeing the "shining ones" coming to carrry her to the land of eternal bliss.

Bible School.—The Bible school had no graduating class last year owing to the extending of the course from three to four years. During the cold season one student, Sarat Mishra, died of cholera, after but a few hours' illness. He died singing one of the new revival hymns.

The average rank of the senior class for the year was 93, 92 and 79 per cent. The class work of the school throughout was also excellent. During the cold season three students were dropped from the roll; one died; another was obliged to leave on account of his wife's illness. Three new students were taken on, and two old students returned, so that the number for the year has been twelve. A full report of the year's work cannot be given. because the school year will not close until December. Several students did excellent work in the cold season preaching tours.

I have had three classes throughout the year, and one class has had two sessions most of the time. The class in theology has been very enthusiastic, and is making excellent progress. The senior class will complete my translation of Dr. Howe's Theology this year.

Out Stations.—Palasbani and Satbaukura continue the same as last year. Chandrakona has a convert in the case of a young boy, who is anxious to profess Christ, but has been detained by his guardians. Bhanga Norra is practically dead, our only remaining adherents having removed to Midnapore.

Repairs, work. and accounts are always with us. Cholera, smallpox, and revolution have been all about us. But God has delivered us from dangers, both seen and unseen.

Praise His name.

MRS. G. M. WYMAN'S REPORT.

Another year with its tasks and opportunities for service has gone by. We thank the Heavenly Father for his help that has constantly attended us throughout the year. The regular routine of work has been the same as last year.

The girls' school will be reported by Mrs. Rachel Bose, who is the head mistress. We have been fortunate in securing the attendance of a number of girls from the homes of leading Hindu families. Two of the Hindu girls have married and left school. One was only eight and the other twelve years of age.

The kindergarten has kept up its good work. Six of the larger boys have graduated and entered the boys' school. The good influence of the school is felt in Hindu, Mohammedan, and Christian homes. During the year one of the bright little girls. Mary, died. She was a very dear child and was sadly missed by her schoolmates.

The woman's prayer meeting has continued every week and each member has taken her turn in leading. The temperance meetings have been held the first Saturday of each month, with good papers by the members, and the meetings have been well attended. Everyone has been ready and willing to take a share in the responsibility.

The Bible class with the wives of the Bible School students has been kept on, with some interruptions. Three of the women have had additions to their families. The last year's examination for the women workers of the mission of Blakeslee's Life of Christ was taken by all of these women. One stood first in all of our mission, and the others passed with credit. Some of the women decided to enter the girls' school and pursue the regular studies.

Handkerchief-making has been progressing very well. A number of women have learned to do nice work. One woman, the mother of five children, has learned to do the drawn thread work. Having to keep the work clean has wrought a wonderful change in the home. This is manifest even in the care of her children.

I accompanied my husband for three weeks in the cold season work. There were many opportunities for personal work among the women of the villages visited.

The round of little duties that come every day form no small part of my life and consume much energy in this trying climate. The kindergarten is constantly in need of various supplies, such as patchwork pieces, thread, needles, pencils, ink. and paper. I must purchase them and have them on hand against the time of need. Cloth has to be provided for the school sewing, and garments disposed of. Each month accounts have to be made out and submitted in order to secure the grant-in-aid from Government. All these things take time and strength. Then I have to buy all of the books for the girls in the girls' school, because the women teachers cannot go to the bazaar to buy them, and the parents are usually unable to select them from the multitude of books required by Government in the various schools, and grades of the same school. Patchwork pieces three and four inches square, well basted, school bags, and pencils will be very acceptable for this school. We are very thankful for things like these received from home.

REPORT OF RACHEL BOSE.

GIRLS' MIDDLE ENGLISH SCHOOL.

The present number of the pupils in this school is 67, including Hindus, Mohammedans, and Santals. There are six female teachers, all Christians. At present teaching is up to standard VI. Fourteen girls of the different standards are preparing to go up for the next examination, which takes place in November next. During the year Miss Brock, the European Inspectress of Schools, two other Inspectresses, and an Assistant Inspector visited the school, and their remarks were good. Before opening the work according to the time table, fifteen minutes are spent in prayer, teaching the children the golden texts of the Sunday School, as well as the lesson for th coming Sunday. Some hymns are sung and sometimes short stories from the Bible are told the children.

Besides these things the girls learn sewing, knitting, drawing, carpet and lace-making.

It is difficult to express our indebtedness to the friends who, with whole-hearted devotion, have assisted us to carry on the work among the little ones, so precious in the sight of their Father in Heaven. The pretty mother Hubbards fitted the school girls very well, and have made them look quite different. The children were delighted to have them. They were encouraged to come to school with zeal. I am sure if they could only write they would let you know their heart-felt gratitude. In their place I send many hearty thanks to those who have taken interest to send those pretty dresses.

REPORT OF MARY W. BACHELER.

MEDICAL REPORT.

The work of the dispensary varies but little from year to year. Each day's record is much like the one before and the one after. Yet there is enough variety to make it of never-failing interest.

Each patient, as heretofore, receives a "ticket," one side left blank for my notes of date, number, visits, etc., and on the other is printed a concise statement of the Gospel message. Besides this each patient and patient's friend and relative, of whom there are often a goodly number, receives one or more of the four-page leaflets published by the Bible and Tract Society, Calcutta, and are urged to buy some book—a Gospel, a copy of the Psalms, The Story of Jesus in verse, and, latterly, a new book of 118 pages by our own Ganga Dhar Rath (price, two pice). The fact of its being written in metre, having frequent Sanskrit "slokes," makes it very attractive to the Hindu.

As my stock of leaflets (I generally get a quantity—several thousand—at a time) is so often raided by the other missionaries, the preachers, teachers, and, in fact, anyone wanting some, it would be difficult to reckon how many are given away in the dispensary.

The people listen well to the Gospel talks given by Umesh or by me; there is usually cordial acquiescence, and but little discussion.

The following figures will give some idea of the work of the year:

Men	886
Women	1,865
Children	1,710
Total	4,461
New patients	1,203
Return visits	3,258
Visits paid	293

SCHOOLS.

The number of what used to be called the "Ragged Schools" is fourteen, as heretofore. There have been some minor changes. The school taught at Bhangamora by Kailas Pator was dropped on account of the small number of pupils and the inability of the teacher to keep it up. There is a large, flourishing Roman Catholic school in another part of the village, and as it seemed unlikely that Kailas would ever get back his pupils that deserted it (for I would not hire them to come as we heard the Roman Catholics did), a position was offered him in a rather central location, nearer Midnapore, where the people were sure that a large school could easily be built up. But Kailas was getting something for his private tuition, and there were other personal reasons why he did not wish to move. Later, when another teacher was secured for the proposed school, and the leading men came to discuss the details of the plan, one of which was that the children would be expected to learn the catechism, and listen to Bible instruction whenever given, etc., they decided that they did not want a school under mission auspices. So the Inspector brought another school to my notice, about six miles from Midnapore, and this teacher being approved, his school was taken on in place of that at Kailas. The teacher of another school left without notifying me, but a successor was found after a time, who is carrying on the same school in the same place.

The old Brahmin, Madan Mohan Chakrabati, who for some years taught a girls' school near Barra Bazaar, in the town, broke several of the unwritten rules, and it was thought best to make a change. As he has worked for the mission for many years, it seemed rather hard to dismiss him altogether, so he was given the opportunity of starting a school in his own village, about thirty-five miles from Midnapore. Although unsatisfactory in other ways, he is a good teacher, and is doing well with the school.

Miss Coombs kindly gave me one of the best teachers to take this school, and though the change of policy brought down the numbers at first, the school on the whole is doing well.

The other two girls' schools in the town, taught by Ida and Echra, are doing better than usual, and all three need a second teacher. The Madan Mohan school has had one most of the time, but I have been unable to make any permanent satisfactory arrangement. Just now Josoda, the teacher Miss Coombs gave me, is taking her niece, the native pastor's daughter, to help with the sewing and arithmetic, but as the girl is not strong, the arrangement cannot be looked on as permanent.

The school in Samsoonderpore, a suburb of Midnapore, taught by Kokeel, is doing fairly well. The Rajah has kindly given us the little school-house rent free. We tried to get him to give the repairs as well, but this he will not do.

Akhil Midya's school at Hosainabad is still under mission supervision, though on the doubtful list, as it was when Miss Butts made over the schools to me.

Bholanath Mukerji, at Bishripath, is doing good work. Gobardhan Das and Protap Maiti keep up their numbers and standard. Dharanidhar Maiti has not been doing quite as well as usual, but it is hoped the new Inspector will make helpful suggestions.

I mention the teachers by name for the benefit of anyone with an interest in some special teacher or school.

Indra Nath Dey, who worked as Mission School Inspector for several years, died of cholera last June. It has not been easy to fill his place. Mr. Wyman has kindly given up one of the teachers of the boy's school, a young man who recently came to us from the Catholics, and he is taking hold ot the work satisfactorily.

Each month, on pay day, the teachers have come together for a normal class. At first they thought this rather a hardship, but now all come quite cheerfully, and though they do not take the pains in preparation that would be gratifying, still, on the whole, the year's work has not been altogether unsatisfactory.

As heretofore, the catechism, temperance catechism, and several psalms are taught in each school. Ida, Eccha, Josoda, and Kokeel teach their scholars to sing Christian hymns. The Saturday morning Sabbath Schools are kept up in the schools having women teachers.

The Inspector takes leaflets with him when visiting the schools and gives to those who can read.

REPORT OF MISS COOMBS.

Another year has gone and much the same report will have to be given as last year in regard to my health, or lack of it, for nearly half the time has been spent in fighting disease of one kind or another; but for the last month and more the enemy seems to have left the field. Such conditions, however, are not conducive to the best results, for, even with the best teachers, a lack of superintendence means a slackening of effort on their part, and consequent failure to advance on the part of the pupils. So it has been inevitable that when I have been able to go to my work it has often been a disappointment because of this. There seems a prospect now of stricter superintendence, not only because of my renewed health, but the Government Inspectress of Schools has been given the inspecting of Zenana work also, and reports will have to be sent to her each month, and she or some of her assistants will be visiting the work every few months. This Inspectress, on finding that we made the receiving of religious instruction a condition of receiving secular teaching, objected on the ground that as we were receiving government aid we were violating the promise of religious neutrality.

I brought the subject up at a meeting of our committee of the whole, and a resolution was passed reaffirming our former position, that religious instruction in all our schools and zenanas must be compulsory. I sent a copy of this resolution to the Inspectress some months ago, but have heard nothing further. If it should be objected to, in the future we should have simply to drop the Government grant-in-aid. This would be felt more now than formerly, as our funds barely hold out since the famine prices have necessitated a raise in the pay of all our workers, and a famine allowance given each month according to a schedule prepared by our Finance Committee.

The advance in pay will be permanent, but the famine allowance will be dropped gradually, as the price of rice becomes more favorable, as we now hope it will when the new crop is harvested. The advance in pay for each of my teachers was only 16 cents a month; but that means more to them than we can understand. The estimates, however, for all our work for the coming year, which were sent home to the Treasurer some time ago, must have made him stand aghast, for, though the small advance in pay for one teacher would make little difference, the larger and smaller amounts for all our workers—teachers, preachers, colporteurs, etc., made a large difference in the amount asked for.

I hope our good friends will keep this in mind, and increase their subscriptions accordingly. We may reasonably hope for more favorable prices when a better crop is harvested, but we can never expect the prices of former years.

It may be this report will fall into the hands of those who would be glad to hear something of the teachers they support, though we have looked in vain for letters from those supporters this year. I am sorry for this, because the good these messages bring the teachers is all out of proportion to the effort put forth by the senders. They ask me again and again if I have received no letter for them.

Last year Mitya was laid aside because of illness, but she recovered and was able to take her school again.

Horapriya, the converted widow, was anxious to fit herself for a higher grade of teaching, and so is in school at present.

Josoda, who has been one of our best zenana teachers, has been transferred to the school teachers' staff, and Betsy, who used to be one of our "pillars," but for many years has been working in Bhimpore, has married and moved to Midnapore, and been gladly welcomed among our teachers again.

The other ex-zenana pupil—a widow, who became a Christian while I was at home—has been happily married this last year to a young man from Kharagpur.

Because of illness and removals, we have been short of teachers now and again, but have been able to find temporary substitutes among the Bible School students' wives. But the question of our future permanent supply is a puzzling one.

It is quite a band of workers that starts off every morning from our veranda after we have had prayers with them, taken the fees they have collected, or provided the books required. The school teachers, zenana teachers, and Bible-women all start from here, and they number nearly twenty in all. The results of their work only eternity can reveal.

AFRICA

FORTVILLE, GRAND BASSA, LIBERIA.

MISSIONARY, REV. LEWIS P. CLINTON.

One Assistant.

REPORT GLEANED FROM MR. CLINTON'S LETTERS.

It is a matter of regret that a clear, comprehensive and definite statement of our African work under Mr. Clinton has not yet been obtained, but from letters received more or less regularly now from Mr. Clinton, the following facts are obtained.

Mr. Clinton in 1900, a native of Bassa tribe, after completing his work of education in this country at Storer and Bates colleges, returned to Liberia and opened a mission for his people on the St. Johns river, about fifty miles from the coast. Here he obtained a grant of 200 acres from the Liberian government and laid out ten acres for a missionary compound, upon which he now has erected eight buildings—four small native buildings, not very permanent and costing about ten to fifteen dollars, three larger buildings costing from thirty to thirty-five dollars. The more substantial building is 24 feet by 24 feet, covered with corrugated iron, and will last for some years. This would have cost from $900 to $1,500, but the help of the young men in the school has made it cost much less. This building is erected on a slight elevation, commanding an inspiring view of miles of country and of the blue mountains thirty miles away to the north. This building serves the purpose of a dormitory for girls and a home for the teachers.

In one letter Mr. Clinton speaks of an attempt to erect a chapel with its upper rooms for a boys' dormitory, at a cost of $400.

The remaining 190 acres is wild land, but secured for farm purposes, and 40 or more acres are being cleared and broken for vegetables and coffee trees.

For a while Mr. Clinton worked on alone, and then Mr. and Mrs. Peabody, formerly of the United States, were secured, who labored as assistants, but as they had a growing family, ceased because of insufficient pay.. For a time Mr. Clinton was alone again, but a few months ago secured Mr. E. J. Lucas, born in the United States, but came to Liberia six years ago, is not a college graduate, but has taught government schools and is practical for the mission. Besides being an evangelist and teacher of some ability, he is a practical farmer and is teaching the students how to plant and grow crops and how to build roads.

There are 35 boys and 10 girls in the mission and 10 converts to the Christian faith—25 are reading Old and New Testament, reading in first, second, third and fourth readers (Barnes'), ciphering in long division and fractions, studying geography, with reading and spelling, all in English.

Besides the day and Sunday schools and the work of the farm, Mr. Clinton is starting a carpenter shop, and recently a large quantity of fine tools has been sent him.

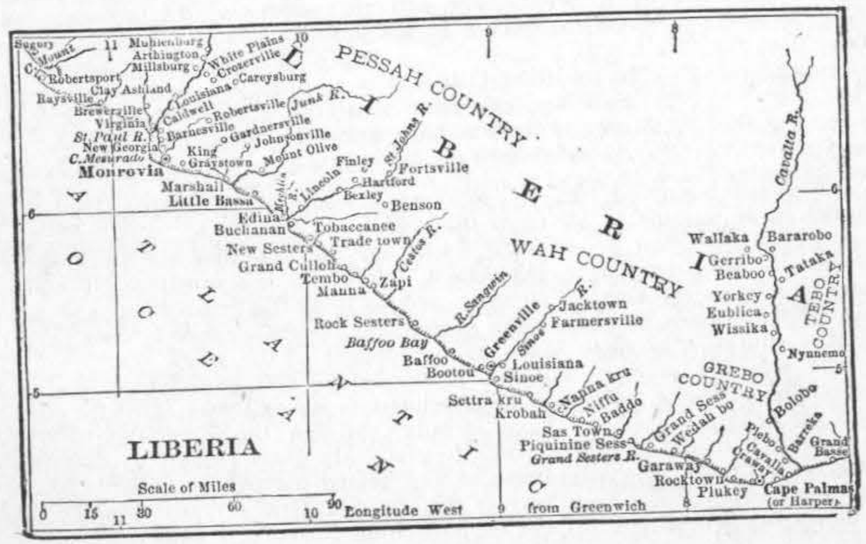

The two missionaries spent some time this summer in an evangelistic trip into the interior, visiting and preaching.

Mr. Clinton makes and continues to make his urgent appeals, viz., that a man and woman be sent, especially a woman to look after the girls—says he has lost five girls this year because there was no woman to care for them.

He is also anxious that two of his boys be sent by us to Storer—says $250 would pay their passage.

Mr. Clinton writes to know if he may be permitted to find a woman matron in Liberia in case we do not send one to him. Three hundred dollars would be sufficient for her support. Another girl has been recently brought to the mission.

Mr. Clinton is evidently dead in earnest in his work—is true to it, and perseveres with remarkable tenacity. He should have the prayers and encouragement of all our people. The young people of Maine are enthusiastic in his support, and since getting somewhat more definite information, are working with new zeal.

BARBADOS.

SEAMEN'S ANCHOR MISSION.

MISSIONARY, REV. SARA ANTOINETTE C. ESTERBROOK.

One Teacher.

This mission, while not adopted by our General Conference as a mission, yet as Miss Esterbrook is a member of the denomination and was ordained by us and her churches received by our last General Conference, we are thus in vital relation to it and feel a great interest and a care for it. An island like Barbados, where 80 per cent. of the women go wrong and 97 per cent. of the men, is certainly in need of the pity and help of church people.—[Editor.]

It hardly seems possible that seventeen years have passed away since first I began work in the West Indies; but such is the case. I came here a young woman of 26 years, full of health, life, vigor and determination. All have left me, save life and determination; when the one goes I suppose the other will. But I thank God I belong to a race with dauntless spirit and indomitable will. These, with the Grace of God and deep conviction of my calling, have held me up amidst the fiery trials through which I have been called upon to pass.

"Many Stormy Seas I've traversed.
Many tempest shock have known;
Have been driven without anchor
On the barren rocks alone."

But

"In the Rifted Rock I'm resting.
Sure and safe from all alarm.
Men and women have united
All in vain to do me harm."

The latter part of 1907, I spent a few months in the Homeland, being absent three months in all from the field.

It was my great privilege to attend for the first time the General Conference of Free-Baptists in Cleveland, Ohio, the denomination of which I have the honor of being a member, and to be cordially received and recognized by that body and to receive permission from the same to visit the Free Baptist churches, to raise funds in the interest of the work here.

It was my privilege to visit a number of the churches in the East, especially in Rhode Island and Massachusetts, where I was cordially received and financially helped. I have already, through the Free Baptist Paper, given credit to the churches which helped. My good friends of the Albany Street church, Schenectady, received and helped me right royally. It was in the home of one of the workers of this church, Mrs. Jarrard Winans, that I found a warm welcome for the orphan child, Beatrice, I took with me from here.

Then in Troy, the home of my beloved treasurer, many friends, thanks to her effort, have been raised up for Barbados, among whom may be found Mrs. Gurly, Sr., Mrs. Wm. Gurly, the Slicher sisters, and others, all of whom helped financially, and in the barrels sent. We are deeply grateful for these barrels. Many have been helped this year who, doubtless, could not have attended the house of God and the school, but for the thoughtful helpfulness of the home friends. One man has been able to attend service for the year through a suit of men's clothing sent from Mrs. G.'s home. Another is wearing Dr. B.'s shoes and every day almost I see a child in a dress from one of the barrels. We are looking and hoping to see at least six barrels between now and Christmas. They are needed now more than ever; these are the hardest times I have ever seen here. This is the third year we have not had the wet season; everything is dry, provision very scarce and very high; the almshouse is full and hundreds receiving parochial help who have never had to ask for help before. Our collections have fallen off about one-half this year, and yet the Lord has not failed us.

In the Mission work proper there has been much to encourage and much to discourage.

From the time of my return from the "States" until now my health has been very bad, thus making it impossible to do the work which ought to be done.

I have not been able to get to the country work as often as I should like, and the work has suffered in consequence.

A severe fall down some stone steps caused an injury to the spine which makes riding any distance very painful. There have been during the year about eighteen hundred meetings held. We cannot give the exact number, as sometimes rain, etc., has prevented the regular meetings.

The regular work at the Almshouse has continued during the year. Every Thursday and sometimes twice a week the workers have gone through the wards reading, singing, and praying with the inmates, distributing tracts and papers.

The Hospital work is mine and has made many demands on me this year. Many of our members have been there, some of them for months. Fifteen hundred visits have been made during the year.

Six hundred and twenty-four of these were made by Deacon Barnett, of the country work, and over five hundred by myself. In April, "Easter" time, we held our picnic for our Sunday School children. Over two hundred were entertained at Alexandrian Court.

The Week of Prayer was observed and six weeks of special meetings followed, when over fifty professed conversion.

We have had four baptismal services for the year, and a large one to take place at our opening of the Annual Conference, Oct. 4th, when a large number of candidates are to follow Christ in baptism. We have lost during the year ten of our number by death. We have lost in Mr. Louis Crawford of the firm of W. P. Leacock & Co., one of our best financial helpers, one whose deep interest in our work has continued over sixteen years, and I have lost a good, true friend.

We have lost largely of our membership by the hard times forcing our members to seek a living in other lands. About 35 are in Panama. Four of our best young men from "Packer Memorial" have laid down their lives there.

Our Brother Rollins, who was in school in the "States," preparing for mission work in Africa, was called up higher ere he finished his preparations. Mr. Henrie van Leesten, our Dutch boy from Surinam, S. A., who has been so useful to us in many ways, both in the Home and Sunday School work, has had an opening through the kindness of Mr. Sherman Phillips, of our Free Baptist Church, and will leave about October 28 for Storer College, Harper's Ferry, W. Va.

This, as you will see, is my seventeenth anniversary, and in these long years you must know that a work has been established that takes money to carry it on. This year the times have been very trying indeed. To the friends in America especially we make a special appeal to do all you possibly can to help us. The mortgage is still on the house and interest to pay at the rate of 6 per cent. We paid $400 after our return from America that had been loaned without interest, $200 of floating debt, and spent over $100 on repairs, shingling, washing, painting, etc., of the home. Egolf Hall (the school) has just been newly painted inside and outside and the gas put in.

Anchor Hall has just had a new platform and altar rail with brass rods and curtains and the building washed outside and inside. (A memorial gift of a suite of chairs was presented by Mrs. E. Mahon in memory of her husband.) These items will give you some idea of how the money has been expended, outside of teacher's salary and the regular support of the Mission Home. A sick Relief and Burial Society has been formed during the year to help our members in sickness and death, and is in good working order at this time.

Thanking you for your interest and help in the past, we appeal to you again; and trust that as God has blessed you so may you give unto Him.

Yours in His Service,

REV. SARA ANTOINETTE C. ESTERBROOK.
